Book Discussion & Signing 7:30 p.m.

Emmy award-winning filmmaker, Helen Whitney, shares her insight into profound aspects of the human condition, faith and forgiveness, in this free screening of her 2011 PBS film. Providing an intimate look into the spontaneous outpouring of forgiveness around the world, the film highlights riveting stories of survivors of the brutal Rwandan genocide, the Amish families from the 2006 Pennsylvania school shooting and victims of child abandonment. Stay after the film to participate in dialogue about the process of forgiveness, its relevance, power and potential dangers.

A master storyteller, Helen Whitney's work includes "Faith and Doubt at Ground Zero," a PBS' special exploring the spiritual aftershocks of the September 11 attacks; and "The Mormons," a collaboration between American Experience and Frontline.
