Author/Economist to Speak At World Affairs Conference

Dr. Patrick Choate, nationally regarded author and economist, will focus on challenges which the technical revolution poses for education and business at the April 16 closing session of the 1983 South Cook County World Affairs Conference at the Harvey Holiday Inn.

Choate, author of "Retooling the American Work Force," will be keynote speaker for the Saturday banquet, addressing the topic "The Technical Revolution and the American Work Force: Challenges to Education, Business and Public Policy."

Culver is a BPA professor of public service at GSU, host institution for the conference. Other conference sponsors are Moraine Valley Community College, Prairie State College, Thornton Community College, the Community and Economic Development Association of Cook County Inc. (CEDA), and the Illinois Council on Economic Education.

The conference will open at 7 pm on April 15 with a banquet and keynote speaker of national prominence. On April 16, a 9:30 am panel discussion on "Impacts of Technological Change" will precede the 12:15 pm banquet at which Choate will be featured speaker.

Choate currently serves as senior policy analyst in economics for TRW Corp. He previously served as a fellow at the Academy for Contemporary Problems, a public policy research arm of Battelle Memorial Institute.

Choate is author of "As Time Goes By: The Costs and Consequences of Delay," and coauthor of "America in Ruins: Beyond the Public Works Barrel" and "Being Number One: Rebuilding the U.S. Economy."

He holds the doctorate degree in economics from the University of Oklahoma.

"Rapid technological change is altering the structure of the world economy, the character of employment and the way we live," Culver said in explaining the theme for the 1983 conference. "It presents at once great problems and great challenges."

He said the ability of the United States to remain a world leader will depend in part on its ability to adapt its work force to the demands of high technology.

Information regarding the conference and registration may be obtained by contacting the GSU Office of Special Programs at extension 2121.
Women's Resource Center Reception

Harriet Gross, (center, standing), explains purpose of Women's Resource Center to women attending recent WRC film showing.

Third World Conference

The Ninth Annual GSU Third World Conference was held at McCormick Inn, March 23 - 26. Chicago Democratic mayoral candidate Harold Washington and Ambassador Mamly Lamine Conde, of the Republic of Guinea headed a list of more than 100 speakers and panelists.

Washington delivered the first keynote address at the opening session Wednesday, March 23. His topic was "Governance in a Multi-ethnic City." Conde discussed "Power and Stability in Africa" at the evening session on Friday, March 25.

While no overall theme was attached to the ninth Third World Conference, development was the overriding concern of those who participated. Nearly a third of the panels emphasized this aspect in such areas as international law and nationalism; agricultural marketing; Caribbean/Latin America; women; science and technology; modernization and industrialization and politics.

Roger Oden, chairman of the Division of Intercultural Studies in the College of Arts and Sciences at GSU was conference coordinator.

Theology for Lunch

Rev. Fr. Richard Butler, of the Dominican Priory, River Forest, will be the guest speaker at the GSU Theology for Lunch series on April 13 and May 11.

His topic will be "Sources of Unbelief in Contemporary Society."

Cable TV Workshop: How To Use Local Access Channels

How to make maximum use of the many access and/or local origination channels of cable TV springing up throughout the country is the focal point of a two-day workshop to be presented on Friday and Saturday, April 8 - 9 by GSU.

According to Melvyn M. Muchnik, CAS chairman of the Division of Media Communications and coordinator, the workshop is designed particularly for members of cable boards and commissions and other potential users in communities which are in the early stages of cable development.

The keynote presentation on "The Local Cable Landscape" will be delivered on Friday morning by Marge Nicholson, coordinator of the Chicago Access Corp., Office of Cable Communications, City of Chicago. Nicholson has been involved with the National Federation of Local Cable Programmers in encouraging varied uses of public, governmental and educational access channels as well as local origination. Following her talk, she will chair a panel of cable company representatives on current community programming.

Career Fair

The Placement Office at GSU will conduct a one-day career fair on Wednesday, April 13, from 1 pm to 6 pm in the Hall of Governors.

WRC Sponsors Job Market Talk

Mature women returning to the job market often find themselves short on the necessary skills to find the right kinds of jobs.

To help them overcome this deficiency, the Women's Resource Center at GSU is sponsoring a free workshop "Returning to the Job Market: Mature Women," on Wednesday, April 13, from 9:30 am to 12 noon. Betty Nicholson and Adele Freed, employment counselors at South suburban Council on Aging, will be the leaders. The meeting will be in E Wing Lounge at the University.

No advance registration is necessary. For further information call the Center at extension 2435.
DeAngelis to Speak at GSU

Senator Aldo DeAngelis will be guest speaker at a special meeting in Engbretson Hall, 12:30 pm, April 11. The meeting will be hosted by Local 743, International Brotherhood of Teamsters and the GSU Chapter of University Professionals of Illinois. DeAngelis will discuss the "State of the State in Reference to Public Institutions of Higher Learning."

The meeting is open to the GSU community and the public at large.

GSU Library Survey

A user survey questionnaire conducted recently by the GSU Library yielded a profile of the concerns of the various user populations. A study of answers reveals that both faculty and students need a separate quiet study area and students would like more copy machines. Both constituents also felt that instruction and assistance in using the Library Computer System was needed, and that similar help was in the Library government document section.

There was general agreement among faculty, students, professional staff and the community at large that instruction on use of library materials and services is an important part of the overall University learning experience. This was found, according to survey results, in the form of "explanation by library staff at a service area." Library tours conducted by librarians and course or assignment-related instruction with faculty/librarian collaboration were very useful, according to survey respondents.

Overall, despite individual problems with some areas — some faculty feeling that there should be better lighting in the stack areas, while both students and faculty said that it was difficult to find some reference material, responses to the questionnaires gave high marks to the present library and staff.

Alumni Association Presents Stress Seminar

A workshop on stress management conducted by Judy Anderson, Mary Rose Baron, Joseph Boton and Jane Jarosz, all members of the Our Lady of Mercy Hospital health team, will be presented Saturday, April 30 in Engbretson Hall from 9 am to 12 noon.

Annual Community College Day

Over 70 counselors and administrators from 17 area community colleges and GSU attended the fourth annual GSU/Community College Articulation Conference and luncheon held on Tuesday, March 22 in Engbretson Hall.

Jazz Man Richie Cole Leads Jazz Clinic

Richie Cole, jazz saxophonist known as "Alto Madness," will conduct a three-day workshop/clinic on April 12 - 14 at GSU.

The highlight of the clinic will be a free public concert on Thursday, April 14, at 7:30 pm by Alto Madness and the GSU Jazz Band, under the direction of Warrick Carter, CAS chairperson of the Division of Fine and Performing Arts.

The first day of the workshop will be devoted mostly to rehearsal with the GSU musicians and individual student consultations. At 3:30, Cole will conduct an introductory clinic for sax players of junior and senior high school age.

On Wednesday, April 13, following a morning of rehearsal, individual student sessions will begin at 1:30 pm. Late afternoon will be taken up with clinics for saxophone sections from area junior and senior highs.

Rehearsals will continue throughout Thursday, leading up to the evening concert in the Music Recital Hall.

Cole, 34, reached a high point in his career in 1980-81. He was featured on the covers of Downbeat, Jazz Times and Swing Journal magazines. He appeared at major festivals in Nice, Monterey, Newport, Playboy and Rio de Janeiro. At the International Jazz Festival in Monterey, he received a standing ovation, a rare event.

Alto Madness has recorded with such jazz stars as Lionel Hampton, Buddy Rich, Eddie Jefferson, Boots Randolph and Manhattan Transfer. His albums include "Hollywood Madness," "Richie Cole Meets Art Pepper," and "The Definite Richie Cole."

Cole's appearance at the University is sponsored by CAS and is made possible in part through a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. For further information call extension 2461.

Alumni Phonathon Fund Drive

Once again, the GSU Alumni Association needs the help of all GSUers to put its fund drive over the top in its efforts to raise money for the Alumni Academic Awards (scholarships) and Library Support.

In the past, the cooperation of such diverse parts of the University community as the Library, Special Programs, Student Affairs and Services, Administration and the members of the civil service union local has made the difference.

This year, student organizations, such as SAM, have already volunteered to contribute their time. Please join all those who are helping and make this year's Phonathon a rousing success. Call Ginni Burghardt, extension 2419 to find out what times will be most convenient for you to sit in on the Phonathon.

The dates and times for this year's Phonathon are April 18 - 27 weekdays, 6:30 to 9:00 pm.
