But when we play the fool, how wide
The theatre expands! beside,
How long the audience sits before us!
How many prompters! what a chorus!

Vol. 6, No. 43

"HARLEQUIN" IS COMING... "The Adventures of Harlequin" a rollicking musical comedy, featuring music and gaiety of the 16th Century Italian Renaissance will be presented at GSU July 15-16 and 22-24 at 8 p.m. Directed by Temmie Gilbert, the play has 19 cast members including junior high, senior high and GSU students. Original music and choreography will be provided by Dale Wilson and Mattie Evans. Special performances will be given at 10:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. during the week of July 18-21. Discount group bookings are available for these performances. Day camps, summer schools, churches and community organizations are invited to attend at the special low rate. General admission at the regular performances will be $1.00, students with ID, 75 cents and children 50 cents. GSU students with an ID will be free. For further info call 534-5000, X2416.

Ready and waiting for the curtain to rise on "The Adventures of Harlequin" are cast members (from left) Bill Frehse, J.E. Suttie and (seated) Celene Evans and Connie Reeve.

- d. Alternate male and female examples and expressions.

Example

Let each student participate. Has he had a chance to talk? Could he feel left out?

Alternative

Let each student participate. Has she had a chance to talk? Could he feel left out?

4. Using the masculine pronouns to refer to an indefinite pronoun (everybody, everyone, anybody, anyone) also has the effect of excluding women. In all but strictly formal usage, plural pronouns have become acceptable substitutes for the masculine singular.

Example

Anyone who wants to go to the game should bring his money tomorrow.

Alternative

Anyone who wants to go to the game should bring their money tomorrow.

5. Certain phrases inadvertently exclude women by assuming that all readers are men.

Example

NCTE convention-goers and their wives are invited . . .

Alternative

NCTE convention-goers and their spouses are invited . . .

Demeaning Women

1. Men and women should be treated in a parallel manner, whether the description involves jobs, appearance, marital status, or titles.

Examples

lady lawyer

Running for Student Council president are Bill Smith, a straight-A sophomore, and Kathie Ryan, a pert junior.

Senator Percy and Mrs. Chisholm

Alternatives

lawyer

Running for Student Council president are Bill Smith, a straight-A sophomore, and newspaper editor Kathie Ryan, a junior.

Charles Percy and Shirley Chisholm or Mr. Percy and Mrs. Chisholm or Senator Percy and Representative Chisholm

2. Terms or adjectives which patronize or trivialize women or girls should be avoided, as should sexist suffixes and adjectives dependent on stereotyped masculine or feminine markers.

Examples

gal Friday

I'll have my girl do it.

career girl

ladies

libber

coed

authoress, poetess

man-sized job

old wives' tale

Alternatives

assistant

I'll have my secretary do it.

professional woman, name the woman's profession, e.g., attorney Ellen Smith women (unless used with gentlemen)

feminist student

author, poet

big or enormous job

superstitious belief, story, or idea

Sex-Role Stereotyping

1. Women should be shown as participating equally with men; they should not be omitted or treated as subordinate to men. Thus generic terms such as doctor or nurse should be assumed to include both men and women; "male nurse" and "woman doctor" should be avoided.

Examples

Writers become so involved in their work that they neglect their wives and children.

Sally's husband lets her teach part-time.

Alternatives

Writers become so involved in their work that they neglect their families.

Sally teaches part-time.
