FY83 Budget: President Speaks to GSU Community

Some 450 GSUers crowded into Engbretson Hall last Friday to hear President Goodman-Malamuth discuss the FY83 budget. Two days prior to this meeting Governor Thompson had presented a sparse budget to the General Assembly, a budget which called for the first real dollar decrease in funding for Illinois higher education in the history of the State.

The President explained that economic conditions in the country and State were forcing the governor to cut most state-funded services in his efforts to present a balanced budget. Dr. Goodman-Malamuth emphasized the fact that GSU has yet to receive definitive figures for FY83. He advised those in attendance, however, that the University's shortfall would range anywhere from $500,000 to $1,000,000. Until all parties involved (the IBHE, the General Assembly, the BOG, the Governor, etc.) complete their work and sign off on the final figures, the University administration is put in the difficult position of reacting forcefully yet tentatively. The President announced, therefore, that he had suspended six searches for administrative positions currently open (only the search for a new Provost is continuing), and that he had placed a general freeze on all hiring, administrative, faculty and civil service.

He emphasized the importance of recruitment and enrollment to the fiscal health of GSU and urged all present to consider themselves recruiters. He warned that the University would be forced by the upcoming budget and by the FY84 and FY85 budgets, which promise to be equally severe, to examine carefully the productivity of each unit in the University, including the productivity of majors and programs.

Noting that, "these are not the best of times nor are they the worst, but they are certainly going to be lean times," Dr. Goodman-Malamuth closed his address by expressing his confidence in the personal and professional support of the University community during the difficult months ahead.

He will serve for a year at Doctor's Hospital of Stark County, Ohio. Clyde Gardner (SHP) arranged the internship.
Message From the Director of University Relations

Dear Friend of GSU,

An apology is in order. Since last October GSU Landscapes has been mailed third class. You know the results. So do we. More than a few complaints have been forwarded to the Office of University Relations. It became clear that "Events" had become useless to readers. Even the news items seemed stale when read three weeks after the reported item occurred.

Why did we move to third class? Two reasons: 1) the external mailing list for Landscapes has grown to nearly 500; 2) first class postage has gone to 20 cents per item. Mailing Landscapes weekly was to cost us over $5,000 per year. I don't have to tell you the importance of frugality in State higher education today. We simply had to find a way to cut costs.

Further we felt that, since you receive a "Trimester Calendar of Events" you were being alerted well in advance of most important academic and cultural events on campus. Not the case. We simply did not realize the degree to which so many of our friends had come to depend on their weekly Landscapes.

Therefore, effective this issue, a major change is being initiated in both the printing and the distribution of Landscapes. First, we will publish every other week rather than weekly. Second, Landscapes will be mailed first class. The GSU Foundation has generously agreed to split the cost of postage with the University.

I am sure that a bi-weekly Landscapes will be sufficient to share the essentials of the ongoing GSU story. I am delighted that, once again, you will be receiving Landscapes promptly. The burden of State dollars during these difficult economic times will be substantially reduced.

Thank you for your patience. A special thanks to those readers who cared enough to call or write in their complaints.

Sincerely yours,

William H. Dodd

Social Work Faculty Presents Program

The month of March is designated as Social Work Month by the National Association of Social Workers. His lecture will follow a luncheon of the Social Work Advisory Board, an event which is by invitation only. It will be held in Area B Lounge.

Stevenson's background and present position make him well qualified to speak on the subject of the President's FY83 budgetary and legislative proposals. Rising New Tenor to Sing at GSU

David Britton, rising young tenor whose “melodic line flows like honey” (Louisville Courier-Journal) will present a program of operatic and oratorio arias and art songs in GSU’s Music Recital Hall at 8:00 p.m. on Friday, March 26.

Britton, who made his concert and operatic debuts in New York City only ten years ago, already is one of the busiest tenors on the classical circuit. Since 1980 he has sung with numerous organizations. Described by the San Francisco Chronicle as a “Rossin-Mozart tenor,” Britton has sung the role of Count Almaviva in Rossini’s “The Barber of Seville” more than 150 times and appeared in last summers’ highly regarded Mostly Mozart Festival at Lincoln Center, New York. He has mastered at least a half dozen other tenor roles in Mozart operas.

Britton has sung with many opera companies and orchestras both in this country and abroad. He has recorded Bach’s “St. Matthew Passion” in London on the EMI label and has sung with various oratorio societies in the United States. In one month, March, 1981, he sang three concerts in New York’s famed Carnegie Hall and Lincoln Center’s Alice Tully Hall.

His international reputation has been established through appearances with orchestras or music festivals in France, Italy and Greece. After his second appearance with the Oratorio Society of New York, the New York Times’ Joseph Horowitz wrote: “The evening’s outstanding contribution, and by a considerable margin, came from David Britton, the eloquent tenor soloist. His voice is fresh and flexible, and he knows how to ornament Handel’s music in a manner that animates without obliterating it.”

The recital is part of the artist series sponsored by Student Activity Programs at GSU. Admission is $3.00 for the general public; $2.00 for GSU faculty and staff, members of the GSU Alumni Association and senior citizens; and $1.00 for children under 12. GSU students are admitted free to the limited seating in the Music Recital Hall. Tickets may be purchased in advance at the Cashier’s Office at GSU or at the door the evening of the concert.
