1.2 Relationship to Other Applications/Projects

There is no such relationship with any other websites or resources. All the data is stored in database management system.

1.3 Assumptions and Dependencies

Following are the assumptions made in our project:

The design will have control over modifications in future that will trigger potential requirements for improvements. The group of User Interface will have the collaborative process with the group of database management system.

1.4 Future Enhancements

In the future, we will focus on the online bidding for painting. we will also improve things like based on customer search interest, arts suggestion, discount coupons and free gifts.

2 Technical Description

We have used .Net Framework to build the online art gallery web application. Asp.Net Framework is a commonly used design application for development of web applications.

Advantages of using Asp.Net Framework:

- With the. Net Framework, it is possible to reduce the number of codes used in development of web applications.
- Asp. Net and Html create dynamic web pages easily together.
- Asp.Net is easy to install because of built in configuration features and caching features.
- In the Asp.Net framework, program logic and content both are separated, thus reducing the inconvenience of the program.
- The windows web server manages the web pages, programs, and various modules that run over it extensively.

In front end HTML, CSS, Bootstrap, JavaScript are used and with these scripts we have developed the webpage layouts and user interface for website. For back end we are using MS SQL Server and Visual studio 2017. The programming language used is C#.Net.

In this project, Admin has its unique user Id and password. After login admin can manage artist, painting categories and subcategories, orders, reports, payments etc. Artist can register, create a user Id and password then upload paintings, view paintings and add to exhibition. Customer can register, create a user Id and Password then after successful login the buyer can view paintings, search for more paintings, add to cart, buy painting, track order details, view exhibitions.

In Login Page, User needs to provide valid credentials for successful login. Once the user inputs his username and password then website redirect that information to server page to validate that information to match the records. If the information provided by user is true, then the server grant access to view the page and access all the functionalities. If the information is false, then server display a message which states that user id and password is incorrect. User can also request for password recovery to achieve new temporary password and later can be changed by login into website

Admin can able to add artist, edit artist details give approve access to artist, approve his paintings, delete artist from the website. If the artist wants to add into the website, then admin needs to give authorization first to that artist before he can perform any task on the webpage. Admin can delete customers or artist and can ban them to visit the website in future.

Manage paintings in the webpage categories such as add, edit and delete painting categories, which also includes Oil painting, Abstract art, Acrylic. Artist can also provide subcategories to those paintings for quick search for customers. Artist can also change password and his profile details by login to the website anytime. Once everything is successful updated, artist can log out the page.

Customers need to sign up by providing information such as First name, Last name, Mobile number, Email Address, Password and after that, he can create a unique username and password for the application.

Once customer created his account. They need to provide valid username and password to gain access in the system. That user ID and password being sent to the server to check for validation. Once the given information is valid successful then user can able to access the login page. If the detail of either ID or password is incorrect then it provides with an error message which states that username and password does not match.

Customer can search for paintings by artist name, color, its size, or go with categories in the webpage. They also can update their profile and account information any time by login to the application. Once the process is done then they can successfully log out from the application.

2.3 Interactions with other Applications

There are no Interactions with other applications as it is designed to work separately.

2.4 Capabilities

This project is based on the three entities i.e. admin, artist, and customer. Each entity has different capabilities which are defined below.

- Admin
 - Can manage all the data from his dashboard.
 - Can approve or reject the newly registered artist.
 - Can manage artist, customer, and paintings.
- Artist
 - Can be able to register through artist registration page.
 - Can manage his gallery.
 - Can update whether paintings are in stock or out of stock.
 - Can see his customer through the dashboard.
- Customer
 - Can access the website and login through the homepage by entering his user credentials, if he is not a returning customer then he must register first by providing his personal information in the registration form.
 - Can be able to narrow the search by search tab.
 - Can add painting to the cart and make payment.

2.5 Risk Assessment and Management

The major risk in our project was overloading of Artist and Admin sessions as the gateway was common for both. It was eliminated by providing the project with dynamic server so that any data change can be updated dynamically. A minor risk of non-responsive software at times is dealt by hard rebooting the system.
