TRADITIONS IN BLACK MUSIC
IN CELEBRATION OF AFRICAN AMERICAN HISTORY MONTH
Saturday, February 22, 6 p.m. • Reception University Theater • 7 p.m. • Performance
Gospel & spiritual selections by area choirs and performers
FREE ADMISSION
Cat 569-150-790, Ext. 3110 for information

A WOMAN IN LOVE
In observance of Women's History Month
Friday, March 15, 7:30 p.m.
A one woman show featuring Elaine Sulka in the beautiful tale of a retired Shakespearean actress who recalls her rich, colorful career.
Music Recital Hall
(See ticket prices below)

Model U. N. to Host Middle East Peace Summit Simulation on Campus
by Erin Moran
The Model United Nations club sent four representatives to North Central College's General Assembly simulation Saturday, Feb. 15. The Governors State students represented the United Kingdom, Lebanon, and Yemen. The simulation helped prepare students for their participation in the National Model United Nations Conference in April.
The students debated the security of small states and the revitalization of the U.N. charter. Other schools represented at the simulation included Lake Forest College, Eastern Illinois University and Illinois Wesleyan.

Approximately 95,000 student grants slashed statewide as result of budget cuts

Responding to recent state budget cuts and sharp increases in the need for financial aid, the Illinois Student Assistance Commission (ISAC) took action on Friday to reduce the 1991-92 Monetary Award Program (MAP) grants by as much as $110 million. The second largest need-based state grant program in the country, MAP annually provides financial aid to over 110,000 needy students.

To make up for the current year budget shortfall, the Commission was forced to reduce all announced annual MAP grants by 6 percent. In all, approximately 95,000 students will be affected by the grant cuts. For the average grant recipient, the reduction will amount to $120. This amount will be taken from the students' spring term awards.

"Unfortunately, Illinois students are caught in the middle," said Larry Matejka, ISAC Executive Director. "At a time when the recession is dramatically increasing the need for financial assistance among Illinois college students, funding for financial aid programs must be cut substantially as a result of the State's deepening fiscal problems.

CHP Program Accreditation Extended

Many factors have combined to increase the demand for MAP dollars this year. Foremost among these is the State's high unemployment rate, rising college costs, and significant increases in enrollments at Illinois colleges and universities. Appropriated funds were not sufficient to respond to these trends.

For the 1991-92 school year, funding for the MAP program totals $83.3 million; that total reflects the budget cuts recently enacted by state lawmakers.

GSU program also is only one of 61 accredited programs in the United States and Canada. Governors State University is now one of three institutions nationwide that have both accredited graduate and undergraduate programs in health administration. The other two institutions with the distinction are Penn State and Virginia Commonwealth.

"We are the College of Health Professions are proud of our health administration program," Dr. Jay Lubinsky, the college's dean, said. "The accreditation confirms what we already know that this is a program of high quality." Health care continues to become a larger and larger segment of our national expenditures, and good management will become absolutely crucial in the next few years," he added.

"The accreditation continues our status as the only public university in the Chicago area with an accredited program. We will be able, then, to continue our important regional mission of preparing excellent health administrators," the dean said.

Conf 6 on P. 9
January and February Employees of the Month

The January employee of the month is Katie Ball of the College of Health Professionals. She was chosen because she makes significant contributions to the University; suggests improvements of methods and procedures to increase overall efficiency of University programs, and demonstrates exceptional ability in the tasks associated with her position.

She is unfailingly helpful and positive with faculty, students, callers, anyone who needs her help. She tries to find solutions and when people leave the office she asks them if they feel that they have been helped. If they have not then Katie Ball tries to find that additional assistance for them. Many times she has gone to considerate trouble to find an answer. As an example, learning how to get equipment repaired, giving advice or assistance on working on a grant.

The complex problem of managing student clinical situations has been considerably streamlined because of her interventions. She adds cheerful touches to her office which helps morale. Through all she remains calm and thoughtful and efficient even when others may be showing signs of stress.

Sharon Evans of the Administration Office is GSU’s February employee of the month. She came to the “hot spot” in the Office of Administration and Student Recruitment, when Audrey Simpson another employee of the month winner began her new assignment in the SAS dean’s office.

In a very short time Sharon demonstrated outstanding ability in dealing with continuous student requests over the phone and in person. She displays an exceptional memory for the incredible detail needed to help students receive requested material and information or transfer to the right area.

She is very patient and courteous and most reliable and punctual. A student’s willingness to choose GSU often depends on this first contact. Those who work closely with her say that she is a very motivated and capable person.

As her duties aren’t enough to keep her busy for 8 days a week, Sharon finds time to also serve on the board of GSU’s Child Care Program.

GSU Donation to Needyest Children’s Christmas Fund Up in Spite of Recessions

by Barbara Johnson

Virginia Cunningham, cashier at the GSU cafeteria wishes to thank all who contributed to the Neediest Children’s Christmas Fund in 1991. $2300 was raised to make the holidays of 110 kids a bit brighter.

The goal was $2500, but in view of the recession, Virginia is still pleased with the contribution. This represents an increase of $135 over the previous year’s total. When asked what next year’s goal is, Virginia replied “I don’t know yet. The people who put money in the cup make that decision.”

Started by Wally Phillips of WGN radio, the Neediest Children Fund provides something extra to families targeted by the Cook County Department of Public Aid. For 22 years, selected families have received an extra $20 per child, up to $100 per family during the holiday season. Just enough for some extra pocket money or for the children to participate in an activity that otherwise would have to be forgone.

It is a unique “Catch-22” style fund; different from the other charities a person contributes to during the year. For one, ALL the money goes directly to the families, there are no fundraising or administrative costs whatsoever. Secondly, the money goes to the parents to spend at their discretion. The child does not know where the money came from; the gift is from Mommy and Daddy (or Santa), not from ‘Charity’.

Thirdly, it’s a ‘GSU thing’, a part of being a member of the GSU community. Since 1986, Virginia has kept a cup next to the register to collect spare change for the fund. Each year, the contribution has increased with the generosity of GSU students and staff.

Tough times are expected to continue this year, students and staff are encouraged to give early in the year. Keep in mind, that when the economy is poor, it becomes much tougher for these families.

Let the pros at BAR/BRI work their magic for you!

Great Scores

LSAT

GRE

MCAT

Call Today 1-800-777-EXAM

Since 1967, BAR/BRI has been synonymous with test preparation expertise. With comprehensive preparatory materials, experienced teaching staff and wealth of information in our tape libraries, BAR/BRI can help achieve scores you never thought possible! And BAR/BRI unconditionally guarantees your success.

Get started in MODELING for $99

INCLUDES:

★ 1 hour studio time

★ 8 x 10 Black & White photographs

★ Unlimited clothing changes

★ Close-ups through full length

★ Free consultation to design composite

★ Will refer models to - Modeling agency

-Photographer to do composite

photography by

FENDER & DONISCH

(708) 301-4464

February 20, 1992

February 20, 1992

January and February Employees of the Month

The January employee of the month is Katie Ball of the College of Health Professionals. She was chosen because she makes significant contributions to the University; suggests improvements of methods and procedures to increase overall efficiency of University programs, and demonstrates exceptional ability in the tasks associated with her position.

She is unfailingly helpful and positive with faculty, students, callers, anyone who needs her help. She tries to find solutions and when people leave the office she asks them if they feel that they have been helped. If they have not then Katie Ball tries to find that additional assistance for them. Many times she has gone to considerate trouble to find an answer. As an example, learning how to get equipment repaired, giving advice or assistance on working on a grant.

The complex problem of managing student clinical situations has been considerably streamlined because of her interventions. She adds cheerful touches to her office which helps morale. Through all she remains calm and thoughtful and efficient even when others may be showing signs of stress.

Sharon Evans of the Administration Office is GSU’s February employee of the month. She came to the “hot spot” in the Office of Administration and Student Recruitment, when Audrey Simpson another employee of the month winner began her new assignment in the SAS dean’s office.

In a very short time Sharon demonstrated outstanding ability in dealing with continuous student requests over the phone and in person. She displays an exceptional memory for the incredible detail needed to help students receive requested material and information or transfer to the right area.

She is very patient and courteous and most reliable and punctual. A student’s willingness to choose GSU often depends on this first contact. Those who work closely with her say that she is a very motivated and capable person.

As her duties aren’t enough to keep her busy for 8 days a week, Sharon finds time to also serve on the board of GSU’s Child Care Program.

GSU Donation to Needyest Children’s Christmas Fund Up in Spite of Recessions

by Barbara Johnson

Virginia Cunningham, cashier at the GSU cafeteria wishes to thank all who contributed to the Neediest Children’s Christmas Fund in 1991. $2300 was raised to make the holidays of 110 kids a bit brighter.

The goal was $2500, but in view of the recession, Virginia is still pleased with the contribution. This represents an increase of $135 over the previous year’s total. When asked what next year’s goal is, Virginia replied “I don’t know yet. The people who put money in the cup make that decision.”

Started by Wally Phillips of WGN radio, the Neediest Children Fund provides something extra to families targeted by the Cook County Department of Public Aid. For 22 years, selected families have received an extra $20 per child, up to $100 per family during the holiday season. Just enough for some extra pocket money or for the children to participate in an activity that otherwise would have to be forgone.

It is a unique “Catch-22” style fund; different from the other charities a person contributes to during the year. For one, ALL the money goes directly to the families, there are no fundraising or administrative costs whatsoever. Secondly, the money goes to the parents to spend at their discretion. The child does not know where the money came from; the gift is from Mommy and Daddy (or Santa), not from ‘Charity’.

Thirdly, it’s a ‘GSU thing’, a part of being a member of the GSU community. Since 1986, Virginia has kept a cup next to the register to collect spare change for the fund. Each year, the contribution has increased with the generosity of GSU students and staff.

Tough times are expected to continue this year, students and staff are encouraged to give early in the year. Keep in mind, that when the economy is poor, it becomes much tougher for these families.

Let the pros at BAR/BRI work their magic for you!

Great Scores

LSAT

GRE

MCAT

Call Today 1-800-777-EXAM

Since 1967, BAR/BRI has been synonymous with test preparation expertise. With comprehensive preparatory materials, experienced teaching staff and wealth of information in our tape libraries, BAR/BRI can help achieve scores you never thought possible! And BAR/BRI unconditionally guarantees your success.

Get started in MODELING for $99

INCLUDES:

★ 1 hour studio time

★ 8 x 10 Black & White photographs

★ Unlimited clothing changes

★ Close-ups through full length

★ Free consultation to design composite

★ Will refer models to - Modeling agency

-Photographer to do composite

photography by

FENDER & DONISCH

(708) 301-4464
COMMUTER LIFE

Just Say Tommy Sent You!

by Tom Dascenzo

There are 40 application files sitting in the Presidential wing on the third floor of our campus building. This pile of files contains the name of the individual that will be selected to lead our university and through the next decades.

Governor State University will soon select its third President. I have had the opportunity to know both of our presidents. Our first President was William Engbretson. He was our founding President and one of our larger meeting rooms for conferences on campus bears his name.

In the early 1970s I was a student at our university. I had the opportunity to participate in the University Assembly. This assembly was composed of students, administrators, faculty, and community members.

I remember the first meeting I attended. We met in a warehouse in an industrial park. There was a raging debate occurring at the meeting on whether or not the new university campus should be landscaped. We had many on campus who believed that the land should be allowed to return to its natural state. Vistas of wildflowers and various other plants would be permitted to exist with us.

I listened intently for awhile to the debate and I tried to envision what that campus might look like through either plan.

A not too tall man then arose and argued that the discussion was irrelevant because our governing board would not allow us to maintain the campus boundaries with natural growth. He felt that we were wasting our time with the discussion and we should go on to other items. I was bothered by what I considered an act of self fulfilled prophecy. If we did not at least make our opinions known, there was no way any other idea would be considered.

I found myself rising to my feet and vociferously attaching the purveyor of this doomsday message. When I sat down I asked the individual sitting next to me who was the individual I had just berated and I was told, "Oh that's just the President." The president of the University assembly I asked, "No the President of the University.

All my visions of future academic and career success went out the window. I was deter mined after the meeting to somehow salvage what was left of a relationship that had never gotten off the ground before crashing. I went up to him and said, "Excuse me Mr. President" and before I could say another word he quickly introduced himself and told me how much he had admired my willingness to make the points I had made with him. He went on to explain how much he loved a good debate and encouraged me to stay involved and confront him often.

I took him at his word and I walked into his office many times during my years as a student to argue campus issues. It was an experience to confront him in his office. When you walked in you found yourself facing a row of 6 to 8 rocking chairs. Tall wooden rockers that you might find on the porch of some country home. I would sit there from across the President in his rocker, in dividually or in a group and have some great discussions. He always acted like he enjoyed himself, and always managed to provoke you into a response with his detailed opinions on issues.

I don't know too many universities where you can get that kind of opportunity as a student. He was a special man for what I came to consider a special place.

When I returned to GSU to work with students in a professional capacity in 1979, I was curious what the then president was like. I wondered if anyone would be as open and available to students as the first president I had known. I decided to check out this Leo Goodman Malamuth.

When I walked up to his office the door was open. I peeked inside and he was sitting at his desk. I said hello and I mentioned in in the first of many informal interactions. He was warm and open and genuinely enjoyed talking with this person who had just stopped by to check him out. During the past 23 years stopped by to chat with this pres ident often. He has always made me feel welcome and encouraged me to invite one hundred students to his office over the years to chat. He has always welcomed them and spent time listening to them. Another special memory to add to my life.

Some of our memories as students are more special than others. Certain interactions, certain people will always be remembered no matter how far we get away from the actual experience. Governors State University's first two presidents will always be remembered by me because they welcomed me into and made me feel a part of the Presidential experience at our university.

Our current president will be retiring at the end of this academic year. You still have an opportunity to visit his office over the next several months before he leaves. Why not give yourself an opportunity to visit and take away what might be an experience you might retain with you for the rest of your life. Just say Tommy sent you!

PSC To Hold Jazz Concert
CHICAGO HEIGHTS - The fourth annual Prairie State College Jazz Concert is scheduled for 8:00 p.m. on Friday, February 21 at the college's main campus, 333 South Halsted Street, Chicago Heights. The concert is free to the community at no cost, will feature Rich Thompson on drums, Bill Galante on bass, Byron Stripling on trumpet, Ed Peterson playing saxophone, Allan Braden on guitar and Valerie Nicholson on piano.

Thompson has performed at the Newport Jazz Festival and has toured and recorded in France with Bill Dobbins and Harvie Swartz. He's played with many famous musicians including Hank Crawford, Dizzy Gillespie and Marion McPartland. He has authored a book entitled, Ben Riley: A Stylistic Approach to Jazz Drumming, scheduled for fall 1982 publication.

Grimes teaches jazz studies and double bass at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge. He is director of the LSU jazz ensemble and quintet and has played with some of the nation's leading jazz artists, including Monty Alexander, Bill Dobbins, McCoy Tyner and Phil Woods.

Stripling has played with both the Count Basie Orchestra and Boston Pop Orchestra, as well as with Lionel Hampton, and has appeared on Broadway and at Lincoln Center. He is the recipient of many national awards, including grants from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Music Assistance Fund of the New York Philharmonic.

PSC's coordinator of music and theater and director of the college's jazz ensemble has been honored by the International Association of Jazz Educators. The ensemble was selected as the 1992 recipient of a Southland Arts Council grant which provided the competition to the national leadership. The group has performed at the Chicago Jazz Festival Battle of the Bands.

Some of our memories as students are more special than others. Certain interactions, certain people will always be remembered no matter how far we get away from the actual experience. Governors State University's first two presidents will always be remembered by me because they welcomed me into and made me feel a part of the Presidential experience at our university.

Our current president will be retiring at the end of this academic year. You still have an opportunity to visit his office over the next several months before he leaves. Why not give yourself an opportunity to visit and take away what might be an experience you might retain with you for the rest of your life. Just say Tommy sent you!

GREAT AMERICAN MEATOUT

"By reducing our national meat consumption by only one ounce a day, we can prevent the suffering and death of nearly 60 million animals (roughly the number killed in U.S. labs)."

Join FARM, Doris Day, and thousands of activists to "kick the meat habit" on March 20th.

Call us at 301/530-1737, or return coupon below.

FARM ANIMAL REFORM MOVEMENT International Headquarters

2700 N. Seminary Ave. Chicago, IL 60641

Yes, I want to help! I__ send Meatout materials I__ enclose a contribution $. I__

Name:

City:

State:

Zip:

I'm just sitting here. Waiting. It's really just a matter of minutes. Of seconds. Of moments, now and then. I'm waiting for the moment when my waiting will end ...

— G.P.
Should THEY be Immortalized?

by Bill Fischam

How many times have you been caught in a traffic jam only to find that the source of the congestion is a "gapers block"? For those of you who haven't had the experience, a gapers block is where seemingly normal citizens slow their vehicles to a crawl to get a better look. Macabre is on the increase. All you have to do is open a newspaper, or turn on a television set to see that the serial killers are big news. How many times have you been caught in a traffic jam only to find that the source of the congestion is a "gapers block"? For those of you who haven't had the experience, a gapers block is where seemingly normal citizens slow their vehicles to a crawl to get a better look. Macabre is on the increase. All you have to do is open a newspaper, or turn on a television set to see that the serial killers are big news.

President of GSU Responds to IBHE Letter - Part 3

By Janet Rokdenberg

Despite all these plans, Illinois spends a lower percentage of personal income for education than the average for eight regions except New England. Now one could wonder where this financial wealth is going. It is not being spent in health care since nursing homes are threatening to shut their doors unless the state pays the millions of dollars owed them; nor is it going to higher education which would ultimately lead to more taxes and revenue or Arthur F. Quinn. Chairman of the IBHE would not have sent a letter dated October 1, 1991 to all colleges and universities asking them to be accountable for each dollar spent since it is clear that students and taxpayers are unwilling to support escalating costs in education and that priorities must be established to ensure that each dollar "achieve the maximum impact of improving education."

In response to this, GSU's President Leo Goodman-Malamanth issued a memorandum dated December 8, 1991 in which he said the university must not be personified "rich" and that it must "realistically" spend $900,000 this year and $2 million by FY1995 just to meet the increase in personal services and utility costs. He added "Because of the size of the budget reallocation envisioned, it is important that all constituencies of the University be aware of the facts and be involved in the process." Middle management has interpreted this to their understandings as "Tell me what you do so I can get my report done." (There was a time when administrators knew what you did, and not only that, could do it in your absence, but that seems to have gone the way of appliances that don't self destruct in five years) and "Tell me what we can do to get rid of your jobs." The questions are in what way is the university personified "rich" and will personnel ruthlessly alone solve the problems?

Computers have been heralded as the future, and while helpful, then are not the answer; for one thing computers increase contact and create more work, this has been proven by research. They cannot answer questions if not properly programmed, they cannot provide advice or empathy, nor can they provide creative thinking. Creative thinking is certainly needed at this time since the formulators and administrators of budgets from the White House down seem to be locked in the case man thinking mode of "Let me take what you have so I can add to it what I have." In his December memorandum, President Goodman-Malamanth II said, "On July 31, 1991, I informed the University community that the FY92 appropriation Bill was signed into law. At that time I also expressed some concerns that GSU's appropriation did not include any monies for new or expanded programs, cost increases, or salary increases. Come On, Guys, even the most novice budget planner provides for increases in services, utilities, and commodities. The rate of inflation has provided a reasonable barometer of expected increases.

Continued in the next issue: Part 4: "Who Gets Those Salaries?"
Shelter Health Care Network. Then President Tommy Quinn, President of the United States.

The innovative "factory farming" practices used in raising animals for food have devastating impacts on consumer health, food resources, and the natural environment. Yet, the meat industry continues to manipulate our diet through the "bare four food groups" and slick advertising campaigns. The purpose of the Great American Meatout is to inform American consumers of the environmental and public health impacts and promote more healthful food choices.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH MEAT?

Chronic Diseases. Nearly 1.5 million Americans are crippled and killed each year by heart failure, stroke, cancer, and other chronic diseases associated with excessive consumption of meat and animal fat. The elements held principally accountable include saturated fat, cholesterol, hormones, pesticides, and nitrites. Surprisingly, meat consumption is the single largest contributor to the national health care budget. While four dollars are spent for each meatless meal, $130 are spent for each meat meal.

WHATS THE MEATOUT STORY?

The Great American Meatout has been launched with 20 events in 1983, as the consumers' response to National Meatout Day. For one week in March of each year, the observance has grown exponentially to thousands of events in all 50 states. The meat industry has belittled the Meatout activities as the "steakout." The advertising and public relations efforts of the meat industry have been thwarted in a meat park or shopping center. Other activities include colorful festivals, educational tours for local groups, animal exhibits, meatless dishes in restaurants, and meatless food contests. A number of governors and mayors have proclaimed March 28th the "Great American Meatout Day" in their jurisdictions. Supportive media coverage has been provided by national networks and wire services as well as by hundreds of newspapers and radio and television stations.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Each of us must make a conscious choice whether to support the devastating impacts of the meat industry or to take control of our personal dollars or to become part of the solution. Here's what you can do:

- Become more informed by reading the publications listed below.
- Reduce your intake of meat and be a buddy — help your family and friends to cut down.
- Share your concerns with your neighbors and retailers and public officials.

American Times (monthly) - $25/year

All items available from FARM-ARM.

The Great American Meatout is coordinated each year by FARM. FARM is a national public interest organization.

FARM ANIMAL REFORM MOVEMENT (FARM), 1010 York Avenue, Suite 400, Bethesda, MD 20817-1307

Choose Life—Kick the Meat Habit
Dinner Theatre

Cast of Barefoot in the Park double as their own stage crew.

The audience enjoying dinner before the show.

Charles Barnett asks, "What'll you have?"
Last November, Theatre of America/Alpha-Omega Players performed Neil Simon's comedy "Barefoot in the Park" in the GSU Theatre. A dinner preceded the performance.

About 100 people enjoyed a buffet dinner that featured: roast beef, baked chicken, mostaccioli, salad, potato, vegetable, beverage and dessert.

The play tells the story of newlyweds as they begin life in a rickety fifth floor apartment. The couple become involved in a situation complicated by the bride's mother and a too friendly odd-ball neighbor who must use the window in their apartment to get to his apartment.

The Alpha-Omega Players are a nationally acclaimed touring company that has traveled 3 million miles and presented more than 11,000 performances in its 20 year history.

Coming on Friday, April 24 will be "Mystery On Campus". This will be a fun-filled evening of mystery, intrigue and suspense. There will be prizes and refreshments also. Keep that date open.
Quickie Cuisine

by Barbara A Johnson

I ran across a new slang word. Apparently 'Cheese Whiz' refers to something hopelessly outdated. I recalled my first taste of Cheese Whiz and how wonderful it tasted back when I thought that was the cheese. I also remembered LaChoy and Chung King Chop Suey out of the can. I bought a can and understood the new meaning for 'Cheese Whiz'. The taste was not as I remembered it; it was hopelessly outdated. So I've come up with Chop Suey as you remember it, not the way it really tastes. The recipe calls for fresh sprouts and veggies, but it works just fine with canned or frozen oriental vegetables for those in a serious hurry.

Whizzy Chop Suey

measurements are per serving
1. T. corn starch
1 1/2 t. tapioca soy sauce
1/2 t. ground ginger
1/2 t. garlic salt
1 c. bean sprouts
1/2 c. chopped vegetables
Choose from bok choy, celery, sweet red peppers, carrots, bamboo shoots, water chestnuts, pea pods, mushrooms.
If using canned mixed oriental vegetable allow one can per serving. Rinse vegetables in a colander the remove the 'can' taste.
Chop Suey noodles or cooked rice
1. Mix corn starch and 1/2 cup cold water or broth in a saucepan.
2. Add soy and other seasonings. Mix in vegetables while cooking over medium heat.
3. Cook until thick and bubbly (not more than five minutes).
4. Serve over rice or noodles

Cafeteria Menu

- Week of Feb. 24 to 28
  - Soup
    - Mmm Cream of Broth
    - Entree Italian Chicken Cacciatore Platter
    - Hot Sandwich Grilled Ham and Cheese
    - Hot Beef Barley Soup
    - Entree Turkey Oriental over Rice
    - Hot Sandwich Pepper Joe
    - Wed Chicken Noodle Soup
    - Entree Baked Meatloaf Platter
    - Hot Sandwich Monte Cristo
    - Thai Turkey Ravi Soup
    - Entree Veal Parmesan with Spaghetti, red sauce, garlic bread
    - Hot Sandwich Bacon Cheeseburger
    - Entree Fried Chicken Nuggets, Fries, Colelaw
    - Hot Sandwich Grilled Cheese
  - a Week of March 2 to 6
    - Man Garden Vegetable Soup
    - Entree Oven Roast Chicken Platter
    - Hot Sandwich Maxwell Street Polish
    - Hot Chicken Rice Soup
    - Entree Roast Round of Beef Platter
    - Hot Sandwich Western Ranchburger
    - Red Beef Noodle Soup
    - Entree Fresh Tien Salad
    - Hot Sandwich Turkey Club Melt
    - Navy Bean Soup
    - Entree Chicken Chow Mein over Rice
    - Hot Sandwich B.B.Q. Beef
    - Entree Chowder Soup
    - Entree Baked Fillet of Snapper Platter
    - Hot Sandwich Italian Style Submarine

Welcome to Touchtone

UNIVERSITY PARK - Whenever you hear the beep of a touchtone system, march 23 through April 2, the new system guarantees convenience, time saving for both the GSU student and employee, and a reduction in paperwork.
To register, current GSU students need the correct reference numbers listed in the Winter 1992 class schedule and their personal identification number.
Using a touchtone phone, students may call the registration line, (708) 534-5015, between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. Monday through Tuesday, and 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday.
From that time on, all student registrations will be done by phone. Although Block 3 registrations are expected to be light, the GSU Registrar's Office touchtone system will move in to high gear with advanced registration for the spring/summer trimester. March 23 through April 2. The new system guarantees convenience, time saving for both the GSU student and employee, and a reduction in paperwork.
To register, current GSU students need the correct reference numbers listed in the Winter 1992 class schedule and their personal identification number.
Using a touchtone phone, students may call the registration line, (708) 534-5015, between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. Monday through Tuesday, and 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday. The phone bank can handle 10 calls at once.

Sweets and Flowers for Valentine's Day

Circle K held their annual carnation sale. Delivery of the carnations was on Feb. 13. Shown in the photo is the left is (1-r), Fred Kennedy, president of Circle K. The Future Teachers Association sold baked goods. Shown above (1-r) is Pam Decker, FTA secretary; Martha Reitz, FTA president as they wait on a customer.

Photos by Barbara A Johnson.

Lifeguards Needed

UNIVERSITY PARK - The Campus Community Center at Governors State University is offering life guard training courses beginning March 2.
From 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays, participants will learn life guard training and cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR)/first aid at the GSU swimming pool.
At the completion of the courses, participants will have American Red Cross first aid, lifeguard and CPR certification.
There is a $50 fee for this program. Registrations are being accepted by the center's staff. For more information, call the center at (708) 534-5000, extension 2214.

Holiday Inn

BOARDWALK OCEANFRONT
400 N. Atlantic Avenue
Daytona Beach, FL 32118

ON THE BEACH!!
- Pool
- Tiki Bar
- Beach Volleyball
- Food
- Drink
- Specials
- Walking Distance to Shops, Boardwalk, Pier, Clubs, etc.

SPECIAL APRIL RATES
Starting At $17.50 plus tax
per person/per night,
based on double occupancy

Call Toll-Free 24 hours daily
800-535-2036
Association To Hold Conference On Cultural Diversity

"Human Diversity: A South Suburban Tapestry" is the theme of the South Suburban Heritage Association's 19th annual Cultural History Conference to be held Saturday, February 22. Co-sponsored by South Suburban College, the conference will host the following speakers:

Addressers by speakers will cover a variety of topics. Walter J. Kelly, history department chairperson, South Suburban College, will give the keynote address titled "The African-American History Never Been Seen: An Introduction to American Ethnicity." Denise Candeloro will speak about "Finding Oneness in History." The Balkans in Chicago, Illinois: Dr. Candeloro is director of the office of conferences and workshops at Governors State University.

"The African-American in the South Suburbs" is the title of the address to be given by Charles Gordon, director, housing and emergency services of the Community and Educational Development Association of Cook County, Inc. Mt. Carmel. Dr. Fahey will speak on the "Development of Irish Dance." Fahey is the host of "The Irish Heat," a Saturday morning radio program on WJON AM 1230. Dancers from the Gaelic Park Club in Oak Forest will also be part of this presentation.

Samson Keantha, executive director of the American Indian Center, will speak on "Inter Tribal Cultural Exchange Among Patawanakak, Iroquois, and Fox People" and Francesco Morales, Jr. Labor Relations Specialist at the Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations at the University of Illinois will discuss "Diversity in the Mexican Community." Between speakers there will be short presentations by individuals on their ethnic heritage and what it means to them. "Threads of the Ethnic Tapestry." Presenters include Bonnie B. John, who discusses her Scottish-American heritage; Robert K. Smith, program director at the American Indian Center, will tell of "The Bear in Native American Culture," and explain what it means to be a part of that "family." William Pahlberg will share his special insight into "Why the Dutch Chose the South Suburbs," and Robert J. Kowarik of Tinley Park, history professor at Chicago State University, will present "The History of Anglo-German Settlement of the World." Also on hand will be exhibitors from local community groups, organizations, and churches with useful information for a variety of ethnic groups.

Registration fees for the conference are $20 or $15 for students. After February 15, registration will be $22.50 for everyone. Lunch is included in the cost.

The Cultural History Conference will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at South Suburban College's Performing Arts Center, located at 15000 South State Street in South Holland.

The conference is one of many programs organized by the Heritage Association; a regional coalition of various organizations and individuals as examples of how blacks have a low well perception. 72% of blacks in New York fail to receive diplomas from high school, 20% of blacks and Hispanics can't read; 33% of blacks are born below the poverty line, 40,000 blacks are born addicted to drugs and experience learning and health deficits 44% of blacks are convicted criminals. Dr. Kunjufu blames television and radio for controlling the image seen by black youth. When youth are poorly educated they tend to believe these negative images. The electronic media generally holds a monetary gain as its motive, he argues.

Dr. Kunjufu suggested that blacks use the Jewish experience as a model to foster greater self-reliance and self-determination. He suggested blacks frequent book stores, libraries and black community centers. He encourages the publishing of information regarding their history. He stated that blacks have money in their neighborhoods in order to encourage independence and create "empowerment organizations." He also expressed the need to educate blacks about the historical legacy of the nation.

Noted Educator Addresses Present Day Issues

by Edgar Coward

UNIVERSITY PARK – Speaking to an enthusiastic audience in the GSU Theater Jan. 14, Dr. Jawanza Kunjufu, educator and consultant, addressed present black structures and remedies for survival.

Dr. Kunjufu believes the principle of survival is key. "We see with our eyes the lack of awareness of blacks of their history." He presented the following statistics as examples of how blacks have a low well perception. 72% of blacks in New York fail to receive diplomas from high school, 20% of blacks and Hispanics can't read; 33% of blacks are born below the poverty line, 40,000 blacks are born addicted to drugs and experience learning and health deficits 44% of blacks are convicted criminals.

Dr. Kunjufu blames television and radio for controlling the image seen by black youth. When youth are poorly educated they tend to believe these negative images. The electronic media generally holds a monetary gain as its motive, he argues.

Dr. Kunjufu suggested that blacks use the Jewish experience as a model to foster greater self-reliance and self-determination. He suggested blacks frequent book stores, libraries and black community centers. He encourages the publishing of information regarding their history. He stated that blacks have money in their neighborhoods in order to encourage independence and create "empowerment organizations." He also expressed the need to educate blacks about the historical legacy of the nation.

Noted athletic critics such as Larry Miller and Magic Johnson are prepared to give great performances at game time because they practice. In order to survive the hard days of the line and the 21st Century, blacks must prepare themselves. They must strive for educational development, create a strong sense of self respect and dignity, respect their elders, and become self sustaining. Dr. Kunjufu said.
The BODY POLITIC
By Gene Pope
In the Summer of 1996, the Republican Party will hold its 36th quadrennial Convention. It will select its presidential candidate for the upcoming presidential campaign. That man will be J. Danforth Quayle (Take deep breaths into a paper bag if you must).

I do not make this statement as a matter of idle speculation, wishful thinking or a personal view. I have made it as a result of carefully observing Quayle's vigorous maneuvering for the '86 nomination since he was selected to be the vice-presidential candidate in 1984. Quayle has suddenly become what is reputedly known as the "Nixon Strategy." Richard Nixon was the first Vice-President to wholeheartedly master the formula for using that office as a springboard to the presidential nomination. During his years as the Number Two Man in D.C., he was, for the most part until Thomas Jefferson came on the scene, a national following that rivaled that of the President himself.

Quayle isn't quite the political wizard Nixon was, but he has been far more effective at marshalling the power of the vice-presidency than is any of the seven men who separated him. That assessment includes Lyndon Johnson and George Bush.

To many, the vice-presidency is a monument of superstition. Such holders as John Adams, Teddy Roosevelt and Harry Truman had little or no say about it, before, during or after their tenures. John Nance Garner, who held the post for eight years under Franklin Roosevelt, remarked often of the vice-presidency, "Isn't it worth a pitcher of warm pain?" To none, the office isn't a stepping stone to ultimate power, but a one-way ride to humbling isolation.

Still, in a brief instant, the Vice-President can find himself propelled into the most powerful office in the world. It has happened no fewer than eight times, or, roughly, with one out of five Administrations since 1869.

That assessment becomes a rather precious commodity indeed.

But Dan Quayle isn't sitting around waiting for George Bush to shuffle off this mortal coil. He is actively, ceaselessly, ruthlessly tightening his grip on the 1996 presidential nomination.

In the 1988 conventions, there were two potential rivals who could give him a run for his money. Secretary of State James Baker, who is also a former Secretary of the Treasury, and White House Chief of Staff, has the credentials to be President. He currently enjoys the envious position of heading the State Department that he did with the superpower of the Roman Catholic Church, Benedict XVI, in 1982. The conventional assumption about human nature, it is true, never love lost between them. Both Kemp and Baker have indicated a willingness to run in 1996. That has news for Quayle, but hardly disastrous. Neither Kemp nor Kemp is likely to be the decision the organization or widespread support that Quayle commands.

Of course, there's always the chance that the Bush/Quayle ticket will go down to defeat this year. Even so, Quayle will remain the front runner for the '96 race. In the plus side, being out of West will give him the flexibility to openly and relentlessly attack the new Democratic Administration, instead of having to rather sturdily defend the Bush record for the next four years.

So, there you have it. Dan Quayle will be running for President four and a half years hence. What matters now is, what will you do about it?

NEXT: What the Democratic ticket will look like this year, and why it can rule.

GSU Changes Face To Meet Needs
By Marilyn Thomas
Dreams do go to new house.
New homeowners look for the per­ tect, and beautiful interior decorating.
President William Engbretson, the 75-acre site he had to work with for this university was perfect. It gave him room to design and his unique openconcept building.
"Bill Engbretson used to talk about the building would be three football fields long and he'd get out here in the cornfields and start a parade. And he'd get out the community leaders, build a building and when it was going to be," recalls Carl Peterson, the university's lab.

Several years earlier, Engbretson, who held a Ph.D. in "Science and " in which photography and color analysis were very import from nature into their drawings, and sculptures. Ture the work of the museum images of nature in humanized architecture. Professor Paul Green of­ worked in the university building.

"We studied what the we call the " Back and Science" in which photog­ used to talk about the building would be three football fields long and he'd get out here in the cornfields and start a parade. And he'd get out the community leaders, build a building and when it was going to be," recalls Carl Peterson, the university's lab. Jardin de la Fran­ce.

Several years earlier, Engbretson, who held a Ph.D. in "Science and " in which photog­ photography and color analysis were very import from nature into their drawings, and sculptures. Ture the work of the museum images of nature in humanized architecture. Professor Paul Green of­ worked in the university building.

"We studied what the we call the " Back and Science" in which photog­ used to talk about the building would be three football fields long and he'd get out here in the cornfields and start a parade. And he'd get out the community leaders, build a building and when it was going to be," recalls Carl Peterson, the university's lab. Jardin de la Fran­ce.

Several years earlier, Engbretson, who held a Ph.D. in "Science and " in which photog­
photography and color analysis were very import from nature into their drawings, and sculptures. Ture the work of the museum images of nature in humanized architecture. Professor Paul Green of­ worked in the university building.

"We studied what the we call the " Back and Science" in which photog­ used to talk about the building would be three football fields long and he'd get out here in the cornfields and start a parade. And he'd get out the community leaders, build a building and when it was going to be," recalls Carl Peterson, the university's lab. Jardin de la Fran­ce.

Several years earlier, Engbretson, who held a Ph.D. in "Science and " in which photog­
photography and color analysis were very import from nature into their drawings, and sculptures. Ture the work of the museum images of nature in humanized architecture. Professor Paul Green of­ worked in the university building.

"We studied what the we call the " Back and Science" in which photog­ used to talk about the building would be three football fields long and he'd get out here in the cornfields and start a parade. And he'd get out the community leaders, build a building and when it was going to be," recalls Carl Peterson, the university's lab. Jardin de la Fran­ce.

Several years earlier, Engbretson, who held a Ph.D. in "Science and " in which photog­
photography and color analysis were very import from nature into their drawings, and sculptures. Ture the work of the museum images of nature in humanized architecture. Professor Paul Green of­ worked in the university building.

"We studied what the we call the " Back and Science" in which photog­ used to talk about the building would be three football fields long and he'd get out here in the cornfields and start a parade. And he'd get out the community leaders, build a building and when it was going to be," recalls Carl Peterson, the university's lab. Jardin de la Fran­ce.
Conference For Disabled

TIE (Targeted Independent Employment Service) and the Southland Management Institute are jointly sponsoring a Conference on ADA Compliance and a Career Fair for persons with disabilities. The Conference will be held on Tuesday, March 10, 1992, at the Holiday Inn, South Chicago, 1956 Halsted Street, Harvey IL for business professionals.

The program will include a keynote by Evelyn Val- lenes, a nationally recognized speaker offering insightful and even humorous descriptions of some of the structural and attitudinal barriers faced by per- sons with disabilities. Following

Want to help your child achieve more in school? Join us at the First Annual Parent Institute

Governors State University

March 6, 1992

at Governors State University

9 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

LEARN ABOUT

building self-esteem helping with homework drug prevention developing career choices opportunities for special needs students and much more!

Sponsored by Governors State University

REMIS—South Metropolitan Association The Star

School Districts 144 and 170

Registration Fee: $8 includes lunch. Register today!

Income Tax Preparation

Superfast Refund in three (3) days

Call 708-389-8918

CLASSIFIEDS

(708) 534-5000 X2140

Fund Raisers

Don't worry about your education WRITE for free scholarship info COLLEGE FUND FINDERS South Holland, IL 60473

For Rent

Frustration in your resume? Personally, with a name like yours, you have a built-in negative. Add a key word to your resume and no one will notice the negative negative.
Dr. Goodman-Malamuth received an Exemplary Service Award from the Board of Governors of the State University of New York. The award is given in recognition of exceptional service and dedication to the university. Goodman-Malamuth was honored for her contributions as an educator, mentor, and leader.

The University of the State of New York is one of the largest public university systems in the United States, with 64 campuses and more than 300,000 students. It is the third largest state university system in the United States, behind the University of California and the University of Texas System.

Goodman-Malamuth's award is a testament to her commitment to excellence and dedication to higher education. She has served as a professor, department chair, and dean at several universities, including the State University of New York and the University of California, Los Angeles.

In addition to her academic achievements, Goodman-Malamuth has been actively involved in the local community. She has served on numerous boards and committees, including the Board of Trustees of the State University of New York and the Board of Directors of the United Way of Greater Los Angeles.

The University of the State of New York is proud to recognize Dr. Goodman-Malamuth for her outstanding contributions to higher education and the local community. Her dedication and commitment to excellence have made a significant impact on the lives of countless students and faculty members.

Dr. Goodman-Malamuth's award is a fitting tribute to her exceptional contributions to higher education and the community. The University of the State of New York is grateful for her leadership and mentorship and looks forward to continuing to work with her in the future.

The University of the State of New York is committed to providing exceptional educational opportunities for all students. With a focus on excellence and innovation, the University is dedicated to preparing students for success in a rapidly changing world.

Dr. Goodman-Malamuth's award is a testament to the importance of recognizing excellence and contributions to higher education. The University of the State of New York is proud to support and celebrate the achievements of its members. Dr. Goodman-Malamuth is a true example of excellence and dedication, and her contributions will continue to inspire and motivate future generations of students and educators.