NMSP Artwork on the Move

"Renewal" at Governors State University's Nathan Manilow Sculpture Park continued this week as two well-known pieces by major artists were moved to new locations.

"Icarus," a three-dimensional geometric sculpture by Charles Ginnever, was moved from its longtime location near GSU's Stuenkel Road entrance to a meadow along NMSP's south walking trail. Terrence Karpowicz's "Art Arc" was moved from the Hall of Governors to a location just inside the university's main entrance.

"Just as with other museums, things are always being renewed here," said Geoffrey Bates, NMSP director and curator. "We are constantly working to improve visitors' experience with the park and its artwork. That includes seeking new sites for our presentations."

In its original location, Bates said, most viewers experienced "Icarus" in a "drive-by" fashion, with the piece primarily seen as a two-dimensional object. "The new location will allow visitors to see the piece from distance and then, through a series of 'peekaboo' manipulations of the landscape, experience it from a variety of approaches before they are finally upon it," he said.

"Icarus", created in 1975, is one of the earliest examples of Ginnever's "Hellenic" group of works. By simply crimping together large sheets of Cor-ten steel and aligning them in a variety of configurations, Ginnever created artworks that set up complex planar relationships resulting in a dynamic presentation of light and shadow.

Bates said the new location for "Art Ark," a favorite of visitors over the years, also offers a chance to experience the work on a more intimate basis. Its new site sets up a visual dialogue with the lattice-like framework of the over-arching windows in the entry atrium, he said.

Newman Civic Fellow Honored

In addition to recently earning her Bachelor of Social Work, Tamara Lewis was also awarded the Newman Civic Fellows Award. Lewis received the honor from the Campus Compact, an organization of colleges and universities dedicated to furthering campus service and service-learning in higher education.

The Newman Civic Fellows Award honors college students whose actions demonstrate their role as public problem solvers and civic leaders. Newman Civic Fellows are nominated by college and university presidents. Lewis was nominated by President Elaine P. Maimon for her efforts to raise money for victims of the 2010 earthquake in Haiti and her outstanding achievements as a student.

“As a student, Tamara demonstrates enthusiasm for academic excellence and genuine concern for addressing social disparities within impoverished communities,” said Dr. Maimon. “She is passionate about social justice and desires to empower people and communities.”

Lewis was the central force behind “All Nations for Haiti,” a fashion show held at GSU, which featured the styles from all over the world.

The show raised $4,400 for Haitian relief efforts.

"I was driven to help the people of Haiti because I saw a need," said Tamara. "I learned how to work with students from other cultures and countries and with faculty to achieve our goal and raise money. It was a great learning experience."

GSU BOT Meeting Recap - June 10, 2011

Friday, June 10, marked GSU's second full Board of Trustees meeting of the calendar year.

The Board's executive committee received formal reports, reviewed and adopted a number of resolutions on such issues as award of tenure and construction contracts, and heard administrative reports by Board Chair Lorine S. Samuels, GSU President Elaine P. Maimon, and Student Senator Brendan Hollandsworth gave remarks on behalf of the Student Senate.

During the formal reports session, Executive VP Dr. Gebe Ejigu introduced a new video chronicling GSU's recent sustainability efforts. The video was produced by DLMD to commemorate the "legacy of sustainability" left behind by retiring Chief Facilities Officer Susan Rakstang.

Dr. Ejigu also presented the formal feasibility study for student housing, prepared by Brailsford & Dunlavey, a facility planning company based in Washington, DC. The report noted the strategic importance of a housing facility to the attainment of GSU's enrollment goals. Significant research, surveys, and analysis focused on single students currently enrolled full-time in GSU's programs as the Phase 1 target market. Board member Jack Beaupre noted that "the Board expresses interest in moving forward with site capacity study and pre-schematic designs."

Regarding E and F Building remodeling progress, Dr. Ejigu noted that the administration expects resolution and a new bid deadline from Illinois' Capital Development Board in the near future. Groundbreaking for the project is expected to take place on August 18 to coincide with Convocation.

Tenure was awarded to Reinhold Hill, Christopher Dyslin, David Green, Martha Libster, Kerri Morris, John Simon, and Michel Nguessan. Linda Proufit was awarded Professor Emeritus status. The Board also approved the creation of the position of Vice President for Enrollment Management and Marketing as well as two new degree programs: M.A. of Teaching in Urban Education and B.A. of Entrepreneurship.

The Board also reviewed and adopted a preliminary FY2012 budget. A final budget will be presented to the Board at its October 2011 meeting.

Student Trustee Brendan Hollandsworth was recognized for his contributions and professionalism during his expiring term and founding BOT member Kristi DeLaurentiis was acknowledged for 15 years of dedication and leadership upon her recent resignation.

Board Chair Samuels reported on her extreme satisfaction with the reformatted Commencement ceremony. She also noted her admiration for recent Honorary Degree Recipient Vivian Gussin Paley who delivered an "inspirational message" to graduates and faculty. The Nathan Manilow Sculpture Park's recent installation of The Granary Project by Dan Peterman was noted. Samuels commended Vice President Joan Vaughan and the Institutional Advancement staff for exceeding their FY2011 fundraising goal and noted the Board's delight with the new marketing campaign as well as the Alumni Association's expanded outreach initiatives.

During her report, President Maimon also complimented those that worked on the June Commencement. She noted the highly successful NCATE accreditation visit. "In all my years in education, I've never heard a preliminary NCATE report as stellar as the one received from the GSU site visit team," Maimon noted. The report included five commendations and contained no areas of improvement.

The President noted that while Governor Quinn has not signed Illinois' FY2012 budget, it appears that GSU budget will not be significantly reduced. "GSU's business plan is focused on increasing productivity and student enrollment. We are fortunate that our mission statement matches our fiscal goals," she added. Maimon also noted that Dual Degree Program recruitment is moving forward with great success, calling the program a "hallmark with national implications." She noted the leadership of retiring Chief Facilities Officer Susan Rakstang who "made the campus more beautiful, safer, and environmentally responsible." Maimon also recognized retiring Dean of Library Services Diane Dates Casey noting that Diane "not only led the library - heart of the university - but brought faculty, staff, and students together to experience rich cultural life." Finally, Maimon thanked Dr. Karen D'Arcy for her yearlong tenure as Interim Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Maimon closed her remarks by noting the significant success of the IRIS Project, which will better serve both student needs and business operations. "As you know, June 6 was D-Day in World War II," she said. "June 6, 2011 was GSU's D-Day for the first large-scale test of the Datatel system - student registration." She noted that 1,275 students had already registered in the system thanks to the successful implementation of the myGSU portal. "I'm happy to report that the revolution is here, and it works!"

Brendan Hollandsworth reported that the Student Senate will open a permanent food bank to serve area residents. He said students generally accepted the marginal increase in tuition and fees and were excited about the prospect of on campus housing, noting some concern with the cost of rent. Hollandsworth also reported that the recent Student Senate election was unique as an increasing number of international students were elected and will be involved in student government.

June Alt Cert Info Session

Learn how to earn elementary or middle school teacher certification and secure a teaching position through Governors State University's Alternative Certification Program. Information sessions will be held on Wednesday, June 8, in Engbretson Hall.

The Alternative Teacher Certification program offers three ways to earn certification and embark on a new, rewarding career in education. The Teacher Quality Partnership (TQP) leads to a master's degree in education and teacher certification. TQP provides an opportunity to co-teach for a year with a certified teacher, a $30,000 stipend, and a 25 percent reduction in tuition. TQP is made possible by a grant from the U.S. Department of Education.

The Alternative Certification Program also offers the opportunity for teachers to teach full-time as they earn a salary and their teacher certification. In addition, there are also reduced salary teacher residency opportunities, which also lead to teacher certification.

This program is open to college graduates with five years of work experience after receiving a bachelor's degree. The application deadline for the Alternative Certification program, beginning Spring 2012, is December 15.

'One More Night' Coming to Center for Performing Arts

Thanks to a $50,000 grant, Governors State University will present productions by three Chicago theater companies for One More Night at The Center for Performing Arts.

The Chicago Community Trust awarded the grant for the One More Night series, which will bring productions to The Center at the conclusion of their regular engagements. Scheduled performances are:

- Flow, by Will Power, presented by ETA Creative Arts Foundation on November 12 at 8 p.m.
- Tad in 5th City, presented by MPAACT Theatre on January 21 at 8 p.m.
- Broadway Sings the Silk Road, presented by the Silk Road Theater Project on April 28 at 8 p.m.

"The opportunity to work with three of Chicago's most respected theater companies, and to introduce the Chicago Southland to their work, represented a unique cultural opportunity for GSU," said Burt Dikelsky, Executive Director of the Center for Performing Arts. "We are grateful to the Chicago Community Trust for making possible this vision."

Dikelsky said the three companies represent the best of Chicago theater and will present a diverse series of shows sure to make an strong impact on GSU audiences. As part of the grant, GSU is planning special outreach efforts to Southland residents and will integrate lectures and other activities related to the performances in the weeks preceding the shows.

Flow features Will Power, a leading renaissance man in hip hop theater. In this one-man show, he morphs into a variety of different characters, telling each of their unique stories through rhythmic verse.

Tad in 5th City tells the story of young Tad Brown and his family, but it is about a neighborhood as it festers under the weight of poverty, gang violence, and addiction in the aftermath of the 1968 Chicago riots.

Broadway Sings the Silk Road synthesizes musical theater and oral narrative as songs from popular Broadway musicals set along the Silk Road are re-interpreted in ways never imagined by their original composers and lyricists.

Summer Hours Return Next Week

GSU will roll out its Summer Hours Program beginning next week. Full details are available in the original HR memo.

Basic details regarding Summer Hours are as follows:

- The Summer Hours Program will begin on Monday, June 6 and continue through Friday, August 5.
- The university will be "open" on Fridays in the same sense that it is now "open" on Saturdays. Most offices will, in fact, be closed. However, the university is open for classes, which will be conducted as scheduled. The Library, Academic Computing Center, and Department of Public Safety will maintain their usual Friday hours. Those three areas will arrange hours for employees to assure they meet the needs of students and others.
- Each participating employee will work 37.5 hours per week, Monday through Thursday, within the range of time between 6 a.m. and 11 p.m. Units and Departments will determine the hours for specific units. All timesheet related questions should be directed to individual unit heads/supervisors.
- It is important that such schedules be designed and implemented in such a way that support for and delivery of essential academic services are not diminished or compromised in any material way. As such, participation in the four-day work week Summer Hours Program will be determined by each department head based upon the operational and programmatic needs of that department. Summer hours may be suspended or modified by a unit head in order to accomplish a specific project.
- Exception requests from employees due to hardship will be considered by supervisors and unit heads in consultation with the Human Resources Department on a case-by-case basis. The university will exercise flexibility and attempt to address specific employee needs as appropriate.

Tamara Kroeger – Student Commencement Speaker

At Saturday's Spring Commencement, GSU will award bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degrees to more than 650 graduates. In addition to earning her Bachelor of Arts in Social Science, Tamara Kroeger of South Holland has been chosen to deliver the student commencement address.

In her commencement address, Kroeger plans to focus on the determination it takes to get an education and the value of continued learning. She understands the importance of embracing whatever opportunities life has to offer and believes there is no time to waste in striving to reach your goals and fulfilling your dreams.

Kroeger was chosen student commencement speaker because she epitomizes the GSU student. She is earning her degree after serving in the U.S. Marine Corps for five years. She attended South Suburban College in South Holland before transferring to GSU to complete her degree.

As a wife and mother, Kroeger also understands what it means to balance work, family, and school. She and her husband have two young sons and she also works for Chase Bank in Chicago.
