String Quartet Begins Fifth Season

The GSU String Quartet will begin its fifth season of free public concerts at the university campus at 3:30 pm on Sunday, November 6, with music by Haydn, Barber, Handel/Halvorsen and Mendelssohn.

This will be the first of three free concerts the quartet will play in Music Recital Hall during the 1983-84 academic year, compared with two such programs in preceding years.

This concert will also serve as the debut of the quartet's new second violinist, Steven Bjella, Park Forest. The other members are Raya Kodesh-Beatty, first violin; Robert Shamo, viola; and Alan Rostoker, cello. All four are professional musicians well known in Chicago area music circles.

The program will open with "Quartet in C Major," Op. 33, No. 3, known as "The Bird," by Franz Joseph Haydn. It will be followed by Samuel Barber's "String Quartet," Op. 11. The composer's most famous work, "Adagio for Strings," comes from the second movement of the quartet.

After intermission, Kodesh-Beatty and Rostoker will share the stage for a performance of "Passacaglia on a Theme by Handel" for violin and cello by Norwegian composer John Halvorsen. The program will conclude with "Quartet No. 4 in E minor," Op. 44, No. 2, by Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy.

Second violinist Bjella teaches violin privately as well as at GSU and St. Xavier College. He earned the bachelor's and master's degrees at the University of Iowa, where he studied with Leopold LaFosse. While on the music faculty of Northern Michigan University, he toured as a member of the Testore Trio. In the Chicago area, Bjella has played in the Chicago City Ballet Orchestra, Chicago String Ensemble, Chicago Chamber Orchestra, American Chamber Symphony and the Illinois Philharmonic. He was heard in recital at Faith United Protestant Church in Park Forest last April.

Future free public concerts of the String Quartet will be on Jan. 29 and March 18, 1984, at 3:30 pm. The group will complete its on-campus schedule in May with the President's Concert, a benefit performance for the GSU Foundation's Community College Scholarship Fund.

In the meantime, the group is gaining an area-wide reputation through numerous off-campus concerts, which are made possible in part by a grant from Wilkes, Besterfield & Co., Ltd., public accounting firm in Olympia Fields. At present six performances are scheduled at Etz Chaim Temple in Lombard, Olivet Nazarene College, St. Xavier College, William Rainey Harper College, Morton Grove Public Library and the University of Illinois at Chicago.

For further information about the GSU String Quartet, call the GSU Foundation at (312) 534-5368.

Eight Community College Scholars Get Awards At GSU

Eight scholastically outstanding graduates of area community colleges have been awarded full scholarships at GSU for the 1983-84 academic year, according to William H. Dodd, chief executive officer of the GSU Foundation.

They bring to 33 the number of awards made from the Foundation's Community College Scholarship Fund since the program began in 1980. In addition to the new scholarships, four of the last year's recipients have been given renewals for the current school year, Dodd reports. This year's new awards went to:

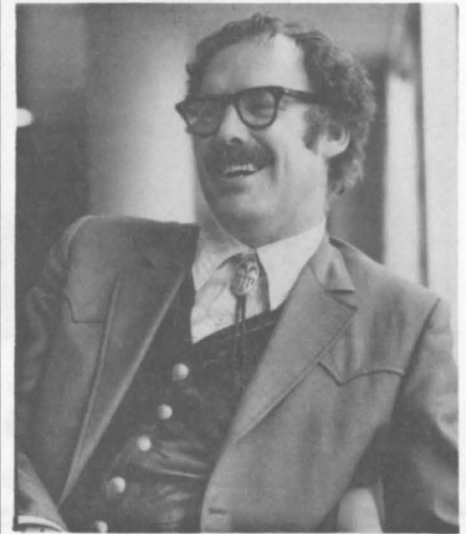

Shirley Easter, St. Anne, a graduate of Kankakee Community College
 Sharon E. Fink, Peotone, former student at Joliet Junior College
 Paulette A. Finnegan, Chicago, Daley College
 Shari Ginsberg, Glenwood, a graduate of Prairie State College
 Sandra Grieger, Oak Lawn, Moraine Valley Community College
 Deborah Langland, Oak Forest, Thornton Community College
 Steven M. Sampson, Chicago, a graduate of Kennedy-King College
 Iris Zeigler, Chicago, from Olive-Harvey College

The four repeaters are Jacquelyn J. Flynn, Country Club Hills, Thornton; Emily Hackiewicz, Hickory Hills, Moraine Valley; Steven L. Homberg, Kankakee, of Kankakee Community College; and Patricia Smith, Orland Park, Moraine Valley.

"These students represent the cream of the 1982 and 1983 graduating classes of our region's community colleges," Dodd declares. "We believe that their presence on our campus is further recognition throughout the southern suburbs that Governors State offers quality education as well as convenience and low cost."

The Community College Scholarships are funded primarily by proceeds from the annual President's Concert of the GSU String Quartet held in the spring. Since the first one in 1980, these benefit concerts have raised approximately $35,000.

Theobald, Futurist To Lecture Here

Robert Theobald, futurist, economist and author is scheduled to speak at GSU on Friday, November 11 at 8:00 pm in the University Theatre as part of this fall's Contemporary Lecture Forum and Media Symposium, co-sponsored by the Program Advisory Committee and the College of Arts and Sciences. Theobald has authored several books including, An Alternative Future for America's Third Century, Beyond Despair, Social Policies for America in the Seventies, and Economizing Abundance. He also edits a periodical, Futures Conditional which is designed to provide readers with information about the problems and possibilities of America and the world. Presently working in the United States, Theobald has acted as a consultant for the United Nations, the president of the United States, and many national organizations and corporations.

All GSU students with a valid ID may attend the lecture free. Advance lecture ticket prices will be $3.00 for general admission, $2.00 for GSU faculty, staff, alumni or senior citizens, and $1.00 for children under 12. Tickets purchased at the door will be $1.00 more.

A UNIVERSITY RELATIONS PUBLICATION

Lawyer Discusses Women's Legal Rights

Judith Mostovoy, a lawyer who is a member of the staff of the Women's Legal Clinic of Sharon A. Wildey, appeared in a lecture October 25 on "Women's Legal Rights: An Overview."

Mostovoy, who earned her law degree from John Marshall Law School in Chicago, also holds a master's degree in women's studies from GSU.

She covered legal issues involving discrimination against women, family dissolution and family violence, among other topics.

Mostovoy's appearance was sponsored by the Women's Resource Center and the Office of Student Affairs. Anyone wishing further information on the subject of women's legal rights should contact the center at extension 2435.

Third World Series Lectures

The free, public lecture series on Third World in Perspective will continue at GSU on October 31 when the topic will be "International Trade and the Third World: The Case for Steel Production," presented by Mr. William Watson, operations manager for Interstate Steel Corp., Des Plaines.

GSU Film Club Starts With Citizen Kane

Citizen Kane, one of the all-time great American movies, will launch the 1983-84 monthly series of the Film and Video Society, a student organization at GSU this evening at 7 pm.

Two Bogart movies, one authentic "Bogey" and the other bogus, will be featured on Nov. 18 at 7 pm. Casablanca, starring the real Humphrey Bogart, will be teamed with Play it Again, Sam, the Woody Allen parody.

Admission is $.50. GSU students with identification cards are admitted free. All films will be shown in Engbretson Hall.

Hitchcock's Psycho Next In Film Series

Psycho, movie director Alfred Hitchcock's thriller, acclaimed as the master shock film of all time, is the fifth to be shown in GSU's Student Activity Program Advisory Committee series "Psychological Thrills and Puzzles." The screenings, on November 10 at 5 pm, 7 pm and 9:30 pm will be in Engbretson Hall. The subscription discussion series led by film critic Ken McMillan of the Star newspaper chain in Honors Dining Room, follows the 7 pm showing.

GSU Sponsors Psychodrama Institute Conference

A one-day training institute and a two-day conference on psychodrama sponsored by GSU will open on Nov. 11 and continue through the 13th at the Americana Congress Hotel, 520 S. Michigan Ave. The workshop for professionals in the fields of psychodrama, sociometry and group psychotherapy, is also available for college credit to qualified participants.

On Friday, Nov. 11, from 9 am to 5 pm, the training institute will give those attending the opportunity to spend a full day with one of six certified psychodrama trainers. The faculty is comprised of Dr. John Nolte, director of the Midwest Center for Psychodrama and Sociometry, Chicago; Ann Hale, co-director of Blue Ridge Institute for Human Relations, Roanoke, Va.; Jill Winer, president, Illiana Psychodrama Institute, Flossmoor; Dr. Elaine Sachanoff, director, Oasis Psychodrama Training Program, Evanston; Dr. Rivka Green, independent psychodrama trainer, Chicago; and James Vander May, psychodramatist, Pinecrest Christian Hospital, Grand Rapids, Mich.

All of the staff hold the director's certificate of the Moreno Institute and are certified as trainer educator, practitioner by the American Board of Examiners for Psychodrama, Sociometry and Psychotherapy. Training at this institute can be applied toward certification by the above board.

The conference from 9 am - 5 pm on Saturday and Sunday offers 25 two-hour miniworkshops covering various techniques, methods and applications of psychodrama, sociometry and group therapy. The instructor will be Jill Winer. An additional feature will be presentations in evening sessions of sociodrama and spontaniety theatre led by nationally known psychodramatists.

Qualified participants can earn one hour of undergraduate/graduate credit by attending both days of the conference and completing a class assignment.

Cost of the one-day institute is $30. The conference fee is $55. For those attending both functions, there is a special discount fee of $75. Students seeking college credit will also be charged the regular tuition of $46.25 for undergraduates or $50.75 for graduates.

For registration or other information, contact Peg Donohue in the Office of Conferences and Workshops at extension 2558.

Sun-Times Photographer Leads Off Lecture Series

Chicago Sun-Times photographer Eugene Pesek was the lead-off lecturer in the 1983-84 Infinity Photographers Club Friday night series on Oct. 21.

Pesek has been with the Chicago newspaper since 1944 and has won an impressive list of awards. They include seven firsts in the Chicago Press Photographers Association Competition; four Chicago Newspaper Guild Stick-o-Type awards; and one first and one grand prize in the Midwest Photo Show.

Along with another Sun-Times photographer, Jim Frost and reporters Pam Zekman and Zay Smith, he shared first prize in the Inland Daily Press Association's local government news contest for his work on the famous Mirage Tavern expose of 1978.

Infinity Photographers Club is one of the largest and most active student organizations on the GSU campus. Its members created Infinity Gallery, the university's photo exhibit hall which displays works of locally and nationally famous photographers each month.

The lectures are open to the public free of charge. For information call extension 2446.

"Come Children, Sing!"

For parents who want to share the joy of music with their children 5 years of age and under, "Come Children, Sing!" at GSU begins its second eight week session of the fall during the last full week of October.

To give parents maximum flexibility, seven sections are open on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. They will meet weekly through the second week of December.

"Come Children, Sing!" is designed to encourage parent and child to sing along, move along or play along and to continue the musical activity in the home. Enrollment has been at or near capacity since the program became available at GSU in 1982.

Registration is $10 per child for the eight weeks. Parents attend free. For information concerning specific schedules, call the Office of Conferences and Workshops at ext 2558.
