

GETTING READY FOR END OF THE YEAR PROJECTS AND FINALS?
YOUR GSU LIBRARY HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE!!!

“Need research help or a place for group meetings or quiet study? Would you like to get writing assistance or do you simply want to take a time out to relax from studying? Come to the library, “ suggested Lydia Morrow Ruetten, Dean of the GSU Library. “

If you need help with research, make your first stop the Library Information Desk. Library faculty and staff will be happy to help.

Visit the Stress Free Study Zone which is better known as the library balcony. Study, meet with your group, work on a puzzle, or just do some coloring. We have special coloring pages available that have been created just for our GSU students.

Stress Free Study Zone

SPOTTED at the GSU Library

Coloring Page

WRITING HELP

The Writing Center Tutors will be on hand during their regular hours, Monday-Thursday 3:30-7:30pm and Saturday 11am-3:30pm, and instructor Chris Greiner will be on hand in the library from 4-5 Mon-Thursday.

To the left of the balcony is our newest Individual Quiet Study Area with study tables, carrels, and comfortable chairs. There are also other designated study areas throughout the library. Ask at the library information desk.

Individual Quiet Study Area

Study amongst art in the Skylight Gallery in the Library. There are tables and a beautiful art exhibit to provide you with a relaxing location in which to study.

Skylight Gallery

Don't forget the library Group Study Rooms. Reserve them at the Tech Desk.

Group Study Rooms

“The GSU Library is your research resource 24/7. We invite you to visit us in person or online, www.govst.edu/library, anytime that you need help with your projects, research or just to find a place to de-stress,” said Ruetten.

Lydia Morrow Ruetten, Dean, GSU Library