MARCH EMPLOYEE AWARD WINNER SELECTED -- Pasquale (Pat) Fares, superintendent of the print shop, has been selected as the Civil Service Employee for March. He has been employed by Business Operations since 1977. Pat has had fifty-two years of experience in the printing trade. He began as an apprentice at the age of 13.

The best part of his job, according to Pat, is the challenge of dealing with people who present him with complicated rush orders, and being successful in meeting their deadlines with a quality job. He added that he works lots of overtime.

When Barbara Clark, director of Personnel, came to Central Duplicating to give him the letter of recognition, Pat said that he felt as if he had grown six feet! He commented, "There are five others in Central Duplicating who are deeply involved in getting the work out. Each one of them in their own right is a highly professional employee. The fact that they are also dedicated to their work and are able to get all the work out on time has made it possible for me to receive this award in which I take great pride."

He and wife Velma have been married thirty-seven years and have four grown children and four grandchildren. Pat said he considers spending time with their grandchildren as the brightest moments of his life. He stated that he reads to them and joins in their activities ranging from skipping rope to playing baseball.

Pat added that he enjoys cross country skiing. Occasionally, he swings a golf club during winter lunch hours in preparation for the golf season. He said he considers himself a "duffer" because he shoots anywhere from the low eighties into the hundreds.
