compared to faculty raises between 1973 and 1977, a question is asked, "Where has all the Mcreases been at three levels. I received a high merit increase. Yet my percentage salary increase percentage of five faculty members selected at random from HLD. themselves." Let's look at the figures. Between 1973 and 1977, there were a number of salary increases for all faculty members, including me. There was also one year is listed showing a 28 percent increase in four years; the figures are not incorrect but of the same five faculty members mentioned above.

Another interesting comparison is my salary listed for 1977 and the average salary is not known why the U.S. ranks number 20, dated November 7, 1977. On page 19 the movie advertisement for "All The President's Men" lists this movie as appearing at 6:30 p.m. on November 8, 1977, when it should have listed this second showing at 6:30 p.m. on November 9. On this same page there is a printer's error of the word "Sparkle" in this movie advertisement on the top of the page. A special apology is given to Gregg De Bartolo for his article "Campus Radicalism:" for only was he not given the proper byline, but this article did not appear in its entirety nor was it headed under the proper column he requested. This error appeared on page 3.

In a recent handout prepared by GSU-AFT concerned with administrative raises compared to faculty raises between 1973 and 1977, a question is asked, "Where has all the increase gone?" The handout goes on to say, "The AFT knows and wants to share the information with you. The figures speak for themselves." My salary for 1973 and 1977 is listed showing a 28 percent increase in four years; the figures are not incorrect but the interpretation is deceptive. My 28 percent is compared to the 18 percent average salary increase percentage of five faculty members selected at random from HLD. Since I am not an administrator since 1973, it appears as if administrators are getting greater percentage increases than faculty. "The figures speak for themselves." Let's look at the figures. Between 1973 and 1977, there were a number of salary increases for all faculty members, including me. There was also one year which there were merit increases divided among not more than half of the faculty, the increase were at three levels. I received a high merit increase. Yet my percentage increase is compared to the increases of five faculty members chosen at random. Clearly, the proportion of my increase to faculty who did not receive a merit increase would show a difference but the comparison is unfair and the conclusion is spurious. If the comparison were made between my increase and the increases of five faculty members who had received the same merit percentage as I, then the comparison might have been a fair one.

According to information gathered in foreign countries and the U.S., the average child between the age of six to sixteen devices from 1 to 2 1/2 to 4 hours a week viewing television. The U.S. was found to hold the highest share of television viewers. It was also found that the most extensive measurement of viewing is performed by children to elementary school age. The U.S. according to the report is composed of the most diverse range of television viewers. In the U.S. unlike other countries the range of television viewers extended from pre-schoolers to senior citizens.

It is estimated that a child three years of age is already averaging way beyond forty-five minutes a day viewing television. By the time the child reaches first grade he has well exceeded two hours a day. This is largely dependent of the household in which the child lives.

It is believed that the time a child spends viewing television slowly increases as the child grows older and is permitted a later bedtime. This cycle continues until the child reaches a peak in viewing time, around the age of twelve or thirteen. By this time the child is viewing three or more hours a day.

During the high school years the viewing time is believed to decrease as a result of the child developing new activities to replace the time spent viewing television.

Some researchers believe that the cycle will repeat itself in later years among some individuals as they enter into maturity and adulthood.

Academic programs are offered by Governors State University in the areas of business, communication, counseling, culture and social science, environmental science, health, science, humanities, psychology, public affairs, and teaching. For the fall of 1977, enrollment increased almost 6 percent at Governors State University. There were 2,814 students then and 3,060 a year later.

More students participated in advance registration and more received the classes they requested. The reason for the success was the efficient adjusting of schedules by the colleges to meet student demand, according to the university. Average age for undergraduate students was 32.9, and graduate 34.3. Designed for students who live at home, GSU was specifically mandated by the state to offer college programs for students who transfer from community colleges. Thus the university offers a variety of programs for students who enter in the freshman, junior, and graduate levels. GSU was fully accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in 1976.

GSU offers two special degree programs which are non-traditional, both allowing credit for experimental learning. These are the Board of Governors Bachelor of Arts Degree program and the University Without Walls program. There is also a policy of admitting "special non-credit" students to GSU.

The Innovator.

My views might sound pre-historic to your readers. But then I belong to a different age. It was the time, when Universities were considered Institutes of higher learning, sacred and revered. To get in, was an achievement. It would have been unheard of to present— in an official paper at that time—a piece of illiterate, crude, grog writing. "By-product" such as Koswenda's! I am just wondering who pays for this kind of garbage, which sticks up in the halls of G.S.U. and eventually finds its way to the savages, "The Illinois Taxpayers!"

...TV personality Geraldo Rivera is on this way, and you know that when this Fearless Frisher takes up a case it has been certified as safe for ambitious careerists."

Nicholas von Hoffman in the Chicago Tribune, Nov. 10, 1977

Although not the most flattering of comments, the above statement does show the influence Geraldo Rivera is perceived as possessing. His performance at GSU Tuesday, November 8 was certainly in step with this image. Dressed in the uniform of the "Hip student radical, Rivera presented the old activist themes repackaged through the slick techniques of mass media.

Rivera's performance was interesting. The flow of his presentation was certainly assisted by the adoring fans of his who packed Engbretson Hall. "You're one of my heroes," the young woman in front of me drooled when called upon during the question and answer section of the program. The audience responded with thunderous applause. I responded by clutching my abdomen. Rivera did field some delicate questions, but the friendly audience was more than willing to accept any answer as the final word.

Even the post-lecture press conference became a Rivera love-in. I could have made a bundle handling Gerald Rivera T-shirts outside Engbretson Hall, but instead I sat through the press conference as the reporters asked "Fan Club Mailbag" type questions. One Rivera comment of note did come out of that meeting, but in a round about way. A request was made by a self-styled "spokesperson for the Latino community" for some profound message to take back to "her people". Rivera a replied that the issues he had spoken about were issues facing all people and that required the attention and effort of all people working together. It was an excellent response. Rivera implied that he was concerned with causes broader than those of ethnicity, and that he would not allow himself to be styled as a one-issue commentator. This is true, and for this we should thank him.

The Illinois State Department of Conservation recently received federal funds for the Interior for two state programs. The first grant, for land acquisition and recreational development projects, is the largest of its kind in the nation, Governor Thompson said. When completed in 1979, 1,505 will be 295 miles in length, connecting East St. Louis to Chicago.

Another Step

Governor James R. Thompson last week (Nov. 11) opened a 13.1 mile section of Interstate 65, a by-pass which takes the road around the city of Lincoln in Logan County. The opening of this by-pass means that 75 percent is complete. This is another step toward the completion of Illinois' 1,970-mile interstate system, which is the third largest in the nation,” Governor Thompson said. When completed in 1979, 1,505 will be 295 miles in length, connecting East St. Louis to Chicago.

Quarterly and Written Competency

Examinations Competency

The Quantitative Foundations for Business Administration and Written Communications competency examinations are mandatory for all undergraduate and graduate students. This does not apply to graduate students admitted to the College prior to the Spring Trimester, 1978.

The Written Communications examination is a Writing and Grammar test, if a student does not pass the examination, then he/she is required to complete the three-hour module, written communications, 69R. The credit for the module does not apply toward graduation.

The Quantitative Foundations for Business Administration exam is an Algebra test. If a student does not pass the exam, then he/she is required to complete the three-hour module, quantitative Foundations for Business Administration, 69S. If your score is extremely low, we encourage you to take or relocate in the Algebra at your local Community College. However, this does not waive the 69S requirement.

It is advisable for students to review English and Algebra before taking the two examinations.

If you are unsure of your status regarding these examinations, contact the College Office, 534-130. The tests will be given on the following dates:

Please Note: Examinations Begin Promptly: No One Admitted to Examination After Published Time.

In a memo to President Leo Goodman-Malumath dated Nov. 11, 1977, the Concerned BPS Faculty expanded the charges made in the petition. Included were:

- Substituting another person for a duly elected BPS representative on a University committee.
- Administrative harrassment of selected faculty members.
- Using a "Spoils System" approach in making appointments.
- Improperly influencing the selection process.

The circulation of the petition followed months tension between some faculty members and Acting Dean Winston. A crisis point was reached in the selection of associate deans. On Sept. 11 Dr. Winston subscribed a memo asking faculty "consultation" in the selection of associate deans. However, the persons appointed to these positions were not among the top three candidates submitted by the faculty.

In subsequent memos to the BPS faculty, President Goodman-Malumath defended his selections for associate deans, stating that, as an administrator, he must weigh the advice of his sub-administrators (Acting Dean Winston) more heavily than that of the faculty. Regarding the faculty's objections, President Goodman-Malumath declared that it would be premature for the faculty to act based solely on the allegations presented in the petition.

In an interview with Infor-pop reporters, Dr. Winston stated that he had not been presented with the detailed list of allegations furnished to the President by "Concerned BPS Faculty", and so could make no comment on them. Dr. Winston concluded that none of the controversy has hurt "the effectiveness of the College in regard to students", and as far as he was concerned, it is "business as usual" at BPS.

In informal meeting with the faculty was called by Dean Winston on Thursday, Nov. 17 to discuss any "concerns of faculty Members". Of the seven faculty members who attended the meeting, only one had signed the petition to remove the Dean. At the meeting, allegations were made that the petition faculty were not asked to sign the petition, and were not informed of the subsequent correspondence between "Concerned BPS Faculty" and the President and the Provost. One faculty member alleged that he was "pressured" to sign the petition.

When asked why he had not attended the Dean's informal meeting, one member of the "Concerned BPS Faculty" replied that the petition was a "withhold election notice" from Dr. Winston, and that the matter cannot be solved internally. To resolve the problem, he stated, a formal faculty meeting must be set up "in the presence of the Provost" as suggested by the President in his memo of Nov. 3.

President Leo Goodman-Malumath could not be reached for comment by press time.

Vets Must Repay if Dropsing Courses says VA Honcho

The head of the Veterans Administration today cautioned GI Bill students to look before they leap if they're considering dropping courses or seeking non-punitive grades for them.

VA Administrator Max Cleland said that in certain circumstances the law now requires the agency to retroactively cancel assistance payments for courses dropped without a grade after a reasonable drop-add period.

This applies also in cases where a course is completed but the grade assigned is, in effect, ignored by the school for graduation requirements — a so-called "non-punitive" grade.

"In other words," Cleland said, "veterans dropping courses in such circumstances, or receiving a non-punitive grade could wind up in debt to the federal government."

He pointed out, however, that VA will not retroactively collect payments already made when the situation is due to circumstances beyond the student's control.

The law, which went into effect last December, prohibits VA payment of educational benefits for any part of a course that is not used in computing graduation requirements.

Cleland explained this could mean that many students will find themselves overpaid under the GI Bill for courses from which they withdraw and for courses in which the assigned grade does not count toward graduation.

Payments for such courses, he said, must be stopped as of the first day of a school term.

For example, if a student withdraws from a course on December 1, 1977, under the conditions outlined, VA payments for that course will be terminated retroactively to the beginning of the school term unless mitigating circumstances are shown.

In the past, GI Bill payments for such a course would have continued to the end of the month of withdrawal.

"The safest course," Cleland said, "is not to drop a course or request a 'non-punitive' grade until you contact the school's veterans affairs office and find out what effect the withdrawal or grade may have on your monthly VA check."

The agency also recommends that both students and school officials provide a brief statement concerning the circumstances of the withdrawal or "non-punitive" grade assignment when reporting such action to VA.

UNCLE SAM TURNS TUTOR - JOHN HEINZ HAS DETAILS

Uncle Sam's turned tutor. That's the reminder today from the Veterans Administration to veterans enrolled in college under the GI Bill.

Tutoring help is available to make sure veterans get the most from their college training, VA said, and the free service isn't charged against the veteran's basic educational entitlement.

The government did not pay for tutorial assistance for World War II and Korean conflict veterans, but under present law VA will pay as much as $65 a month for such help up to a maximum of $76.

In addition to veterans and active duty servicemen, tutorial benefits are available to widows, widowers, spouses and children studying under the VA's Dependents Educational Assistance Program.

Veterans and servicemen attending school at the post-secondary level on at least a half-time basis are eligible if they have a deficiency in a subject required in an approved program of education, VA said.

Applications should be made on VA Form 22-1994 within a year of the tutoring and should be submitted to the VA regional office which maintains the veteran's claim folder. Applications should be certified by the VA, VA said.
Carol Channing Came Back
Zelda Peters

One of the brightest stars in show business, CAROL CHANNING came back again, after ten years, as the delightfully punky and charming widow, Dolly Levi, in "HELLO, DOLLY!" for three weeks only, November 2nd through November 20th at the Chicago Civic Theatre, McCormick Place. Ms. Channing revealed the love she had for the irrepressible character as she spoke at the press conference.

"The role of Dolly has crystallized for me. And I don't have to reach for her as hard." Someone from the audience asked, "Do you feel that after Watergate people are looking for a winner?" "Yes I do," replied Carol. "We all root for winners. Rocky is a good example. I just loved Rocky." Miss Channing brought Dolly Levi to Broadway in the first musical production of "Hello, Dolly!" winner of 10 Tony awards in 1964. The story revolves around a nifty, but resourceful and completely lovable character— that of an enterprising lady dedicated to the pursuit of mirth, money and marriage. In contemporary terms, Dolly Gallagher Levi is very much in the spirit of women's lib: a woman alone who finds a way to survive... and happily. Carol Channing is proud to have created the role of Dolly Levi. According to Carol, "The musical theatre is America's contribution to the stage and Dolly Levi is a classical musical character. Just as "Hamlet", "Macbeth" and other classics are performed regularly, so I plan on bringing Dolly Levi to the people every fifteen years or so."

Carol has won Tonys, Emmys, Grammys, Broadway Critics awards, London Theatre Award, an Oscar nomination, a Golden Globe, a Golden Apple, Best Nightclub Act of the Year Award, Hasty Pudding Woman of the Year Award... to say nothing of landing on Nixon's "hate list" which is the greatest honor of all, according to Carol. How did she land on the hate list? "I really don't know," Miss Channing said with a puzzled look. "We were playing at the White House because the congressmen's wives had selected me for the entertainment. Prior to that I had presented diamonds to two of the first ladies: Mrs. Kennedy for making America shiek and Mrs. Johnson for making America beautiful. When I presented the diamond to Mrs. Nixon, she said, I want to see this. I want to make sure you make friends in Africa and China." Mrs. Nixon, looking appreciative, said, "You mean it's mine? I can keep it? I don't have to give it to the Smithsonian or put it in the museum?" I said, "no, you can keep it." Well one week later I appeared on the presidential hate list and all I could think of was that the president had the ring appraised."

In 1967 Miss Channing found out that she was allergic to the sprays and insecticides in foods. Prior to that she was always coughing and sneezing. She now belongs to a co-op farm which grows organic fruits and vegetables and raises organic livestock. All of the food she eats comes from the farm which they ship to her wherever she is appearing. It is a very expensive process which requires the services of a full-time man to go to the airport when the food arrives, pack it up and deliver it for preparation.

Of her health food diet, Carol speaks highly of soy beans and says they are delicious with a much better taste than nappy or limp beans etc. She is also of the opinion that junk foods are an addiction, more or less, and that after you haven't had junk foods for a while they don't taste like food at all and you don't even miss them.

Carol's spectacular rise to international fame began in 1956 when she landed the role of Lorelie Lee in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." She made her official nightclub debut in 1957 at the famous Tropicana Hotel in Las Vegas. The Carol Channing Show carried such impact that it was extended throughout the entire summer and set the all-time record for the Las Vegas hotel. On television, Miss Channing has been presented in six special of her own, and on records she has won ten gold albums, including her Broadway shows, motion pictures, and, of course, her children's opuses. Her motion picture credits include "Thoroughtly Modern Millie," "Skoodo" and "Mehitable," which she has previously performed on the best-selling record album of the same title with Eddie Bracken, who was her costar in "Hello, Dolly."

De Paul, Roosevelt, and The American Conservatory of Music are just some of the fine schools that jazz musicians come from to be part of the internationally famous and award winning GSU Jazz Ensemble. One big reason that these talented young men choose GSU, could be the dynamic Dr. Warwick Carter. At rehearsals this conductor can be quoted as saying, “Once more it’s the feel!” For heart and soul music is this man’s bag. The results show for not only GSU Jazz musicians won awards, but have received standing ovations from audiences in places they have toured in the past. I myself have had the pleasure of touring with the GSU jazz ensemble as a member of the GSU chorale to Atlanta. We performed an original composition “Down the Road” written by GSU graduate student Billy Howell. Because of the fine presentation of this composition by the GSU Jazz Ensemble we were asked to return again this year. After listening to the new GSU jazz ensemble I can tell you they also have the same old magic needed to captivate audiences with. Music seems to be the main way these artists have of expressing themselves for upon interviewing the musicians I was lucky to get their names and two word comments of “Its Cool when asked about the jazz band. But then they do play it with feelings.

“The Cigarette Man” at Victory Gardens Theater

Continuing the tradition of social realism celebrated in “All I Want” and “Some Kind of Life,” VICTORY GARDENS THEATER is proud to be staging the world premiere of “THE CIGARETTE MAN,” on Wednesday, November 29th at 8:00 P.M. Written by David Blomquist, an exciting new talent from the Chicago area, “THE CIGARETTE MAN” is a tragicomedy in three acts that takes place on three New Year’s Eves — 1968, 1968, and 1969. The action follows the radical changes in life style and sensibility that are experienced by the three primary characters. JAN WILLIAMS plays Ken Elliot, an amiable con artist who works his way through college by selling sample packs of cigarettes, then graduates to whatever else he feels will fulfill him. WILLIAM J. NORRIS, late of “June Moon,” has been cast as Julian “Boomer” Gassman. Ken’s protege, a continual loser who finally comes out a winner, sort of ALLISON GIGLIO as Carrie Markley portrays the woman caught between the two cultural extremes that Ken and “Boomer” represent. Also featured in three separate supporting roles is NANCY SERLIN.

“THE CIGARETTE MAN” was first showcased as part of VICTORY GARDENS READER’S THEATRE, and will open one week after its Chicago premiere with a simultaneous run at the Dallas Theater Center. The play is the second of four plays in VICTORY GARDENS subscription series whose themes span five decades of American mores.

Preview are scheduled for Friday through Sunday, November 25th through the 29th, and Tuesday, November 29th at 8:00 P.M. All preview tickets are priced at $3.00.

Zerko Moreno Carries Her Torch Well

Carolyn Greer

The Psychodrama lecture was held Thursday October 27, 1977 at 7 p.m. in the Engbretson Hall. The 100 tickets that were available for this lecture were exhausted. Upon entering the hall one lady said: "This is the first workshop I've been to at G.S.U. that offers cookies and coffee!"

Zerko Moreno, the guest speaker at this lecture, is the widow of the late Dr. J.L. Moreno, and also the president of the Moreno Institute at Beacon N.Y., major training center for psychodrama therapists. A lecturer and teacher 28 years younger than her husband, Zerko said: "Moreno always said that a man should marry a woman much younger than he. Then when he was gone, she would carry on his work for him." Carrying his husband's torch Zerko feels she can help people through psychodrama.

When Ms. Moreno's husband was a student of philosophy he could not accept the mainstream of thought in his day. The trends of thought in those days were that "you have the Marxist on the left who did not see the individual but only social structures, and the Freudians on the right who see only the individual psyche." So "Moreno" as Zerko affectionately calls her late husband, developed psychodrama. The birth of this concept not only stemmed from his dissatisfaction with Marx's and Freud's theories but also from Moreno's observation of children playing in the park.

He became intrigued after noticing their rich fantasy life. Psychodrama sees man as an interacting role player. Roles are a social reality, "children not only learn roles but their roles are more than imitation, they experiment with different roles and as a result roles become distorted," states Zerko. "Since every role needs another role, our individual psyches develop out of the roles we play." Mrs. Moreno went on to say. After explaining further theories of psychodrama Mrs. Moreno concluded with a demonstration of Psychodrama.
