Check with Dr. Dave Diers for admission requirements.

Social Work Programs Reaccredited for Eight More Years

The Master and Bachelor of Social Work degree programs have been reaccredited by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) for eight more years. Dr. Gerri Outlaw, chair of the Department of Social Work, said the reaccreditation follows a deliberate “re-imagining” of the College’s social work programs.

“Most important,” Outlaw said, “we’ve integrated an overarching philosophy of social justice into the program.” Outlaw said the philosophical underpinning is essential to educating social workers who will have the skills and understanding necessary to improve the lives of marginalized groups.

The Master of Social Work program at GSU was first accredited in 2003 for a four year period. The Bachelor of Social Work program has been accredited since the 1980s. The reaccreditation for both programs is good through 2015.

Two New Doctorates in the Queue

The Governors State University Board of Trustees have given their approval for the Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) and the Doctor of Occupation Therapy Practice (DrOT) and sent the proposals to the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) for approval. Next step: IBHE review and approval. If all goes well, and we expect that it will, we hope to enroll our first students in the programs in the Fall of 2008. The College of Health Professions is proud to be among those innovative institutions to offer the practice doctorates.
New Website Up and Running

The College completed development of its new website this summer with the help of ITS and Graphics. The site went live this June. Check it out at www.govst.edu/chhs. If you have questions, comments, corrections, observations, please send them to m-hopkins@govst.edu.

The Writing Center

Written communication is one of the most powerful skills health professions students need master. But writing ain’t always easy, and sometimes we need help.

Not to worry. The Writing Center at GSU has a crack team of writing professionals who are there to help you with that term paper, research project, or documentation conundrum.

The Writing Center helps students in three ways.

1. Writing Center tutors are on duty in the University Library from 3:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Saturday. Tutors can help you narrow your research focus and answer your questions about APA documentation issues.

2. The Writing Center provides online assistance as well. Online assistance covers everything from how to format your paper to how to cite a quotation within the paper.

3. The Writing Center also offers one-on-one assistance in half hour appointments for more intensive writing issues. Appointments must be made in advance. To make an appointment, call 708.534.4508.

Whatever writing issues you need to work on, the Writing Center provides outstanding support. Our advice: see the University Writing Center pros early, and see them often.

Looking for Work? Get help!

The Office of Career Services is ready and able to help you get your career off the ground. OCS can meet with students and alumni one-on-one to develop resumes, cover letters, job search strategies, and more. The OCS also holds workshops and keeps postings for local employers.

Stressed? Need help?

All chhs students are encouraged to use the Counseling Center’s confidential counseling services, provided by two licensed clinical psychologists and a post-doctoral intern. To arrange an appointment, please call Karen Cox at 708.235.2228.

Disability Considerations

Students who have disabilities, and who intend to request extended time on professional licensing exams, should register for services with Robin Sweeney in Disability Services. Registering will ensure students with disabilities receive the accommodations they need as chhs students and, when they seek additional time on licensing exams, provide necessary documentation that accommodation was provided in their undergraduate or graduate program.
