The Professional Education Unit at Governors State University seeks to offer the highest quality academic programs, balancing innovation and best practice. The Unit is committed to developing teachers, counselors, psychologists, and administrators who will employ a reasoned eclectic approach to optimize the complex teaching and learning environments in the diverse region served by the University in order to achieve student learning. The role of the special educator includes collecting baseline data, interpreting it, developing individualized educational plans, and actively participating in multidisciplinary and IEP conferences. The special education teacher must be prepared to provide for the educational needs of a student on the basis of individual student characteristics, and within a diverse setting. Teachers need to develop critical IEP development skills as well as the ability to apply and evaluate them in a clinical setting. The practicum experience is designed to give candidates the opportunity to apply and evaluate various methods with students identified with special needs.
COURSE TITLE: Special Education Practicum I
COURSE NUMBER: SPED 840
CREDIT HOURS: One (1) Graduate
INSTRUCTOR: Renee Nash, Ed.D. Office # 534-4365 r-nash@govst.edu
TRIMESTER: Winter 2002

Catalog Description:
Provides advanced professional experience in designing, implementing and evaluating an academic intervention plan for an identified special education student (30 hours of fieldwork). OFFERED FALL & WINTER TRIMESTERS ONLY.

Prerequisites:
*All methods courses in Multicategorical Masters degree sequence.

Restrictions:
Graduate Students in Multicategorical Special Education Program.

Texts and Materials:

Rationale:
With the advent of P.L. 101-476 (IDEA) and within the context of multicategorical programming, the role of the special educator includes collecting baseline data, interpreting it, developing individualized educational plans, and actively participating in multidisciplinary and IEP conferences. The special education teacher must be prepared to provide for the educational needs of a student on the basis of individual student characteristics. Teachers need to develop critical IEP development skills as well as to apply and evaluate them in a clinical setting. They need the opportunity to apply and evaluate various methods.

Expected Student Outcomes:

1. Develop precise individualized instructional plans (IEP) based upon cognitive, perceptual, and socioemotional needs of students as identified by gathering baseline data.

2. Develop instructional methods, materials, and/or activities matched to the identified needs and strengths of the learner to carry out the IEP.

3. Carry out an intervention.

4. Evaluate student progress and program effectiveness by applying baseline and intervention measurement techniques.

5. Establish rapport with student(s) and staff.

6. Follow local, state and federal laws, regulations and guidelines.

7. Adhere to the regulations on the confidentiality of student records.

Instructional Activities:

Description of the project: 1. Observe a target student in a classroom setting, collect baseline data, read the student's temporary folder, write a case study report, develop an IEP, implement and evaluate. Prepare a portfolio describing the project (30 student hours in the field).

All objectives addressed: 2. Attend mandatory class orientation meeting at GSU.

Objectives addressed:
#1, #6, #7

Objectives addressed: 3. Examine the temporary folder of the selected student including all components of the case study evaluation and MDC reports. Submit a typewritten report showing the student's academic levels, learning strengths and non-strengths and other information that may adversely impact on learning (must be submitted typewritten.)

Objectives addressed: 4. Prepare an Individual Educational Plan (IEP) consisting of one academic goal and a minimum of three objectives and selected methods, and materials based on the academic instructional needs of a student as revealed by the case study report, consultation with the teacher, your observation, and baseline data. Explain why you have selected that goal and objective.

Objectives addressed: 5. Prepare an evaluation report showing baseline, results of each intervention activity, and final outcome, along with your explanatory comments. Include a narrative discussion.

All objectives addressed 6. Keep a log with a detailed description of daily activities, including reactions, feelings, observations, comments, revisions and suggestions (may be submitted handwritten, if legible.) This is a diary-type record of the entire experience.

All objectives addressed 7. Gather all above activity reports into a portfolio. Turn in portfolio at least one week before the end of the semester.
