REMEMBER WHEN?

Monday, 13 September, 1971. Ten years ago; the first day GSU was open for classes.

The Mini-Campus at Central and Bond still swarmed with all kinds of construction workers, most University offices were still located in the Planning Building and the "Library" (nee LRC) was a card table set up in the Mini-Campus Commons. Remember?

If you do, if you were there either as a student or staff member, MARTY ARMSTRONG (UL) and BOB JENSEN (CS) invite you to join them at Urban Hills Country Club at noon on Monday, September 14. Order your lunch and reminisce with them about how it was when the University first opened.

If you need more information or have a suggestion, call Bob at Ext. 2340/2330.

BANQUET TICKETS for the Fifth Annual Meeting of the Work-Education Council (WEC) of the South Suburbs at Olympia Fields Country Club on Friday, the 25th, are available from the Office of Community College Relations until September 18. Tickets are $15.00 per person.

AUDITIONS for "Under Milkwood" by famed author Dylan Thomas, will take place September 16, 17 & 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the Theatre. The play, which is about a Welsh fishing village, has several parts for both men and women. Performances are scheduled for November 6 & 7 and 13 & 14.
