HSA RECEIVES GRANTS . . . The GSU Health Services Administration program has recently been awarded two federal grants by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The health administration grant of $123,750 is for program support, including faculty positions, graduate assistants, research and other program related activities. The health administration traineeships grant of $77,220 is for monetary assistance to students who otherwise would be unable to attend school and who meet federal guidelines. Sang-O Rhee, program coordinator, is accepting scholarship applications from individuals who have worked for health care institutions and who would like to have advanced degrees in health administration.

$$$ DISTRIBUTION . . . For FY 80, Civil Service salaries will be distributed as follows: All non-negotiated Civil Service personnel who are not in their initial probationary period on July 1, 1979, will be granted a 5% base salary increase calculated on their 6/30/79 salary. In addition, each employee shall receive an $18.88 per month increase as an economic equity adjustment. The $18.88 represents 2% of the mean of all non-negotiated Civil Service salaries. Implementation of salary increases is dependent upon approval of our appropriation by the Governor.

GET YOUR VOTE IN . . . If you will not be present the week of July 9 to vote on the new Constitution, provisions have been made for you to receive an absentee ballot. Contact Lynne Hostetter, x2345, by 5 p.m., Friday, July 6, 1979.

ENERGY: 1969-1979 . . . Do you know how past energy choices are affecting the Chicago metropolitan region? Do you know what is now possible in low-cost solar and wind technology, conservation, radioactive containment, recycling and nuclear fission and fusion? If you are interested in learning more about these areas, join others at the "Energy: 1969-1979" conference and fair from 9:30 a.m. - 10 p.m., Thursday, July 12, at GSU. A 10th Anniversary Celebration activity, the conference and exhibits are free and open to the public. You can join in "The Solar Meltdown," a $1 donation lunch cooked courtesy of the sun. You can talk with people and companies active in various areas of energy conservation: those trying to build an earth-bermed home in Park Forest, those who have built solar greenhouses and others. University credit is available. For details, contact Bethe Hagens, x2455.

AS YOU MAY KNOW . . . Susan (SA) and Fred (BO) Woodham are leaving the University and moving to South Carolina. There will be a coffee in Engbretson Hall on Friday, July 6, from 3 - 4:30 p.m. to wish them well and thank them for their years of service to the University. Please come. Fred has been appointed the new Director of Purchasing at the Medical University of South Carolina in Charleston.

LOOK FOR . . . the Innovator to publish an anniversary issue reviewing GSU's development through the years. The July 10th issue is to include photo essays, personal recollections, student compositions and poetry. Keith Levin is editor-in-chief.

FREE FROM THE COMPUTER CENTER . . . GSU's Computer Center will be offering free non-credit short courses and lecture/presentations in July and August open to faculty, staff and students. The lectures will be on a variety of topics and will be one hour in length. The courses and lectures will be held in the LRC/SIM Center Computer Classroom with Phil Galanter, MICC User Coordinator, as instructor. For more details or to give suggestions for future lectures and mini-courses, call the Computer Center, x2214, 11:30 a.m. - 7:30 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays; or 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. on Fridays.

PUBLISHED . . . EFRAIM GIL (EAS) has co-authored a report "Energy-Efficient Land Use" for the American Planning Association's planning advisory service. The published paper reviews literature on energy conservation through land-use planning.

ENTRIES ARE INVITED . . . for GSU's second annual Junior College Salon of Art, October 2-29. Art students in the first two years of any Illinois institution of higher education and under 26 years of age are eligible to submit works in designated categories for the competition. For details, call x2412.

A BIT OF SUMMER MADNESS . . . All systems are "go" for the Skylab Lawn Party (see the June 15, 1979 issue of Faze I). The event will take place Saturday, July 14, from 2-9 p.m., as part of the University's 10th Anniversary Celebration. The festivities are being organized by Student Activities, Community Services and the Media Communications program. Planned activities will include music, skydivers, fireworks, a kite flying contest and letters of invitation to NASA, Frank Borman, Senator Glenn and others who unknowingly helped to make the GSU event possible. Unplanned activities could include a Skylab drop-in. The GSU community is invited to come out and enjoy a summer afternoon on the GSU campus.

AND A GOOD TIME WAS HAD BY ALL . . . The GSU Office of Special Programs hosted a dinner here Monday, June 25, for some of those involved in encouraging and supporting the University-sponsored conferences and workshops open to the public. Guests included: Chicago school superintendents, South Suburban school superintendents, GSU community professors and representatives from the area's community colleges.

Congratulations to PHIL (DPS) and Sharon ORAWIEC on the birth of their first child, a daughter, Maureen Sharon, who was born May 17.

GSU'S CHILDREN'S THEATRE
by Bev Helm

A cast of 21 area junior high and high school students were selected in open audition to perform in the GSU production of "Mukashi, Mukashi."

Cast members are: Celene Evans, Mike Parks, Rich Sands, Susie Simpkins, Susan Sink and Vaughan Van Dollah, Park Forest; Coleen Campbell, Dionna Androzzo and Bridget Ross, Chicago Heights; Derrick Bruce, Michael Farley and Timothy Lee, Dixmoor, Paula Chambers and Monique Walker, Park Forest South; Karen Dalley and Bob Kinsella, Homewood; Lisa Midgette, Flossmoor; Sheila White, Rockford; Terri Preston, Country Club Hills; Gwen Gaston, Harvey; and Don Carine of Lansing.

The south suburban cast will perform in the children's play comprised of two Japanese fairy tales adapted by Temmie Gilbert, director and University Professor of Creative Dramatics.

"Mukashi, Mukashi" means "once upon a time" or "long, long ago." These two traditional tales, "Little Peach Boy" and "The Princess and the Sea," have been adapted by Gilbert to include a storyteller which is part of traditional Kibuki theatre.

"We're trying to capture the flavor of Kibuki for the American child," said Gilbert. Gilbert feels that one of the plusses of Kibuki is the constant reminder to the child that what they are watching is a fantasy. "With the storyteller and the highly stylized scenery, it's easy for a child to distinguish between the fantasy world of the theatre and the real world," said Gilbert.

"Little Peach Boy" is the story of a childless older couple that find a boy in a peach. A highlight of the play is the fight between Peach Boy and a terrible ogre.

"The Princess and the Sea" is the tale of a fisherman who travels to the bottom of the sea on the back of a turtle and meets a princess who begs him to stay in the underwater kingdom.

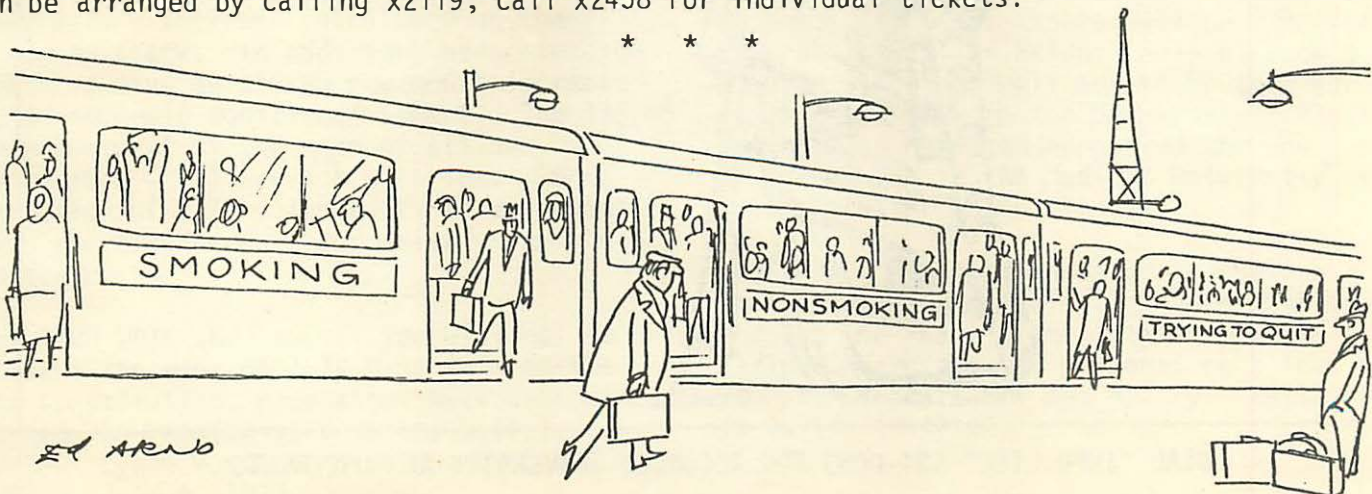

"Children's theatre should be good theatre for children as well as adults," said Gilbert. To re-emphasize the Japanese origin of the two plays, all characters, including a dog and a pheasant, will wear some form of kimono-style costume.

In charge of costume and graphic design is Leone Middleton, GSU master's degree candidate. Lynne Simari, GSU theatre student, is assistant director. Scenery designer is Dave Reed, University Professor of Theatre. Technical director is William E. McMillan. Assistant technical director is cast member Vaughan Van Dollah. Gilbert's cast and crew will be aided by other GSU theatre, music and art students. Joyce Morishita, University Professor, is assisting the cast with the loan of kimonos and other technical advice on Japanese culture. Emiko Gilbert is also offering technical advice.

"There is no Kibuki children's theatre in Japan," said Gilbert, "so we have followed traditional Kibuki methods of borrowing from other forms of theatre, adapting them to Kibuki. Our stage will have a traditional Kibuki set but we will use modern technology with it."

Regular performances for individuals and families will be given Saturdays, July 21 and 28, at 2 p.m. and Sundays, July 22 and 29, at 7 p.m. Special group performances for youth groups can be arranged by calling x2119; call x2458 for individual tickets.
