MAJOR GRANT TO GSU...In what the Illinois Department of Mental Health called "the best grant proposal it has ever received," the Department will be sending the official letter this week approving a $588,821 grant to be spent over a three year period in developing an alcoholic sciences curriculum. An educational ladder schema which provides a graduated increase in cognitive knowledge and in internship experience will be available to all persons working in the field of alcoholism in the numerous hospital and community settings existing across the State. Project Director is Jim Tills (CEAS) who receives a major share of the credit for the proposal along with Ted Andrews (CEAS) and Bob Krebs (R & I) all of whom put 2 1/2 years into the development of the proposal. The proposal itself was rated so exceptional that it is about to be used as a model by the Illinois Department of Mental Health on what a proposal should look like. GSUers who would like to view a model proposal for their grant proposal development should contact Bob Krebs (R & I).

MORE BIRDS...CEAS and Thorn Creek Audubon Society are co-sponsoring the Audubon Wildlife Film again this year. Each film is personally presented and narrated by its producer. The first film will be William A. Anderson's "Designs for Survival," portraying designs for feeding, movement, protection, and reproduction of various species, on Monday, October 7, at 8:00 p.m. at the Ludeman Center, 114 North Orchard Drive, Park Forest. Contact JOHN CHAMBERS, CEAS, for tickets ($5 season ticket--3 films, $2 adult single admission, $1 student single admission) and further info.

SOUTH SUBURBAN WOMEN'S COUNCIL...will hold its first general meeting on October 1 at GSB at 8 p.m. in the Community Conference Center. The Women's Studies Program in CCS is jointly sponsoring the meeting under the auspices of new Women's Studies Coordinator HARRIET GROSS (CCS). Speakers will be Ruth Surgal and Martha Scott of the Emma Goldman Health Center who will describe how they started their own women's health center (for women by women) and the services they offer. More info from HARRIET GROSS, etc. 2427.

FACULTY DEVELOPMENT AND TENURE...The Council of Faculties and the Council of Presidents jointly developed the following statements and received BOG approval that each institution shall provide institutional mechanisms and develop internal policies calculated to carry through on the following major objectives:

1. To facilitate among all faculty the knowledge of, and capacity to, work with the changing foci of academic programs and modes of instruction within Higher Education.
2. To help faculty members broaden their academic and instructional competentcies.
3. To facilitate the capacity of the faculty to adapt their specialties to broader (multiple) rather than narrower (single) applications.
4. To facilitate faculty developing and maintaining academic instructional competentcies that are valued by the University.
5. To facilitate for all faculty the maintenance of high standards of teaching, research and scholarly activity, including community service.

Tenure is a university-wide privilege within the individual's framework of academic competence and is accorded as a means of protecting academic freedom and of insuring a sufficient degree of economic security to make the profession attractive to men and women of ability. It is awarded to faculty who have demonstrated professional competence in a discipline or area of interdisciplinary studies.
GSU THEATER SEASON OPENS WITH ANTIGONE...

Wednesday, October 16 and runs through Sunday, October 20, with an 8 p.m. curtain except for 7:30 p.m. on Sunday. The Anouilh classic will star TERRI PHILLIPS (CCS), a theater student, in the title role with Creon being played by JOHN WILKINS (CCS), a literature student. Others are Carolyn Lewis and Maggie Krasin as Ismene and Rurynice respectively. PAUL HILL (UNIV. ADVOCATE) will play the greek chorus by himself. MEL SLOTT (CCS) will direct the Lewis Galantiere adaptation of the play with DAVE REEVE (CCS) the designer of the single unit multiple setting and LEE LINDOW, CCS grad student in technical theater acting as lighting director and production technical director in partial fulfillment of her final graduate project. Ticket information will be announced shortly.

QUESTION RECEIVED BY THE COMMUNICATIONS OFFICE

...Does the President pay for the house he lives in on the campus? Answer: Yes. The old Manilow ranch house to be deeded to the University formally in 1975 is designated as a conference center/temporary official residence for the President. The Board of Governors includes a housing allowance for all five Presidents at its campuses. When the GSU president moved to the temporary residence, the housing allowance was deducted from his salary. The BOG housing allowance is now $400 per month. As an added note, the BHE stopped all planning for official residences last year, at least temporarily, while it further studied the matter.

THEY SAW THE LIGHT...

Catch the florescent beams creating the police lineups in some of those formerly dark offices. Two hundred banks of lights are being "installed" leading one observer to comment "we're just building it as we go along." Another noted, "It's aesthetically pleasing. The gray beam matches my office."

UNIVERSITY FACULTY ORGANIZATION...

...will meet in the Community Conference Center Thursday from 1:30 - 3:00 p.m.

THE GOVERNORS STATE UNIVERSITY STATION...

of the Illinois Central Gulf railroad is on display in the Hall of Governors. Executive Director Jack Pigott of the Chicago South Suburban Mass Transit District, along with the district trustee, Dan Kaplir, house Park Forest South, and the designer, consulting engineer and a host of others involved in the project briefed GSUers last Wednesday on the plans for the 500 foot station. Included are two parking lots with a capacity of 800 cars total. When will it be here? That was uncertain and no promises were made except to say that it will take about a year for the IC extension and station construction once someone says "go." Best guesses were early 1976.

CAMPUS VISITORS THIS WEEK...

...include the President and entire board of Montgomery College in Maryland. This community college has 12,000 plus students on two campuses and is developing a third. GSU was recommended to them as a place to see new ideas in action.

PARTICIPATE IN UTOPIA...

Arcosanti may be the latest GSU outpost. Five to eight people from GSU may journey to the "Utopian Experiment" combining architecture and ecology in the mountains 70 miles north of Phoenix. Arcosanti will eventually house 3000 persons on a futuristic structure 25 stories high on only 10 acres leaving 98 percent of the surrounding land as wilderness, agriculture and parks. Estimated expenses for the trip is $700. One time period is planned for March 10-April 18 and another March 24-May 2. Check DUKE RANK (CCS) for more info.
