JACK ANDERSON TO SPEAK...Self-described muckraker and columnist, Jack Anderson will speak at GSU Tuesday evening, December 12. Sponsored by the Office of Student Activities, the free public lecture will be presented at 8 p.m. in Engbretson Hall. When Drew Pearson died in 1969, Anderson took over the Washington Merry-Go-Round column which appears daily in more than 970 newspapers. Anderson is also daily commentator on T.V.'s "Good Morning America" and radio's Mutual network. He received the Pulitzer Prize in 1972.

Among the firsts to his credit are:

Broke many of the major stories during the Watergate era, first to report that the U.S. was contemplating intervention in the Middle East, a story confirmed several months later, first to report the attempt to assassinate foreign leaders, first to report law enforcement agencies were spying on law-abiding Americans.

He has been credited with driving a number of miscreants out of public office.

Anderson considers it the special calling of the press to expose corruption and crusade for reforms.

HOLIDAY REMINDER...the annual University Christmas Party is set for December 15 from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Hall of Governors. Please plan to attend and share Christmas cheer.

NEW MAJOR INTRODUCED...Tuesday, December 5 GSU introduced its new Dean of the College of Business and Public Service, Dr. Robert Milam, and the newly adopted academic major offerings in real estate within its Business Administration degree program. Leading Illinois real estate practitioners, public officials, academicians and representatives of professional organizations and the media attended a luncheon at the Glenwood Oaks Restaurant in support of GSU's effort to serve and cooperate with Chicago's metropolitan real estate industry and community colleges. The Illinois Commissioner of Real Estate, Mr. Marion Valle, Vice President Jack Kleeman of the Realtor's National Marketing Institute, Jack Shanahan, Education Chairman of the Illinois Chapter for the American Institute, and Janet McKenzie from Prairie State College were featured speakers. Dr. V.K. Chris Liebscher, Coordinator of the Real Estate specialty area announced the program and attending luncheon guests.

COME SAY GOODBYE...to Carole Chambers (BKS) leaving GSU to join husband John in South Carolina. GSUers are invited to an open house to be held in the Bookstore Thursday, December 14, 2-4 p.m. Best wishes on your new home, Carole. You'll be missed.

REMINDER TO ALL FACULTY...It's time to think about the materials you will want on reserve during the Winter '79 Trimester. Please submit your reserve lists by Friday, Dec. 15, if you not already done so. For further info, call your Liaison Librarian or Angie Thomas, LRC, ex.2279.

SPEAKING UP...The Speakers Bureau of GSU wishes to gratefully acknowledge those faculty members who have devoted their time and efforts to speaking to various groups throughout the community during 1978.

Speaking in February (a big month for speaking requests): Perry Nicassio to South Suburban Singles group; Paul Hill and Joyce Kennedy for the Harvey Public Library; Bethe Hagens to Inland Steel Container Management Club; Sandra Whitaker to the National Secretaries Association; Pamela Rebeck to the Peotone Elementary School parents; John Chambers (formerly of EAS) for the Isaac Walton League of America; Sonya Monroe-Clay to Washington Junior High students; and Barbara Pearson for a Teachers In-Service Workshop at Bryn Mawr Elementary School in Chicago.

In March, April and May: Kenneth Wieg for St. Christophers School Mothers' Club in Midlothian; John Lowe to the St. Raphael's Church Ladies Guild in Oak Lawn and to the Women's Traffic Association in Chicago; and Manuel Chavez to the Consumer Education and Business Law Classes at Bloom Trail High School.

Speaking during the last six months of this year: Bethe Hagens to the Homewood Junior Women's Club; Richard Nicholson (formerly of BPS) to the Illinois State Music Teachers' Association; Robert Bear to the Deer Creek Co-op Nursery parents and to the Faith United Protestant Nursery School parents; Perry Nicassio to the Blue Island Kiwanis Club; Manuel Chavez to the Homewood-Flossmoor Lioness Club; and Sandra Whitaker to the Pi Omicron National Sorority for a second time. A Big Thank You to all of you!

PUBLISHED...Mohammed Kishta (EAS) has learned that his paper "COGNITIVE LEVELS AND LINGUISTIC ABILITIES OF ELEMENTARY SCHOOL CHILDREN" was accepted for publication in the Journal of Research In Science Teaching.

Apologies to: ARLENE ROBINSON (FA) a five-year veteran of Innovation December 3 who was inadvertently missed in FAZE I last week.

DID YOU KNOW...a slide presentative on how to apply for financial aid is now available for group showings. If interested, contact Herb Robinson or Steve Bellin.

NOTICE...The University Assembly Office has a new phone number: extension 2345. New location for UA is in the Provost's Office area.

A COMPOSER'S CONCERT...featuring new music will be presented at GSU on Thursday evening, December 14. Guest conductor will be Tim Bobinsky, conductor of the Cleveland ballet. Compositions for trumpet and tape, solo guitar, violin and piano, and harpsichord by composers Stravinsky, McCreary, Penderecki, Villa-Lobos, Lauro, Ligeti, F. Poskonka, and D. Gudac will be performed. The free concert by the GSU Contemporary Chamber ensemble with Richard McCreary will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the CCS Music Recital Hall. The GSU composers concert series was originated by Dr. McCreary as a forum to provide an opportunity for student and faculty composers.

GROUP SHOW...An art majors exhibition is being featured at GSU December 6 through December 20. Visual arts grad and undergrad students are exhibiting some of their current works in this group showing. The CCS lounge gallery is open Monday through Friday, 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

NEWS FOR SENIORS...An Annual Senior Citizens Day will be held at GSU on Friday, December 8. Psychic Gil Eagles the world's fastest hypnotist, will entertain at 7 p.m. following a reception at 6:30 in Engbretson Hall. Also free to senior citizens is a concert scheduled for December 10 at 4 p.m. by the Contemporary Arts quartet, string quartet from the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Senior citizens are also invited to attend a free lecture by Washington, D.C. columnist Jack Anderson December 12 at 8 p.m.

Tuition and fees are waived for senior scholars for up to six units of credit per Trimester at GSU.

Eastern Will County Senior Services has leased property of Governors State University for its headquarters and multi-purpose center. An estimated 3,000 senior citizens reside within the service area.

BLOOD DRIVE: NO SHOW...Only 31 individuals out of a possible 4000 donors responded to the GSU Blood Drive held last month, according to Marcy Smith, nurse in the Office of Student Activities. Those donors are their families will receive complete blood replacement coverage for 1978-9, but the effort to obtain blanket coverage for GSUers fell quite short of the 100 pints goal. Marcy plans to try again in spring, probably March, with the hope of better response.

A CHRISTMAS TRADITION...The 1741 "Messiah," unchanged from its original form, will be presented by the new University-Community Chorale and Chamber Orchestra at GSU Sunday, December 17.

The free public performance of the work by George Frederick Handel will be under the auspices of the College of Cultural Studies at GSU at 4 p.m. in the recital hall.

Singers from 20 communities and orchestra members from 12 communities will perform. There will be four soloists: Susan Schreiner of Bartlett, Marcia Meyer of Park Forest South, Roger Scanlan of Olympia Fields, and Douglas Ulreich of Park Forest. Accompanist will be Marilyn Bourgeois of Park Forest South; director is Rudolf Strukoff of Park Forest South.

Handel's most successful and best-known oratorio was composed in 24 days in 1741. The "Messiah" was first performed at Dublin, Ireland, April 13, 1742, with Handel himself conducting the performance.
