Vol.1, No.1

GOODNESS...IT'S A NEW UNIVERSITY! GSU's opening last Monday was covered in major stories by Chicago's three network television stations. WBEM radio broadcast a six minute story that included an interview with Bill Engbretson. Paul Hill was interviewed by Channel 7 and Bill Engbretson on 2 and 5. Prominent stories were carried in Chicago Today and the Sun-Times.

GSU'S FIRST MODULE? That honor to Ted Andrews who jumped the gun by meeting Saturday at the planning building and taking a field trip to the interim campus with his "Research and Investigations in Natural History" module. Also in the same module, Johnnie Gentry (Assistant Curator for Chicago's Field Museum) became the first Community Professor to make his bow before GSU students.

FIRST MODULES MONDAY...Among those getting GSU operational early Monday morning were Lowell Culver and Ralph Winston (CBPS); Tom Kelley, Al Sherman, Tina Stretch and Al Martin (CCS); Jim Gallagher (CEAS); and Tulsi Saral (CHLD).

ACCOLADES...To the GSU faculty and staff of the past two years, whose dreams and enormous dedication led to GSU's opening Monday.

GSUings...Manny Chavez has been appointed by the Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction to the Advisory Council for the Bilingual Migrant...

Pete Fenner, in June's Sedimentary Geology printed in the Netherlands, "Defining Lithostratigraphic Boundries in Homogeneous Strata--A case Study"...

Tulsi Saral, author of A Content Analysis Study of Interracial Conflict-Producing Situations and Roles published by the University of Illinois...

Pat Patterson, Miss Indiana... a visitor to the GSU campus on opening day...Where were you Germaine Greer?
