A FOUNDATION FOR INNOVATION...A Task Force of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities(AASCU) on Innovation in Higher Education has proposed innovation in federal funding through a National Foundation it believed would be the "singular vehicle for funding experimentation and successfully implementing substantive change in higher education." The AASCU Foundation is a revision of the proposed National Foundation which is supported by HEW and the Senate, but which was deleted from the House education bill.

The AASCU Foundation departs from the legislative proposal in that: 1) it specifically states that the Foundation Board should be a racial, economic and occupational mix, not limited to educators; 2) it calls for regional boards within the Foundation structure to respond to national diversity with the advantage of local knowledge; 3) it asks that the Board demand accountability but not policy adherence in order that the campuses can be the origin of creative action, not the manipulators of needs to fit federal guidelines; and, 4) it will distribute funds to the institutional entity, not grant funds to individual departments or faculty members, which, as co-author Robert C. Spencer, President of Sangamon State University, told a press conference, "fragments the academic community" and generates behavior not wholly committed to the furtherance of institutional goals.

GSUings...Dan Cassagrande invited to participate in one of the prestigious Gordon Research Conferences at the University of Rhode Island. Dan will be speaker this summer at the Gordon Conference on Geochemistry.

Don Herzog's article "Fringe Benefits: The Federal Government vs. Private Industry" in the Labor Law Journal being reprinted for use by the Labor Relations Training Center of the U.S. Civil Service Commission in training federal, state and local government management personnel in labor relations.

Congratulations to the recently married Sue Hoelle Eggert now honeymooning in Aspen, Colorado. She'll be returning to GSU...and CEAS...if she can find a fast chairlift east.

GSU PARKING...OR...THE LITTLE RED POSTS
For safety purposes, the doors on each side of the Mini-campus should not be blocked by automobiles. On the west side of the building the area between the red posts in front of the doors should be left clear...on the east side of the building the little red posts have just been planted and will not grow until spring...so avoid blocking the doors there too!

TAKE A JOURNAL TO LUNCH...

Are you tired of spending hours in the LRC reading the Journal of Sedimentary Petrology, Archiv fur Kammunalwissenschaften, and other popular LRC periodicals? Fear not, there is hope!

The LRC is experimenting with a new policy which will allow periodicals(except the current issues in plastic covers) to circulate for two days. Limit is six per person.

Take home an issue of the Journal of the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Institute tonight!

WOMEN'S RIGHTS ON CAMPUS...A recent issue (December 13) of U.S. News and World Report notes that while 42 percent of today's college students are female, women faculty members constitute only 24 percent, women administrators 17 percent and women members of governing boards 13 percent. December 6 Time treats the subject under "From Coeducation to Equality," depicting a women's karate class at Berkeley and car-repair lessons...and December 6 Newsweek considers under "Pronoun Envy" male chauvinism at Harvard Divinity School.

MEN'S LIBERATION...Evidence can be found in some state colleges and universities of men slowly entering previously female-dominated fields. For example, at California State College at Los Angeles with a large nurses training program, the male enrollment doubled during 1971. Men have been entering nursing from high unemployment fields such as teaching and aerospace as well as from medic duty in the armed services. Men are also beginning to enter early childhood education programs in increasing numbers.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK: From historian Adrienne Koch in the November/December Humanist: "Nothing is more misleading in the mythology of revolutions than the gross generalization that there is a revolutionary type of man. Men become revolutionaries for the widest imaginable range of reasons. Similarly, they either stay in or break with the movement on individual grounds."
