GSU students named Women of Wonder

Three students – MaryKate Godinez, Eunice Gomez and Amanda Lask (not pictured) – have been featured as Governors State University’s Women of Wonder, along with other members of the community whose photos and bios are on colorful display near Engbretson Hall.

Godinez, Gomez and Lask were nominated by students, faculty, staff and alumni for their impact on the community. Here’s a little bit about them:

MaryKate Godinez

MaryKate serves as the President of Psi Chi National Honors Society. She’s created care packages for dorm residents to help them unwind during finals. As a partner of the College Completion’s Student Advisory Council, MaryKate advocates for vulnerable populations and works to increase the college completion rate among the demographics.

Eunice Gomez

Eunice serves as President of Tau Sigma National Honors Society and Vice President for the Psychology Club, Student Education Association and Kappa Delta Pi Honors

Society. Her peers say she's dedicated, accessible and an empathetic leader. She offers words of encouragement and champions for all students she comes in contact with

Amanda Lask

Amanda has been a revamping member of the Environmental Activities Club and serves as president of the organization. She has exhibited leadership and accountability to her fellow peers by ensuring that she extends kindness and a helping hand.

Congratulations to all!
