Taylor is named acting dean of Student Affairs and Services

GSU ARCHIVES

A Park Forest woman has been appointed acting dean of student affairs and services at Governors State University.

M. Catherine McKerral Taylor assumed her new duties on Aug. 1. She replaces Dr. Frank L. Borelli who became vice president of student services at Eastern Washington University.

Taylor had served as assistant to the president at Governors State since September 1982. She earlier had served seven years as assistant director of admissions and student recruitment, and on two occasions served five and seven-month terms as acting director. She worked as an admissions counselor during the 1974-75 academic year.

A 13-year employee of the university, Taylor also had served as a production assistant in the Instructional Communications Center and as a secretary in the Office of Admissions and Student Recruitment.

Before joining the staff at Governors State, she was employed as an underwriting assistant in the Municipal Bond Department of Walston and Co. Inc. in Chicago.

M. Catherine Taylor

Taylor received the bachelor of arts degree with honors from the University of Illinois in 1970. She was an Edmund James Scholar during her baccalaureate studies.

She received the master of arts degree from Governors State in 1973, and she currently is completing studies for the master of public administration degree.

At Governors State, Taylor has served as institutional representative to the Illinois Joint Council of Higher Education's Committee on Admissions and Records, and to the Joint Council's statewide Subcommittee on Articulation. She served as Civil Service representative to the University Assembly during 1973-74, and as chairperson of the Civil Service Affairs Subcommittee from 1972 to 1974.

She was responsible for administrative coordination of the Off-Campus Visitation Program during 1978-79, and has served as coordinator for publication of the university catalog since 1982.

She has served on numerous university committees and task forces.

As dean of student affairs and services, Taylor will oversee the Center for Learning Assistance, the Office of Admissions and Student Recruitment, the Office of Financial Aid, the Office of Student Life, the Office of Student Development, and the Registrar's Office.

Legal implications, effects of toxic chemicals is subject of workshop

"Effects of Toxic Chemicals in the Workplace: It Could Happen to You!" is topic for a Governors State University workshop on Sept. 27.

The conference will be held at the Holiday Plaza in Matteson and is co-sponsored by the university's Office of Conferences and Workshops (OCW) and by the Small Business Development Center (SBDC).

Housed at Governors State, the SBDC is a joint venture of the university and Kankakee Community College, Moraine Valley Community College, Prairie State College and Thornton Community College.

The conference will deal with issues such as those involved in the recent trial and conviction of Film Recovery Systems Inc. supervisory personnel charged with murder after an employee died from exposure to cyanide used in the firm's Elk Grove Village plant.

Specific questions to be covered include "who is at risk," "what are the regulations governing toxic waste management," "what are employees' rights," and "what protections should be extended to employees."

The workshop is open to any interested persons but is designed especially for administrative and supervisory personnel from manufacturing and industry, for risk managers, for safety and loss managers, for insurance company representatives, for attorneys, and for environmentalists.

Speakers will include Sen. Aldo DeAngelis (R-Olympia Fields), Martin Mulhall of the National Safety Council, Bernard Sieracki of Waste Management of Illinois, Norman Kjos of Stauffer Chemical Co., consultant Wayne Genck of the Olympia Fields firm of Young and Kather, and attorney Ronald D. Menaker.

The conference will run from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and a $125 registration fee includes lunch and materials.

Further information regarding the session may be obtained by calling the OCW office at (312) 534-5000, extension 2436.

Micro courses offered in Will and Grundy counties

Five sites in Will and Grundy counties will be locations for introductory and advanced microcomputer courses to be offered by Governors State University during the Fall 1985 trimester.

The courses are offered by the university's College of Education in cooperation with the Tri-County Computer Consortium and are designed for teachers and school administrators.

Will County classes will be held at Bolingbrook High School, Joliet West High School, Plainfield High School and Summit Hill Junior High School in Frankfort. Grundy classes are scheduled at Morris High School.

Registration sessions are scheduled at the Joliet West location from 6 to 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 3, and from 5:30 to 7 p.m. on Sept. 16.

Registration will be held in Morris from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. on Sept. 17.

Tuition for each course is $144 plus a $30 laboratory fee.

Four sessions of "Introduction to Microcomputers in Education" will be held beginning the week of Sept. 16 and continuing through the week of Dec. 9. Classes will meet at Bolingbrook from 6:30 to 10 p.m. on Mondays, at Morris from 6:30 to 10 p.m. on Tuesdays, at Summit Hill from 6:30 to 10 p.m. on Wednesdays, and at Plainfield from 4:30 to 8 p.m. on Thursdays.

The course examines the impact of microcomputers in today's educational system. Special attention will be given to introduction, use and evaluation of the microcomputer as an instructional and managerial aid.

"Educational Applications of the Microcomputer: Educational Administration" will be taught at Joliet West from 4:10 to 7 p.m. on Thursdays beginning on Sept. 12 and continuing through Dec. 12. The course will focus on microcomputer use for written communication, record management and budget management. Attention also will be given to selection of hardware and software.

Further information regarding the courses may be obtained by contacting Grace Lefebvre of the university's Office of Special Programs & Continuing Education at (312) 534-5000, extension 2125.

Business Administration courses offered at Moraine Valley

Ten Governors State University courses leading to a baccalaureate degree in business administration will be offered at Moraine Valley Community College during the 1985-86 academic year.

The junior and senior level courses will be taught at the Moraine Valley main campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave. in Palos Hills, beginning Sept. 3. Each of the courses will be taught in both a day and an evening time slot during the academic year.

Day classes scheduled for the Fall 1985 trimester are "Business Communications" from 8 to 9:15 a.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays, "Intermediate Macroeconomics" from 9:30 to 10:45 a.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays, "Managerial Economics from 11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays, "Introduction to Management Information Systems" from 9:30 to 10:45 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and "Statistics for Management II" from 11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Evening classes are listed from 7 to 9:45 p.m. and include "Managerial Economics" on Mondays, "Introduction to Management Information Systems" on Tuesdays, "Principles of Financial Management" on Wednesdays, and "Business Communications" on Thursdays.

Day courses planned for the Winter 1986 trimester include "Organizational Behavior," "Legal Environment of Administration," "Principles of Financial Management," "Production Management" and "Managerial Economics."

Evening offerings for the winter term will include "Legal Environment of Administration," "Intermediate Macroeconomics," "Statistics for Management II" and "Managerial Accounting." In addition, "Production Management" and "Organizational Behavior" will be offered during the evenings for the Spring/Summer 1986 trimester.

Further information regarding the courses, degree requirements, or course prerequisites may be obtained by calling the Governors State University College of Business and Public Administration at (312) 534-5000, extension 2241.

Graduate courses are set for Palos Hills

Two graduate-level business courses will be offered at the Amos Alonzo Stagg High School in Palos Hills during the Fall 1985 trimester by the College of Business and Public Administration at Governors State University.

Both courses may be applicable toward the master of business administration (MBA) degree for persons meeting admission requirements for that program.

"Accounting for Administrative Control" will be taught from 7 to 9:45 p.m. on Mondays, and "Problems in Organizational Behavior" will be offered from 7 to 9:45 p.m. on Wednesdays. Both courses are for graduate credit only and enrollees must show evidence of a bachelor's degree from an accredited institution in order to be admitted.

Stagg High School is located at 8015 E. 111th St.

Further information regarding the courses, and registration details, may be obtained by contacting Grace Lefebvre of the university's Office of Special Programs and Continuing Education at (312) 534-5000, extension 2125.

Information regarding the MBA program at Governors State may be obtained by contacting Judy Gustawson at (312) 534-5000, extension 2241.

Add-Drop registration dates

An add-drop registration period will be held at Governors State University from Sept. 3 to 12. Students also may complete late registration during that time. For further information regarding fall trimester registration, call the Office of Admissions and Student Recruitment at (312) 534-5000, extension 2518.

Fifteen classes in variety of subjects to be held in Kankakee

Fifteen courses will be offered in the Kankakee area by Governors State University during the Fall 1985 trimester.

Registration for the classes will be held from 3:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Aug. 29 and Sept. 4 at the Kankakee Area Special Education Cooperative, Route 45/52 South. Tuition is $44.50 per credit hour for undergraduates and $48 per credit hour for graduate students.

Persons registering for undergraduate courses must provide a transcript indicating that they have received an associate's degree from an accredited institution, or that they have achieved no less than 60 semester hours or 90 quarter hours of college credit with a minimum of a "C" average. Graduate students must show evidence of a bachelor's degree from an accredited institution.

Eleven three-hour courses begin the week of Sept. 9 and continue through the first week of December. Nine of the courses will be taught at the Special Education Cooperative.

New GSU center offers micro courses

A new Microcomputer Education Center at Governors State University will offer courses at five locations beginning with the Fall 1985 trimester.

Classes will be taught at the CompuShop in Matteson, at Computerland in Joliet, at Computers Etc. in Posen, at Ideal Computers in Kankakee, and at Computers Plus in Dyer.

The Microcomputer Education Center is an outreach program of the university's College of Business and Public Administration. It will provide university-trained personnel for both teaching and consulting.

Courses offered through the center will be "in-depth" and designed to meet comprehensive skill-centered training needs. Students will be taught to apply the full power of various software packages in order to achieve the highest business application.

Fall courses scheduled to be offered through the center are "PC Hardware and Software Review," "Wordstar 2000," "dBase III," "Lotus 1-2-3," and "Accounting I."

Continuing education units (CEUs) will be awarded to persons successfully completing the courses. The CEU is a nationally recognized standard for qualified programs of continuing education.

Further information regarding the courses and other offerings of the Microcomputer Education Center may be obtained by contacting the center office at (312) 534-5000, extension 2141.

"Concepts in Communication" runs from 6 to 9:30 p.m. on Wednesdays and will be offered for undergraduate credit only. Also running from 6 to 9:30 p.m. are "Survey of Exceptional Students" on Mondays, "Behavior Problems in the Classroom" on Wednesdays, and "Family Counseling" on Thursdays, each available for undergraduate or graduate credit.

"Life Cycle Development" also is available for undergraduate or graduate credit and runs from 6 to 9 p.m. on Mondays.

Six graduate courses are scheduled to run from 6 to 9:30 p.m. on their respective evenings. "Reading Remediation in the Classroom" on Mondays and "Individualizing Mathematics Instruction" and "Leadership and Staff Relations" on Tuesdays are available for graduate students only. "Characteristics of the Mentally Handicapped" on Tuesdays, "School-Community Relations" on Wednesdays, and "Methods of Teaching Students with Behavior Disorders" on Thursdays are graduate courses in which undergraduates may enroll with permission of the instructor.

"Introduction to Microcomputers in Education" will be taught from 5:30 to 9 p.m. on Thursdays at the Ideal Computer Systems, 101 S. Schuyler Ave., and "Nursing: The Collaborative Role" will be presented from 5 to 8:30 p.m. on Tuesdays at Kankakee Community College on River Road.

Two two-day courses will be taught at the Special Education Cooperative for two hours of undergraduate or graduate credit. "Laboratory in Personal Growth" will be presented from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Oct. 12 and 13, and "Laboratory in Interpersonal Growth" will be offered from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Nov. 2 and 3.

Further information regarding Governors State University offerings in the Kankakee region may be obtained by contacting Polly Bernd of the university's Office of Special Programs and Continuing Education at (312) 534-5000, extension 2121.

GSU courses for teachers offered in Joliet

Six undergraduate and graduate courses for teachers are scheduled at Joliet West High School by Governors State University during the fall 1985 trimester.

The courses, offered by the university's College of Education, are designed for undergraduate students who wish to pursue a degree in elementary education, and for teachers seeking professional development, fulfillment of certification requirements, or intending to pursue a master's degree in education.

Registration for all courses will be held at the high school from 6 to 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 3.

Courses offered for three hours of undergraduate credit are "Methods of Teaching" from 5:30 to 8:20 p.m. on Mondays from Sept. 9 to Dec. 9, "Methods of Teaching Reading" from 5:30 to 8:20 p.m. on Tuesdays from Sept. 3 through Dec. 10, and "Methods of Teaching Language Arts" from 5:30 to 8:20 p.m. on Wednesdays from Sept. 4 to Dec. 11.

"Teaching Math to Low Achieving Students" and "Educational Applications of the Microcomputer: Educational Administration" will be offered for three hours of undergraduate or graduate credit. The "Math" course will meet from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Mondays from Sept. 9 to Dec. 9, and the "Microcomputer" course will meet from 4:10 to 7 p.m. on Thursdays from Sept. 12 to Dec. 12.

"Introduction to Educational Administration" will be taught for graduate credit only and will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. on Mondays, Sept. 9 to Dec. 9. It also carries three hours of credit.

Undergraduates must possess an associate's degree or 60 semester hours of college credit with a minimum of a "C" average in order to enroll. Graduate students must hold a bachelor's degree from an accredited institution.

Tuition for each course is $133.50 for undergraduates and $144 for graduate students. A $30 laboratory fee also will be charged for the "Microcomputer" course.

Further information regarding classes offered in the Joliet region may be obtained by contacting Grace Lefebvre of the university's Office of Special Programs and Continuing Education at (312) 534-5000, extension 2125.

SBDC offers fall seminars

The Small Business Development Center (SBDC) at Governors State University will offer four September seminars on "Developing a Package for Loan Application."

More information regarding the seminars, and registration details, may be obtained by contacting the SBDC office at (312) 534-3713.

Mary Miss

Field Rotation artist to lecture

Mary Miss, creator of the 3.7 acre environmental sculpture, "Field Rotation," in Governors State University's Nathan Manilow Sculpture Park, will return to the campus on Friday, Sept. 27 at 4:30 p.m. to deliver a lecture from the site of her world-famous work.

The lecture will be among approximately 30 events comprising the university's First Festival of the Arts which opens on Sept. 26 and runs through Sept. 28. Miss's site-specific land sculpture, thought to be the largest of its kind in the world, will be the locale for several other events during the three-day free festival. The artist will deliver her lecture on outdoor sculpture from the pit of "Field Rotation."

Miss spent the summer of 1981 in University Park working with a crew of more than 20 students and construction people to build "Field Rotation." Since then, the huge work has been featured in various art magazines with national and international circulation.

In addition to her current teaching assignments at two eastern art schools, the artist has lectured at University of California at Los Angeles, University of New Mexico, Columbia University, University of Rhode Island, Otis-Parsons Art Institute of Los Angeles and Princeton University. She has received a National Endowment for the Arts Award (1984) and a Brandeis University Creative Arts Award (1982).

Since her work at Governors State, Miss has worked on exhibits at Laumeier Sculpture Park in St. Louis, the Institute of Contemporary Art in London, San Diego University, University of California at Santa Barbara and Protetch-McNeil Gallery in New York. Her most recent outdoor installation at Laumeier is as yet untitled. She also has been in eight group exhibitions during that period.

"Field Rotation" is one of 21 works in the internationally famous Nathan Manilow Sculpture Park at Governors State University. Sixteen are part of the permanent collection owned by the Governors State University Foundation. Narrated tours of the park will be conducted daily during the Festival of the Arts at 12:30 p.m. and other times as requested by visitors.

The Festival of the Arts will begin on Thursday and Friday at approximately noon and 9:30 a.m. on Saturday. Events are scheduled into the evening hours all three days. Admission is free except for a jazz concert on Saturday night. Parking is free for this series of events. Food is being served on the grounds at modest cost.

Community college art students to be in GSU Festival exhibition

Community College art students have the opportunity to win special recognition, including cash prizes, during the First Governors State University Festival of the Arts on Sept. 26-28.

Students enrolled in any community college during the coming fall term are eligible to enter their drawings, paintings, prints or sculptures in the Community College Art Exhibit 1985. Entry forms and works to be judged must be submitted no later than Sept. 17 to be considered for awards and exhibition by the visual arts faculty of Governors State.

First prize is $200, second prize is $125 and third prize is $75. Other outstanding works will be given honorable mention. The entries accepted for exhibit will be shown to the public in the Governors State University Art Gallery throughout the Festival of the Arts. An award ceremony and reception will be held at the gallery on Sept. 27 from 5-7 p.m.

Entries may be hand delivered from Sept. 9-12 between 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m., or shipped in reusable crates or cartons by United Parcel Service or Parcel Post only to arrive before the judging date.

Hand delivered works must be picked up between Sept. 30 - Oct. 3 between 9 a.m.-7 p.m.

Certain size restrictions apply in each category. For entry forms and further information, call John Payne or Mary Bookwalter, art professors at Governors State, at (312) 534-5000, extension 2412 or 2414.

The Festival of the Arts will begin at approximately noon on Thursday and Friday and at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday and continue through the evening hours. Except for the final jazz concert on Saturday, events are free to the public. There will be some 30 events covering a broad variety of visual and performing arts by both professionals and amateurs. Governors State is on University Parkway east of Governors Highway in University Park.

Workshop for writers to be at Governors State

A one-day intensive workshop on "Freelance Writing" will be offered at Governors State University on Sept. 21.

Sponsored by the university's Office of Conferences and Workshops (OCW), the program will be conducted by Dr. Dennis E. Hensley, a widely acclaimed author and lecturer.

Further information regarding the workshop may be obtained by calling the OCW at (312) 534-5000, extension 2484.

Speech-language class is set for Chicago school

A graduate course in "Speech-Language Assessment Techniques for Bilingual Children" will be offered by Governors State University at the Jones Commercial High School in Chicago during the Fall 1985 trimester.

Dr. Rita K. Marshall, a bilingual speech-language pathologist, will serve as instructor for the course which will meet from 4 to 7:30 p.m. on Tuesdays from Sept. 17 through Dec. 12.

Tuition for the course is $144 and three hours of graduate credit will be awarded for successful completion. Jones Commercial is located at 606 S. State St.

The course will cover formal and informal practices for attaining non-discriminatory speech-language assessment for bilingual children. It will address cultural-linguistic diversity as it relates to language delays, disorders and differences. The assessment perspective will include diagnostic-prescriptive techniques to improve the delivery of therapeutic services to bilingual-bicultural children.

Further information regarding the course may be obtained by contacting Sandy Mensch of the university's Office of Special Programs and Continuing Education at (312) 534-5000, extension 2121.

Xie Jin, filmmaker, depicts heroism of Chinese women

Two films directed by Xie Jin, one of the most distinguished filmmakers in The People's Republic of China, will be featured during Friday, Sept. 27, the second day of the three-day Festival of the Arts at Governors State University.

Both films depict the roles played by women in the development of modern China. They are sponsored at Governors State by The Creative Woman, a publication of the university. Dr. Helen Hughes, a psychology professor and editor of the magazine, returned recently from an extended tour of China, where she observed the impact women are having on that nation today.

"Qui Jin" depicts the life of the heroine of that name, who was a poet and revolutionary at the turn of this century. She was, according to Director Xie Jin, "an outstanding heroine in modern Chinese history who gave up her wealth to fight throughout her life to save China from imperialist aggression and the people from poverty. In her struggle against the repressive Qing regime (1644-1911) she was arrested and died a martyr in 1907." The film carries English subtitles.

"The Legend of Tianyun Mountain" was given the "Outstanding Film" award of the Ministry of Culture in 1981. It also won best awards for film, director, photography and art design at the First Golden Rooster Film Awards. It is the story of three women of different types, each having a distinctive character of her own.

The film also portrays the hero who, though persecuted in the struggle to develop the Tianyun Mountain area, remains firm in his revolutionary beliefs. This film also has English subtitles.

"Qui Jin" will be shown at 2:30 and 6:30 p.m., and "The Legend of Tianyun Mountain" will be at 4:30 and 8:30 p.m. in Engbretson Hall. As with nearly all attractions of the festival, there is no admission charge for these outstanding movies.

The first Festival of the Arts at Governors State will offer about 30 events representing a wide variety of visual and performing arts. Both professionals and amateurs will have an opportunity to exhibit their talents. The festival will begin at noon on Thursday and Friday and at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday. There will be activities throughout the day and into the evening hours each day.

SIU sculptor demonstrates metal casting

A one-man show of bronze and aluminum sculptures by Thomas Walsh, professor of art at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale, will open in the Governors State University Art Gallery on Sept. 9 and will be part of the university's First Festival of the Arts at the end of the month.

During the Sept. 26-28 festival, Walsh will present a slide lecture on various casting methods 9:30 a.m. to Noon on Saturday. From 1:30-3:30 p.m., he and John Payne, Governors State professor of sculpture, will discuss and demonstrate aluminum and bronze ceramic shell casting. They will melt the metal and pour one or two molds, aided by art students.

Walsh is head of the graduate sculpture program at Southern Illinois. He joined the faculty in 1968 to teach and to build a foundry. Since then, he says, "with the help of a great many people, we have put together one of the finest, most complete university art foundries in the country."

The Walsh exhibit will be open to the public without charge from 10:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday. The Festival of the Arts will feature some 30 activities, most of which are also free to the public. It will begin at approximately noon on Thursday and Friday and at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, with activities scheduled into the evening hours each day.

Governors State is on University Parkway east of Governors Highway in University Park. There is plenty of free parking space the duration of the Festival of the Arts.

Noted folk singer to perform at Festival

Gerry Armstrong

Gerry Armstrong, who has been described both as "a folk singer who tells stories" and "a storyteller who sings," will be among approximately 30 attractions at the three-day Governors State University Festival of the Arts opening on Sept. 26.

The Wilmette mother and grandmother will spin tales at 7:45 p.m. on opening day. She will perform in the Hall of Governors where the "Peace Ribbon," a colorful display of folk art which Illinois residents made to encircle the Pentagon in Washington, D.C., on Aug. 4, will be exhibited.

Armstrong began telling tales to her siblings at an early age. Her first published story came when she was 8 years old. She has had many since, including three books for children which her husband, George, illustrated.

Armstrong has performed at folk festivals, clubs and churches, on radio, television and film, and has four long-playing records of folk stories. She also conducts workshops involving singing games, string figures, folk toys and games of the imagination.

The Festival of the Arts is free to the public and is presented by the Division of Fine and Performing Arts of the College of Arts and Sciences. Most of the events are planned for outdoors.

For information on specific activities, call the university at (312) 534-5000, extension 2122.

Chicago Ethnics course is slated for Daley College

"Ethnics in the Chicago Region" is title for a history course to be offered by Governors State University at Daley College in Chicago during the Fall 1985 trimester.

Dr. Dominic Candeloro, a coordinator in the university's Office of Conferences and Workshops and president of the American Italian History Association, will be instructor.

Classes will be held from 6:30 to 9:20 p.m. on Tuesdays from Sept. 10 through Dec. 3. Guest speakers are scheduled and an all-day Saturday tour of ethnic-related areas is planned.

The text for the class includes a chapter written by Dr. Candeloro and a section written by Dr. Paul Green, director of the Institute for Public Policy and Administration at Governors State.

Dr. Candeloro said the course is especially valuable for persons who teach within the metropolitan Chicago region.

Registration will be held at Daley College, 7500 S. Pulaski Road, beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Dominic Candeloro

on Sept. 6. Students also may register at the university.

Weekend alcoholism workshops are offered this fall

Nine weekend workshops are part of the alcoholism sciences offerings at Governors State University for the Fall 1985 trimester.

"Counseling with Gay and Lesbian Alcoholics" will be presented on Sept. 13 and 14, "Reality Therapy and Alcoholism Counseling" on Sept. 27 and 28, "Diagnosing Alcoholism: Practical Guidelines" on Oct. 4 and 5, "Counseling for Relapse Prevention" on Oct. 11 and 12, "Alcoholism Group Treatment Planning" on Oct. 18 and 19, "Treating Alcoholism: Clinical Skills Training" on Nov. 15 and 16, and "Alcohol, Drugs and the Athlete" on Nov. 22 and 23.

All sessions will be held at Governors State University from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the respective dates, and one hour of college credit may be obtained through each workshop. Costs are $84.50 for undergraduates, $88 for graduate students, and $55 for persons not seeking college credit.

"Impact of Alcoholism in the Work Place" will be offered from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sept. 20 and 21 at the Loretto Hospital, 645 S. Central Ave. in Chicago. One hour of credit is available to undergraduates for a fee of $74.50, and to graduate students for $78. Non-credit enrollment fee is $55.

"Adolescents, Alcohol and Abuse" will be presented at the Governors State University Dempster Development Center, 420 W. Dempster St. in Mt. Prospect, from 8:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 25, 26 and 27. Two hours of college credit are available to undergraduates for $139 and to graduate students for $146. Non-credit fee is $110.

A two-day special alcoholism conference also is scheduled for the fall term. "Teenage Substance Abuse" will be presented from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Nov. 1 and 9. The first session will be held at the Holiday Plaza in Matteson and the second will be presented at the university campus. One hour of college credit is available and registration fees are $94.50 for undergraduates and $98 for graduate students. Non-credit registration is $60.

Other alcoholism science offerings scheduled for the fall term include an independent study course, "A Study of Addiction," for three credit hours, and a telecourse, "Substance Abuse: Current Concepts," also for three credit hours.

Further information regarding alcoholism sciences workshops and courses may be obtained by contacting Dr. Dominic Candeloro of the university's Office of Conferences and Workshops at (312) 534-5000, extension 2320.

Candeloro holds the bachelor of arts degree from Northwestern University and both the master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from the University of Illinois. Prior to joining the Governors State staff in 1983, he held positions as visiting assistant professor of history at both the Chicago and Urbana-Champaign campuses of the University of Illinois, was chairman of the Department of Social Science at Hales Franciscan High School in Chicago, and was assistant professor of history at Ohio State University.

He also served as executive director of the "Italians in Chicago" project from 1979 to 1982. The project was funded by a $300,000 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Further information regarding the course may be obtained by contacting Grace Lefebvre of the university's Office of Special Programs and Continuing Education at (312) 534-5000, extension 2125.

Teacher stipends are offered

Twenty-five $75 scholarships are available for teachers enrolling in "Consumer Economics for Teachers" at Governors State University during the Fall 1985 trimester.

The three-hour graduate course is offered by the Office of Economic Education of the university's College of Business and Public Administration. Classes will meet at the Homewood-Flossmoor High School, 999 Kedzie Ave. in Flossmoor, from 4:15 to 7:20 p.m. on Tuesdays from Sept. 19 through Dec. 10.

Regular tuition for the course is $144, but persons receiving the scholarships will be charged $69. Scholarships are made available through the Illinois Council on Economic Education and are awarded in the order in which class registrations are received.

The course covers such topics, as "credit," "purchasing," "insurance," "investment," and "money management." Speakers from business, government and education provide perspectives on various issues relating to state, national and international economics.

Further information regarding the course may be obtained by contacting Mary Lou Manzardo at the Office of Economic Education, (312) 534-5000, extension 2141.
