A REGISTRAR IS COOL, CALM--AND A MAGICIAN -- What is a registrar? A registrar might be described as a juggler, a magician, a computer whiz, a counselor, a planner, a researcher, a record keeper (and finder) and, perhaps most important, cool, calm and collected. This description aptly fits Dr. Sarah A. Crawford, Governors State University's registrar.

Sarah Crawford

When she came to Governors State a little more than two years ago, Crawford wasn't yet a doctor—just a master well along the academic road to that exalted level. Last May, she reached that goal when Loyola University awarded her the Ph.D. in the field of student personnel work in higher education. She had the M.S. degree in counseling and personnel services and the B.A. in elementary education and psychology from Purdue University.

Once at Governors State University, Dr. Crawford needed all the experience she had gained while working in the registrar's office of Purdue University at Hammond, Indiana. She was assistant to registrar from 1976 to 1981 and associate registrar for the next two years.

When she arrived at Governors State, the registrar's office was immersed in a change of computer systems for all records, including incredibly long and complex transcripts from the days of competency-based student evaluation. At the same time, the university was well into a period of transition from its early role as an innovative, kind of free-form institution into more of a mainstream university. Names and structures of colleges, divisions, concentrations, options, courses and just about everything else were changing. Students from the "old days" were complaining, as usual, about inability to get transcripts.

The question was asked more than once in the hallowed halls: "Who would want to be a registrar under such conditions?"

Sarah Crawford did. In her cool, calm and collected way, she began to work magic with old records while juggling current problems and planning new systems. All the while, her door has been open to students past and present who need up-to-date information about their academic status. A visit to the registrar's office today isn't the traumatic experience it frequently was several years ago.

There are two doctors in the Crawford household in Dolton. Sarah is married to Dr. Larry Crawford; and she has two stepsons, Curtis, 20, and Jeff, 19.

STAFF MEMBERS ARE WINNERS -- Five university staff members and a Governors State student were elected to public office this spring. Our congratulations to these winners:

GSU ON DISPLAY AT BROADCASTERS MEETING -- A five-minute videotape promoting the United Video satellite facility and Governors State University's potential as a communications center was on display at the RCA exhibit at the National Association of Broadcasters convention in Las Vegas recently. Dr. Melvyn Muchnik, PO, wrote and narrated the tape, and Tony Labriola, ICC, directed and edited it. United Video is the nearby satellite facility which makes WGN-TV available throughout the country.

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION SPONSORS FORUM -- Twenty-four school administrators from Cook, DuPage, Kankakee and Will counties participated in the first administrative forum sponsored by the Division of Education Mar. 6. "Building Level Contract Administration" was topic of the keynote speaker, Dr. Joseph Sathory of Florida State University. Dr. Donald Klein, CE, coordinated the forum through Special Programs. Dr. Jeffrey Kaiser, CE, was a moderator. Dr. Lawrence Freeman revealed plans to provide future forums in which area school administrators will be able to discuss current educational issues.

GOVERNORS STATE GIVES TO FAMINE RELIEF -- The sum of $1,059 was received by the African Famine Relief Task Force from university associated fund-raising efforts, according to Dr. Thomas Deem, CCR. Deem is a board member of the South Suburbs Red Cross District and co-chair of the task force. Contributions amounting to $650.15 were given by university staff members and students. In addition, proceeds amounting to $400 from the Valentine Dance sponsored by the student Social Work Club were donated to the task force.

CAPS, GOWNS FOR FACULTY, ADMINISTRATORS -- Academic attire for the June 1985 commencement ceremonies will be provided by the university for those professors and administrators who do not have their own caps, gowns and hoods. Sue Sturmon will be available in the business office Apr. 23 and 24 from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. to take the measurements and degree information which are needed to order the attire. The vendor has notified the university that anyone placing a late order will not be assured of a hood of the right color for the ceremonies. The caps, gowns and hoods must be picked up in the Honors Dining Room on either June 5 or 6 between the hours of 3-6 p.m.

FULBRIGHT COMPETITION OPENS -- The Council for International Exchange of Scholars (CIES) has announced the opening of competition for the 1986-87 Fulbright scholar awards in research and university lecturing abroad.

The awards for the 1986-87 academic year include 300 grants in research and 700 grants in university lecturing for periods ranging from three months to a full academic year. There are openings in over 100 countries and, in a few cases, the opportunity for multicountry research is available. Fulbright awards are granted in virtually all disciplines, and scholars in all academic ranks are eligible to apply. Applications are also encouraged from retired faculty and independent scholars.

Benefits include round-trip travel for the grantee and, for full-year awards, one dependent; maintenance allowance to cover living costs of grantee and family; tuition allowance, in many countries, for school-age children; and book and baggage allowances.

The basic eligibility requirements for a Fulbright award are U.S. citizenship; Ph.D. or comparable professional qualifications; university or college teaching experience; and, for selected countries, proficiency in a foreign language.

Application deadlines for the 1986-87 awards range from June 15, 1985 to Feb. 1, 1986.

For information and applications, write Council for International Exchange of Scholars, Eleven Dupont Circle, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036-1257 or call CIES 202/939-5401.
