Bill leaves September 30 to take a position at Grand Valley State College, Michigan.

MONUMENTAL ARTWORK ON DISPLAY IN CHICAGO

The Dinner Party, artist Judy Chicago's monumental work of art which celebrates the achievements and contributions of women to Western Civilization, is on display in Chicago. The artwork, which combines sculpture, ceramics, china painting and a variety of historical and modern needlework techniques, took five years to complete.

The exhibit is located in the Franklin Building, 720 South Dearborn Street, in the historic Printing House Row district of Chicago's South Loop.

The group sponsoring the exhibition, The Roslyn Group for Arts and Letters, is asking for donations of any denomination to help fund the project. For more information contact: Liz Mitchell, Project Communications, Inc., 312/266-2113.

GSUings . . .

ILA KLINE (PPO) and KATHY CHAMBERS (PPO), taking first, second and their prizes for their entries in the floral category of the Will County Fair August 30.

Kathy and Ila planted their prize winners at the Hantack House and cared for them in their spare time. Ila's asters won a blue ribbon and her zinnias took a red one. A white ribbon went to Kathy for her asters.

It's an old story for Ila, who has entered in area shows for 6 or 7 years and won various prizes for her flowers. Kathy's entry was her first attempt at competition.

GSUings (continued) . . .

JOYCE MORISHITA (CAS), exhibiting her paintings at the YW Center, Park Forest, through the month of September. The show is open to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each week day.

ROBERT LEFTWICH (SHP), completing a research project for Ingalls Memorial Hospital in Harvey, entitled "Patient Classification on an Adult Oncology Unit According to Levels of Acuity."

YOUNG KIM (HLD), lecturing to Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority, a group of south suburban women educators, at the Speed Development Center in Chicago Heights, the 14th. The subject was, "Communication and Inter-Ethnic Relations."
