ANOTHER WORD ABOUT INSCAPES -- The Office of University Relations has received several comments during the past few days regarding the new appearance of Inscapes. Needless to say, the comments have not been overly favorable. Therefore, the need for another word or two of explanation: (1) the decision to produce Inscapes in the present fashion was made in an effort to provide more timely and regular issues without interfering with the rest of the university's publication process; the decision was made with the full realization that attractiveness would be compromised; (2) attractiveness will be a major component of Landscapes, the university's external publication; (3) as time progresses, changes in Inscapes will be made in an effort to make things more readable, etc.; the experiment with a two-column format in this issue is such a change. Your continued comments are welcomed.

GSUings ..... Bob Jaynes (UR) directing the Naperville Community Chorus in Randall Thompson's "Peaceable Kingdom" and Vaughn Williams' "Mass in G minor" Dec. 9 ..... John Ostenburg, Bob Jaynes, Betty Kott, and Nancy George (UR) attending the CASE 5 annual convention at the Chicago Marriott Dec. 10-12. Ostenburg was a presenter on the panel "Communications Begin at Home." Jaynes, 1984-85 Illinois College Relations Council president, hosted the ICRC open house during the convention ..... Dave Matteson (CE) lecturing about bisexuality to students in a Moraine Valley Community College human sexuality course Nov. 29 ..... Judith Cooney (CE) and Nancy George (UR) being elected to the university's Phi Delta Kappa chapter executive board as members-at-large ..... Ken Wieg (CE) attending the PDK district 5 meeting Nov. 8-11 at the Milwaukee Marc Plaza as the university chapter's delegate .... John Payne (CAS) exhibiting metal sculptures at the Gruen

Kim (CAS) having two articles published in the book Intercultural Communication: A Reader ..... Jim Lohman (REG) copyrighting in the university's name a process for using a microcomputer in classroom scheduling.

'TWAS A WEEK BEFORE CHRISTMAS AND ALL THROUGH THE UNIVERSITY/SEVERAL PEOPLE WERE HUNGRY AND SOME EVEN THIR(S)TY -- Sufficient for the poem is the parody thereof. The point of this poetic license is to invite members of the university community to visit the Office of University Relations between 10 a.m. and noon on Tuesday, Dec. 18, to enjoy food, drink, and fellowship. Call Susan Inman at ext. 2122 for more details.

HOLIDAY PLANT OPTION -- Dr. Virginio L. Piucci, vice president for administration and planning, has announced that a special service will be available over the holiday vacation period. "The holiday closing of the university is often very hard on your office plants because most lights remain off during this time," Dr. Piucci said. "This year tables will be set up in E Lounge for the plants to utilize available natural light," he added. Persons desiring to take advantage of the service must (1) put their names on their plants; (2) water the plants well; (3) take all plants to E Lounge between 2 and 4 p.m. on Dec. 21; and (4) pick plants up promptly on Jan. 3. "The temperature in E Lounge will be low, so additional water should not be required if the plant is watered well," Dr. Piucci said. "No additional security will be provided, so prompt pick-up on Jan. 3 is recommended," he added.

Contributions to the African Famine Relief fund are being accepted by Tom Deem, community college coordinator. He is a board member of the regional Red Cross district and says the organization is seeking funds to aid them in relieving the famine in fourteen African countries.

CAR SERVICES AVAILABLE -- Two new services are being offered to the university community. Parking service attendants will provide battery quick starts and serve as escorts to university parking lots Monday through Thursday from 4-11 p.m. The attendants are located next to the information booth at the main entrance.

NEW SAFETY POLICY -- As of Wednesday, Dec. 19, the university will restrict vehicle traffic on paved walks around the building. Walkways that will be chained closed are those on the north side of the main building and the walkway leading to the YMCA entrance. According to Michael Foley, director of physical plant, the decision to close the walkways to vehicles has been made as a safety move. Foley said the walkways are intended for pedestrians and not automobiles.

INFINITY GALLERY EXHIBIT -- A photographic, journalistic, and video exploration of the upper Mississippi River may be seen in the student operated gallery Monday through Friday. CAS students and faculty traveled by houseboat talking, taping, and photographing life along the river. Information regarding gallery hours may be obtained by calling ext. 2446.
