Letter to AFT colleagues

I write you concerning a very serious matter. After ten months of negotiations, we have not yet reached agreement with the Board of Governors on an acceptable contract. To the contrary, the BOG negotiators have consistently presented proposals contrary to the faculty welfare, and have shown very little readiness to work in a spirit of compromise. While recent negotiations have shown some minor signs of progress, it is clear to the AFT faculty negotiating team that such progress as has occurred has come only as a result of the clear demonstrations of faculty support for the negotiating team.

Because the BOG's position at the bargaining table continues to be inimical to the faculty welfare and because the BOG appears to respond only to pressure, our local's Federation Council has reluctantly concluded that we must begin preparations for a strike.

As a central part of strike preparation, the Federation Council determined to take a vote of the AT Membership on whether to authorize the negotiating team to call for a strike vote of the entire faculty in the event that the negotiating team concludes that such a step is necessary.

I would like to personally recommend a "yes" vote in this strike authorization vote referendum. A substantial indication of support for our negotiating team from you, the AFT membership, will significantly increase the incentive for the BOG to revise its thinking concerning negotiations. I assure you that I am personally committed to doing everything possible to avert a strike - everything, that is, short of violating our organizational commitment to faculty rights and welfare. Yet, at this point in time, direct consideration of a strike is essential if that commitment is to be fulfilled.

Sincerely,
Margaret Schmid
President
AFT Faculty Federation-BOG

AFT members march in protest . . . . Contact still hasn't been ratified

Should pornography be censored . . . .

Editorial . . . . page 2
by Mary Richards

One thing most of us try to do is to break bad habits and develop good ones. And, much of the time, we are not too successful. "Bad" habits are so easy to develop, while "good" habits often seem difficult to begin.

Some habits...both "good" and "bad"...affect our general health. What kinds of habits are favorable to health, and which are not? A study was conducted recently, in California, to determine the association between "good" health habits and physical health. In this study, an association was found between physical health and sleeping, eating, physical activity, drinking and smoking habits.

Sleeping. The study showed that those who usually sleep seven or eight hours have the most favorable physical health. Those who usually sleep nine or more nights are less healthy than average; and those who sleep six hours or less are the least healthy. These results were similar for men and women.

Eating. The study showed that eating regular meals and eating good meals was associated with good health. Persons in the study who eat breakfast nearly every day or seldom eat between meals were in better physical health than those who regularly skip breakfast or eat between meals. Your weight also affects your health. For both men and women in this study, the relationship between overweight and poor health is evident. Men who were 10% or more underweight also reported good physical health, although underweight women did not. Men with the best physical health were those 10% overweight, up to almost 20% overweight. Among women, those who were underweight or less than 10% overweight were slightly more healthy than the average.

Physical activity. Those who participate often in active recreational activities are in better health than those who do not. Regular participation in activities such as active sports, swimming, taking long walks, working in the garden, physical exercise, weekend auto trips, hunting and fishing, seem to favor good health.

Drinking. The study indicated that the physical health of those who never drink alcoholic beverages, does not differ from those who drink moderately (less than five drinks at one sitting). Only those who drink five or more drinks at one sitting reported physical health problems. The frequency of drinking (once, twice, more than twice a week) did not appear to be associated with physical health.

Smoking. Those who had never smoked enjoy better health than female or past smokers, although the differences in health relative to cigarette smoking are not as large as in the case of some other health practices.

So, if you want to develop some "good" health habits, you should: eat regular meals, get seven to eight hours sleep each night, keep your weight near average, participate in physical activity, and avoid smoking and excessive drinking. If you follow all these "good" health habits, you may not only increase your chance of living longer, but you will be healthier.

If you want more information about Good health habits, write to: Illinois Department of Health, Division of Education and Information, 525 West Jefferson, Springfield, Illinois 62704.

We, the Innovator staff, regret that we could not provide coverage on the Inauguration of President Lee Goodman Malino in this issue. The reason being that we do not have the facilities to process our photographs.

Presently we are at the mercy of ICC to provide us with pictures, which we must pay for, or process the pictures in our photographers home. Since there was not enough time to run to our photographers home after the events and ICC could not supply us with pictures by our deadline we were forced to publish the inauguration story of the next issue.

It is our desire to furnish our readers with news, not history. However, under present conditions there are times, according to our deadlines, when it cannot be done unless we have a means of processing our photographs.

Good health habits

The Illinois Guidance and Personnel Association’s Commission on Cultural and Ethnic Minorities recently proposed a five-year program for enhancing guidance and counseling services for minority students. This recently developed commission is designed to have statewide impact on guidance programs.

Members of the Commission include the following Governors State University students and faculty: Mr. Kyle Kimmons, Ms. Thelma Lum, Barbara Weaver, Ms. Gloria Fryzel, and Ms. Cumanda of Calin. Secretarial assistants are Ms. Joyce Harper and Ms. Donna Rudolph. Faculty members include: Professor Sonya Montgomery, Human Services; Dr. Paul G. Hill, Human Relations Service; Dr. Carolyn Taibott, Human Relations Services; Professor William Bolme, Human Services; and Dr. Joyce Kennedy (Chairperson).

The main goal of the Commission is to improve the total educational experience for cultural and ethnic minorities. Concern charged with implementing the Commission’s recommendations include the counselor awareness of the social and personal dynamics facing the ethnically and culturally different student, (2) providing alternative strategies for counseling minority students (3) initiating action programs designed to enhance counseling services for this unique student population.

Members plan to coordinate a series of awareness training and skill-building workshops throughout the Illinois area.

The first Commission presentation will be made during the 1977 IGPA Chicago Convention, Pick Congress Hotel on Thursday, Oct. 27, 10:30 to 11:30 AM. All interested persons are invited to attend.

GSU Members Participate in State wide Planning

The Illinois Guidance and Personnel Association’s Commission on Cultural and Ethnic Minorities recently proposed a five-year program for enhancing guidance and counseling services for minority students. This recently developed commission is designed to have statewide impact on guidance programs.

Members of the Commission include the following Governors State University students and faculty: Mr. Kyle Kimmons, Ms. Thelma Lum, Barbara Weaver, Ms. Gloria Fryzel, and Ms. Cumanda of Calin. Secretarial assistants are Ms. Joyce Harper and Ms. Donna Rudolph. Faculty members include: Professor Sonya Montgomery, Human Services; Dr. Paul G. Hill, Human Relations Service; Dr. Carolyn Taibott, Human Relations Services; Professor William Bolme, Human Services; and Dr. Joyce Kennedy (Chairperson).

The main goal of the Commission is to improve the total educational experience for cultural and ethnic minorities. Concern charged with implementing the Commission’s recommendations include the counselor awareness of the social and personal dynamics facing the ethnically and culturally different student, (2) providing alternative strategies for counseling minority students (3) initiating action programs designed to enhance counseling services for this unique student population.

Members plan to coordinate a series of awareness training and skill-building workshops throughout the Illinois area.

The first Commission presentation will be made during the 1977 IGPA Chicago Convention, Pick Congress Hotel on Thursday, Oct. 27, 10:30 to 11:30 AM. All interested persons are invited to attend.
Jazz Concert
the GSU Music Experience
OCT. 19 / 7:30 P.M.
GSU Recital Hall
Governors State University
Park Forest South, Illinois
Governors State University is now an American College Testing - Proficiency Examination Program Center (ACT-PEP). The battery of 47 examinations will be administered on February 3 and 3, 1978, May 4 and 5, 1978, and August 3 and 4, 1978. The free public/faculty research seminar will be at 2:30 p.m. in Engbrecht hall. Dr. Robert J. Janca of the Janet Panterius of the College of Environmental and Applied Sciences will lecture.

PARK FOREST SOUTH, III - Featured professionally are an art student and an art alumna of Governors State University.

CTA Transit News devotes a page to work by Harry Garrett, an employee, and an M.A. student in visual art in the College of Cultural Studies at GSU. Pictured in his aluminum-plated portrait of another CTA employee. There will be a show in New York City Monique Knowlton gallery by Margaret Wallace, who received B.A. and M.A. in visual art. Her rent show was at Provincetown, Mass., Paul Kessler gallery.

PARK FOREST SOUTH, I11. - Two professional journals are publishing papers by a Governors State University professor. Suzanne Prescott's paper on home ecology will appear in Housing Educator's Joul. Her scientific publication patterns will be in the Quarterly Journal of Ideology. Both papers are from Dr. Prescott's presentations at the American Psychological association. She also supervised studies in the College of Human Learning and Development at GSU.

GENERIC DRUGS - Calling it "an important initial step toward the lowering of health care costs," Gov. Thompson last week signed HB 1861, the Generic Drug Bill. The legislation authorizes pharmacists to substitute, with the approval of the person for whom a prescription has been written, a generic name drug of a lower cost for a brand-name drug. HB 1860, signed by Gov. Thompson last week, will increase the number of such loans in the future. Sponsors of the bill were Rep. Cuddy Dyer, Hinckdale and Sen. Terry Bruce, Olney.

FOSTER PARENTS - Persons who apply for a license to be foster parents will now have to submit to as background investigation from the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement under legislation signed last week by Gov. Thompson. "In the past, some children placed in foster homes have been physically abused," Gov. Thompson said. "Later it was discovered that some of these foster parents had criminal records." The Governor said that HB 116, sponsored by Rep. Jane Barnes, Oaklawn and Aaron Jaffe, Skokie and by Sen. Philip J. Rock, Chicago, will help prevent this problem. (163477)

STUDENT LOANS - Legislation designed to increase the dollars available for student loans from Illinois lending institutions was signed Sept. 11 by Gov. Thompson. HB 1789 creates the Illinois Designated Account Purchase Program (IDAPP) which, when the court said that since there was no state action involved, even peripherally, with the private action of a student editor. The directive said that commercial as well as advertising protections in their dealings with the student government from genuine power-mad malice.

The actuality of The Wildcat News & Review is significant since it embodies the major issues that have been at play in the college for over the last year. The Wildcat had always had a stormy relationship with the administration since the Wildcat last continued to work and increase its circulation of community events. Struggles came and struggles went until last September. That was when newspaper resigned. In the editor's mind, the San Francisco Chronicle's story was no longer than campus homosexually-related activity. The student government learns that with the help of the student government, the student government is concerned.

Students Papers: Advertising Their Rights

The right of a privately owned newspaper to refuse advertising has long been established. Many major daily newspapers have restrictive ad policies on the basis of political content. The daily issue took hold on all the California campuses where debates between Gallo representatives and student journalists were waged. The result is that student staffs were invariably split down the middle as to where they stood on the issue.

The Wildcat, tired of the continued harassment that accompanies any student paper, contacted the Center for the Rights of Campus Journalists (CRCJ), a Denver-based organization that provides legal research and referral to college editors facing censorship or other legal problems.

The CRCJ, which had already been considering the possibility of independence, began moving toward the goal with increased determination as a result of the September ruling. This spring the United States Supreme Court affirmed the right of the student editor to refuse advertising. By denying certiorari to the Mississippi Gay Alliance (MGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed and recognized the student editor's right to refuse advertising - both editorial and advertising.

The Goudelock case involved the editor of the Mississippi State newspaper refusing to accept a paid advertisement to the Richland County Gay Alliance (RCGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed the right of the student editor to refuse advertising. By denying certiorari to the Mississippi Gay Alliance (MGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed and recognized the student editor's right to refuse advertising - both editorial and advertising.

The Goudelock case involved the editor of the Mississippi State newspaper refusing to accept a paid advertisement to the Richland County Gay Alliance (RCGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed the right of the student editor to refuse advertising. By denying certiorari to the Mississippi Gay Alliance (MGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed and recognized the student editor's right to refuse advertising - both editorial and advertising.

The Goudelock case involved the editor of the Mississippi State newspaper refusing to accept a paid advertisement to the Richland County Gay Alliance (RCGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed the right of the student editor to refuse advertising. By denying certiorari to the Mississippi Gay Alliance (MGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed and recognized the student editor's right to refuse advertising - both editorial and advertising.

The Goudelock case involved the editor of the Mississippi State newspaper refusing to accept a paid advertisement to the Richland County Gay Alliance (RCGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed the right of the student editor to refuse advertising. By denying certiorari to the Mississippi Gay Alliance (MGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed and recognized the student editor's right to refuse advertising - both editorial and advertising.

The Goudelock case involved the editor of the Mississippi State newspaper refusing to accept a paid advertisement to the Richland County Gay Alliance (RCGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed the right of the student editor to refuse advertising. By denying certiorari to the Mississippi Gay Alliance (MGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed and recognized the student editor's right to refuse advertising - both editorial and advertising.

The Goudelock case involved the editor of the Mississippi State newspaper refusing to accept a paid advertisement to the Richland County Gay Alliance (RCGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed the right of the student editor to refuse advertising. By denying certiorari to the Mississippi Gay Alliance (MGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed and recognized the student editor's right to refuse advertising - both editorial and advertising.

The Goudelock case involved the editor of the Mississippi State newspaper refusing to accept a paid advertisement to the Richland County Gay Alliance (RCGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed the right of the student editor to refuse advertising. By denying certiorari to the Mississippi Gay Alliance (MGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed and recognized the student editor's right to refuse advertising - both editorial and advertising.

The Goudelock case involved the editor of the Mississippi State newspaper refusing to accept a paid advertisement to the Richland County Gay Alliance (RCGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed the right of the student editor to refuse advertising. By denying certiorari to the Mississippi Gay Alliance (MGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed and recognized the student editor's right to refuse advertising - both editorial and advertising.

The Goudelock case involved the editor of the Mississippi State newspaper refusing to accept a paid advertisement to the Richland County Gay Alliance (RCGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed the right of the student editor to refuse advertising. By denying certiorari to the Mississippi Gay Alliance (MGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed and recognized the student editor's right to refuse advertising - both editorial and advertising.

The Goudelock case involved the editor of the Mississippi State newspaper refusing to accept a paid advertisement to the Richland County Gay Alliance (RCGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed the right of the student editor to refuse advertising. By denying certiorari to the Mississippi Gay Alliance (MGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed and recognized the student editor's right to refuse advertising - both editorial and advertising.

The Goudelock case involved the editor of the Mississippi State newspaper refusing to accept a paid advertisement to the Richland County Gay Alliance (RCGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed the right of the student editor to refuse advertising. By denying certiorari to the Mississippi Gay Alliance (MGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed and recognized the student editor's right to refuse advertising - both editorial and advertising.

The Goudelock case involved the editor of the Mississippi State newspaper refusing to accept a paid advertisement to the Richland County Gay Alliance (RCGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed the right of the student editor to refuse advertising. By denying certiorari to the Mississippi Gay Alliance (MGA) v. Goudelock case, the Supreme Court affirmed and recognized the student editor's right to refuse advertising - both editorial and advertising.
The Vets Club of GSU has a new acting President as of Oct. 3. Carney A. Barr, of Matteson, was elected to the post unanimously at the Club’s organization meeting. Mr. Barr has previously served as Club secretary, and is currently active as a member of the GSU foundation (a private group of friends of the University). His dedication and organizing expertise is widely recognized at GSU and the local community, where he is an active participant in civic affairs. The recently married President-elect is a graduate student in Public Service.

Any student-staff-faculty veteran interested in finding out more about the GSU Vets Club can contact Mr. Barr at ext. 2125, or can stop by the Vets Club office located at the rear of the Student Services office complex.

Other officers of the Club are: Fred Parker, vice-president; Rich Johnson, Secretary; and Dave Murray, treasurer.

The new faculty advisor to the Club is Dr. Bill Rogge of HLD.

GSU President Addresses Veteran Interests

Reflecting the concern of the GSU administration for the welfare of student-veterans, President Leo Goodman-Malamuth has been in contact with key members of Congress responsible for veterans legislation. The purpose of this is to better inform the appropriate legislative committees of the unique circumstances of student-veterans and GSU vets in particular. The President’s efforts were acknowledged recently in a letter from Ray Roberts, chairman of the House Veteran’s Affairs Committee.

At a time when veteran’s benefits are coming under increasing attack, support of this weight and authority is critically needed and greatly appreciated by the GSU veteran community.

So says the VA... by John Saunders

YOU CAN GET PAID UNDER THE G.I. BILL TO FINISH HIGH SCHOOL—AND THEN GO ON FOR MORE EDUCATION AND TRAINING...

STOP IN THE VA OFFICE MAN!

Contact nearest VA office (check your phone book) or a local veterans group.
DEAR DR. WACKY

The INNOVATOR is pleased to announce the beginning of a regular feature in the publication called: Doctor Wacky's Wisdom. We have become somewhat aware that there are many people on campus with questions and concerns that we can with the help of Dr. Wacky's witty words of wisdom.

If you don't believe it, just write to Dr. Wacky and answers on any subject will be printed in THE INNOVATOR. Dr. Wacky will become a household word. Your questions will help earn his keep. Sex problems, Marital difficulties, Human relations problems; all are part of his subject matter and area of expertise. Try it you might like the answers you get. Try to stump the ole doc. We are betting that you can't.

Send your questions and/or queries to: Doctor Wackys Wisdom. c/o The INNOVATOR Governors State University, Park Forest South, Illinois

Governors State University is in the process of selecting for a period of six months a University Research Associate. The Research Associate will be involved in the recruitment process. Familiarity with the academic programs at GSU, Admissions and Records, and University Relations is a requirement, as well as possession of an academic degree. Communication and organizational skills are also required.

Those interested should pick up an application and return it to the Dean of Special Programs and Instructional Services in the Learning Resources Center no later than October 21, 1977. Starting date of employment will be November 1, 1977. Governors State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer and encourages applications from members of minority groups and women.

1977 Student Photography

Exhibit (Faculty Juried)

Oct. 8 – 31

Opening Reception Oct. 8 1:30

Infinity Gallery

Governors State University

Park Forest South, Illinois
A fan of mine recently told me she thought I was preoccupied with humorous stories. She said, "I should report on social problems of the day." Well, I reply let me quote Shakespeare, "The web of our life is of a mingled yarn, good and ill together." From All's Well that Ends Well, Act IV. I know some of you think all I ever read is Playboy. I don't relate to the social issues of our day because my attitude is people see and hear so much they tune out after awhile.

If all television, or newspapers, or magazines had only items about the problems of the day they would be as popular as Darth Vader in a kissing booth. Life's my hero from Star Wars. My sense or lack of sense of humor comes from my background. Very early in life I know life was unfair and to survive I could strike out with rage or ridicule with humor. I chose humor.

We all have our problems we all have our fears, and we all worry about things. As humans our days are numbered from the day we are born. Some of us will be relatively happy some won't. We all have pain in our lives—and I like to try to laugh about my troubles internally. There are enough good reporters around to inform you of your social problems. Also you each know of your own problems. I don't have to tell you anymore about them. As my love buddy once said, "Matt some things happen no matter what you do—so do the best you can with what you got!"

End

P.S. Remember to read the next article for some more true life experiences. This time I relate my first blind date—we all had at least one. I won't spoil it for you, but I will give you a her name—Chewie—that's not her real name but she looked like Chewie the Wookie in Star Wars—may the force be with you if not try prune juice.

PARK FOREST SOUTH, Ill. — Mini-grants for research and creative projects will be offered for the sixth year by Governors State University.
The program provides assistance for faculty, professional staff, and students, the latter when sponsored by a member of the faculty.

Research and creative projects that help the university achieve its goals and fulfill its mission are given highest priority, as are projects which provide the basis for larger proposals appropriate for submission to external sponsors.

Deadline for submission of applications is Friday, October 14, 1977. Approved projects may start in early November and must be completed by June, 1978. Guidelines and application forms may be secured from the Office of Research and Sponsored Programs, Governors State University, University, by a $290,000 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities, unless the expertise of over 30 faculty from all areas of the arts and sciences in four sequences of courses which address the general theme of the new program, "The Dynamics of Change." The sequences focus on the acceleration of change in all aspects of our national life. Each sequence complements the others, integrating knowledge and skills from many special fields into a coherent treatment of problems such as the energy crisis, changes in social and moral values, the effects of man's communications and the dominance of technology over cultural developments.

The four sequences in the ISP program are entitled "The Idea of Progress," "Human Responsibility," "Word and World," and "Limits to Growth." Two courses are offered in each sequence and students are expected to complete three of the four sequences and a final seminar. "One of the purposes of integrated studies is to help make students aware of the interrelationships among the kinds of knowledge required in social decision-making," according to Dr. Curtis Huber, director of the ISP program. For instance, he said, "it is no longer enough to know how to build a freeway, harvest the seas or develop a quality program which would seem ideally suited to me it seemed like I was born in Vietnam, and that killing was natural. My last days I had soft duty because my time was coming up to leave the service. This night I drew a real zero as my guard duty bunker made me laugh.

Thomas was a short, curly haired jerk with a foul mouth, and unfriendly manner. I don't like people like that because I'm easy going.

So here we are in the bunker and Thomas has on sunglasses at 2 A.M. on a night so dark you couldn't see six feet in front of you. Thomas was a finance clerk, who was shifted to mechanic when he kept getting officer's pay mixed up. Thomas also was strange.

I'm sitting there smoking my pipe, and relaxing thinking of leaving for the world. When you go starts talking. Thomas has re-upped for four years and is excited about going to Germany.

Thomas: "You know Matt, I don't have any college degree like you; but I do well in life the army will take care of me even if I go to the outside—"

Me: "U.K., Thomas, I know being a lifer is great but do you mind if I'm mentally dreaming nice thoughts.

Thomas: "You know you're a really silly guy, do you know that there are powers out there not being taken lightly. (I've been going Thomas a hard time by ignoring him or talking about silly subjects like women —silly to him.)

Me: "I know Thomas, there's a lot around us not to be taken lightly, but I don't care."

Thomas: "For a man that's seen as much action and doesn't have a mental u—"

Me: "Immature but one hell of a lover."

Thomas: "Do you know there is magic all around us?" "No— real magic? I have the power to make the devil appear." ME: "Ha! Ha! hey, don't do that he might be with a hot number now."

Thomas: "Screaming that did it!" He runs outside to start chanting for the devil to appear.

About twenty minutes later my roommate—Fred Washington comes by.

Me: "Stick around Fred let's talk about (Unfit to speak about has to do with this girl 5")."

Fred: "Walt, Matt I'll see you later got to make it to the buck."

Me: "Stick around Fred let's talk about (Unfit to speak about has to do with this girl 5)."

Fred: "Every time I see a nice looking lady I feel the magic." Me: "Chanting for the devil to appear."

Fred: "Ha! Ha!— you jiving me man.

Me: "No, Fred, he may do it after all the sisters beat the fear of the devil into me—he may do it."

Fred: "Well, Matt I'll see you later got to make it to the buck."

Me: "Stick around Fred let's talk about (Unfit to speak about has to do with this girl 5)."

Fred: "Ha! Ha!— you jiving me man."

Me: "Yes, I'm thinking about ( Unfit to speak about) he may do it."

Fred: "Every time I see a nice looking lady I feel the magic."

Me: "I know Matt, I don't have any college degree like you; but I do well in life the army will take care of me even if I go to the outside—"

Thomas: "You know I'm a lifer is great but do you mind if I'm mentally dreaming nice thoughts."

Thomas: "You know you're a really silly guy, do you know that there are powers out there not being taken lightly. (I've been going Thomas a hard time by ignoring him or talking about silly subjects like women —silly to him.)."

Me: "I know Thomas, there's a lot around us not to be taken lightly, but I don't care.

Thomas: "For a man that's seen as much action and doesn't have a mental u—"

Me: "Immature but one hell of a lover."

Thomas: "Do you know there is magic all around us?"

Me: "Yes. Every time I see a nice looking lady I feel the magic."

Thomas: "No— real magic? I have the power to make the devil appear."

ME: "Ha! Ha! hey, don't do that he might be with a hot number now."

Thomas: "Screaming that did it!"

He runs outside to start chanting — for real I mean he's chanting in but no dice.

The sequences focus on the acceleration of change in all aspects of our national life. Each sequence complements the others, integrating knowledge and skills from many special fields into a coherent treatment of problems such as the energy crisis, changes in social and moral values, the effects of man's communications and the dominance of technology over cultural developments.

The four sequences in the ISP program are entitled "The Idea of Progress," "Human Responsibility," "Word and World," and "Limits to Growth." Two courses are offered in each sequence and students are expected to complete three of the four sequences and a final seminar. "One of the purposes of integrated studies is to help make students aware of the interrelationships among the kinds of knowledge required in social decision-making," according to Dr. Curtis Huber, director of the ISP program. For instance, he said, "it is no longer enough to know how to build a freeway, harvest the seas or mine the earth."

The freeway, when built, may improve a city's economy but ruin its beauty, hurt wildlife, displace some residents or doom some businesses. Monstrous factory ships may drain the oceans of their fish to help feed the world but leave behind a legacy of pollution or extinct species. Coal unearthed may alleviate energy shortages but foul the air and denude the land," he pointed out.

"Integrated studies are intended to give a sense of wholeness, of the integrity of knowledge and its power to change our lives when applied to human needs."

Editor's Note: This type of program seems ideally suited to implementation by GUS, given this University's tradition, expertise, and stated goals and objectives as an innovative institution. With this kind of funding available, GUS could certainly develop a quality program which would give the students access to the resources of the University.
Novice skiers get help in gearing up

What kind of skis are best for a beginner? How long should your poles be? What should you look for in boots? How important are bindings?

"The variety of ski equipment available today can be pretty confusing for the novice," says Mike Fitzgerald, ski manager for Sportmart and a member of the newly trained "ski squad" now on staff at the store's four locations to help experienced as well as novice skiers get ready for winter.

Fitzgerald's first piece of advice for the downhill set is: "Buy, don't rent." "No one should rent equipment more than the one or two times it take to find out if he or she likes the sport," he says. "Equipment must be geared specifically to the height, weight and experience of the skier, and once that skier is on to the higher slopes renting equipment can be dangerous."

Generally speaking Fitzgerald advises beginners to purchase short, flexible skis, which may not offer top speed but will be easy to maneuver.

He also suggests the beginner choose rigid steel poles that measure up to somewhere between the waist and elbow in length. Bindings, one of the most important factors in skier safety, must offer quick release, and boots should combine comfort as well as function.

The minimum price for all four pieces of equipment, he estimates would run around $160.00.

Sportmart, which carries ski clothes as well as equipment, will launch its now season with a "Ski Spectacular" on Saturday and Sunday, October 15 and 16, at its four locations: Harlem and Dempster in Niles; Roosevelt and Main in Lombard; Torrence at 165th in Calumet City and Cicero at 95th in Oak Lawn.

During the two days shoppers will be offered free binding installation with any purchase of skis and bindings, a free Allsop boot tree with any purchase of boots and free ski lessons at Wilmot Mountain Ski School with any $10 purchase.

The first 100 shoppers each day of the Ski Spectacular will receive a $5 gift certificate toward any purchase in the ski department, while all shoppers will get free ski lies, ski pens and hot wax application for their new or old skis.

In addition they will have the opportunity to enter a free drawing for: a seven day ski trip for two to Big Sky Montana; a week for two at Boyne Mountain Lodge, or a $300 package of ski equipment.

As for the advice: "That's always free," says Fitzgerald.
Come Attractions...Theatre

A talent of the first magnitude, BERNADETTE PETERS, stage, motion picture and television star, will delight Chicago audiences Tuesday, October 11th, through Sunday, October 16th, at DRURY LANE THEATRE at WATER TOWER PLACE.

Enhancing the billing is special guest star Jay Leno, who played Jay Hooper on the Marilyn McCoo-Billy Davis, Jr., Summer Show for television.

BERNADETTE PETERS won her first Tony Award nomination for her starring role several seasons ago opposite Robert Preston in David Merrick's "Mack & Mabel," directed by Gower Champion. Her second nomination was for a revival of "On the Town."

Television viewers have enjoyed seeing her on most of the major talk, panel and variety shows as well as co-star of the 1976-1977 CBS TV series "All's Fair."

BERNADETTE PETERS' personal philosophy is "a performer has a responsibility to bring something with him to an audience that he does, to make people feel good and happy." And she does just that! Make yourself happy, enjoy a BERNADETTE PETERS permanent at 8:30 P.M. Tuesday through Thursday; at 7:30 P.M. and 10:00 P.M. Friday and Saturday; and at 7:00 P.M. on Sunday.

Ticket prices are $12.00, main floor and box seats; $10.00, rear main floor, and $6.00, mezzanine. Tickets are available at the box office, 773 Chestnut, and at Ticketron. For further information and reservations, phone the theatre at (312) 226-0500.

Review...Film

Why do they call you Dirty Harry

On Tuesday September 27, 1977 the room of five people behind the purple doors, were treated first to an entree of Woody Woodpeace, then to a main course of blood, guts, and violence. Will one G.S.U. student be able to use this as a defense, if that student commits a vile act? (Currently a defendant in a California court case claims innocence on the basis of overexposure to Kojak violence). Appetites could have been sustained better if the financial budget had allowed for something better than a second or third rate prank. Also someone who knew how to focus the projector. However despite these technical difficulties Dirty Harry is a good movie. In the first scene, through the use of aerial photography we (audience of 5 people) get our first look at Dirty Harry's wife. With it's assortment of psychopath murderer, social conscious official, and various other deviants we (5 viewers) are made to realize it is a dirty world!

So our sympathy is won, after all anyone can understand that police work involves long hours, lots of hard work and little rewards. So this is why Harry when dealing with the real world is dirty! But the young inexperienced sociology major rooker does not know so he asks Why Do They Call You Dirty Harry! Through the course of the film is provided with four answers. 1. Dirty Harry in the line of duty appears to be a peeping tom. 2. Violent murders which sicken the young rooker are passe to Harry. 3. When rescuing the horrified suicide victim from the ledge Harry has his dirty psychology and knocks the guy out. 4. Harry gets the worst jobs. There are only a few parts when the film is realistic. For instance, even when Harry is wounded he remains cool thereby maintaining his super hero image. The film accomplishes its psychological objectives well through the way it was filmed, fine acting, and ghostly music which creates tension as well as helping to build to a climax. The beginning of the second half was better because the yellow line running down the middle was gone but we were still out of focus. We are not fortunate enough to hear an ending because through the course of the second half we lose sound but finally gain a clear focus!

Warrick Carter to Write Musical Composition for Chicago Symphony Orchestra

The Chicago Symphony orchestra has commissioned a Governors State University professor to write a musical composition. Warrick Carter's work will be performed in the Junior Governing board school ensemble program.

Free Classified Advertisement for All G.S.U. Students

HI-FI? WHEN YOU WANT SOMETHING BETTER, SEE US!

Page 9
The Women's Page

Should Pornography Be Censored

By Suzanne Haig

Like mushrooms springing up in the night, pornography is everywhere and everyone has an opinion about it.

One finds:
- The hysteria around election time.
- Like citizens "taking the law into their own hands to "clean out smut from the neighborhood.
- Politicians linking it with general "law and order' issues.
- A society that projects its own neurosis when faced with something it cannot understand.
- The real danger that people are not aware of: the way pornography has been used as a weapon against women.
- The way that the feminist movement has been undermined by the way in which pornography has been used to attack women.
- The way that the feminist movement has been undermined by the way in which pornography has been used to attack women.
- The way that the feminist movement has been undermined by the way in which pornography has been used to attack women.
- The way that the feminist movement has been undermined by the way in which pornography has been used to attack women.
- The way that the feminist movement has been undermined by the way in which pornography has been used to attack women.

Today the reactionaries are protecting us against obscenity. Tomorrow it will be abortion information or socialism, or whatever the system wants to reject.

At the same time that the "decency campaign" is being organized, other attacks on women's rights, gay rights, and civil rights are occurring. Phyllis Schlafly in her syndicated column called for locking up Larry Flynt for 25 years. Usually her columns are loaded with attacks on everyone fighting for progress. Anti-pornographic campaigns become linked with attacks on everything progressive.

Moreover, recent court rulings have provided billion dollar ammunition for the American flag on war on freedom of speech. In 1973 and 1974 the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that films or art which are protected by the constitution are owned by the average person applying contemporary community standards. The court made it clear that by "community standards" it meant the prevailing attitudes in any given village, town, city or state.

Thus, Flynt was convicted for offending the squeamish and "low brow kids." But women are also becoming a market for "soft porn." And drugs are also widespread.

Society through pornography as an institution reinforces racism, but also provides an outlet for whites. Because if white people stop blaming Black people for their problems, they might start attacking the government; so racism begins to diminish the status quo.

"As movements for liberation grow stronger, reaction also increases its effort to keep the oppressed down. This struggle can be reflected in the ideological spheres. Here, porn plays this role of distortion of reality. Buddhist swirls of magazine covers depicting the status quo becomes more and more challenged, porn becomes wider and wider in its forms of degrading women in a frantic and futile effort to hold down women. The whole of oppression is built around the act of liberation. Porn is but the swan song of male supremacy.

The same ideology also reflects, in general, society's age-old problem the inability to deal with human sexuality.

In earlier historical periods, it was denied. Now its distorted. Someday it will be.

Return this application today!!

Below are listed the Standing Committees of the University Assembly and a brief description of the function of each committee.

The Assembly is asking that all interested parties within the University community volunteer for the committee of their choice (indicating, if possible, second and third choices). The University Assembly Executive Committee will review all applications and select the representatives for each committee. The committees will be composed of representatives of each constituent group in the University community.

APPOINTMENTS will be for a one-year term and subject to University Assembly Regulations. Even though you may already be on a Standing Committee, YOU MUST REAPPLY.

NAME:

College or Unit

Student

Faculty

Civil Service

Support Staff

Community Member

Please indicate choices in order of preference:

☐ A. COMMITTEE ON EDUCATIONAL POLICIES AND PROGRAMS

This committee will generate policies on all educational matters that are University-wide and will review matters on fiscal policies developed by budgeted units and referred to it by the Vice President of Administration, his office, or the specific budgeted unit.

Have you served on this committee before? Yes No

Please state your reasons and/or special qualifications for wanting to serve on this committee.

☐ B. COMMITTEE ON FISCAL RESOURCES

This committee will generate policies on financial matters that are University-wide and will review matters on fiscal policies developed by budgeted units and referred to it by the Vice President of Administration, his office, or the specific budgeted unit.

Have you served on this committee before? Yes No

Please state your reasons and/or special qualifications for wanting to serve on this committee.

☐ C. COMMITTEE ON THE FUTURE

This committee will work closely with the Office of Research and Planning in order to generate guidelines and policies to direct the University toward what it should be. Five-year and ten-year plans will be in continuous development.

Have you served on this committee before? Yes No

Please state your reasons and/or special qualifications for wanting to serve on this committee.

☐ D. COMMITTEE ON GOVERNANCE

This committee will concern itself with continual evaluation and modification of the present University governance system.

Have you served on this committee before? Yes No

Please state your reasons and/or special qualifications for wanting to serve on this committee.

☐ E. COMMITTEE ON HUMAN SERVICES

This committee will concern itself with the generation of University-wide policies affecting any and all constituents of the University, and it will review policies generated by personnel in all budgeted units.

Have you served on this committee before? Yes No

Please state your reasons and/or special qualifications for wanting to serve on this committee.

☐ F. COMMITTEE ON PHYSICAL RESOURCES

This committee will generate policies concerning University-wide physical facilities generated by budgeted units.

Have you served on this committee before? Yes No

Please state your reasons and/or special qualifications for wanting to serve on this committee.

Please return this application form to Diane Hallisy, the University Assembly Secretary, or to the Information Office at the Main Entrance.
or "seeking peace, both from within and the advent of Prophet Muhammad. It is which started in the seventh century with prophet, nor does it take it from a nation or God, living for Him and following the way from without by dedicating one's life to God." In this paper, for convenience of received the last and final of God's holy

BASIC DEFINITION AND TERMINOLOGY

1. Islam The word "Islam" is derived from the Arabic root word " Islam," which means among other things, being at perfect peace. To surrender oneself to God with Whom peace is made. Consequently, "Islam" could be defined as "submitting oneself to God's mission to God and obedience to His Law," or "seeking peace, both from within and without by deducting one's life to God, living for Him and following the way which pleased Him." "Mohammedanism" is a misnomer of Islam, for it implies that Muhammad and not God is the Founder of this religion. Muhammad was only a man and a messenger who transmitted God's Divine Message to mankind.

Islam as such is not a "new" religion which started in the seventh century with the advent of Prophet Muhammad. It is rather the culmination and verification of the same essential message of monotheism, submission, and obedience, i.e., to all messengers and prophets of God from Adam to Abraham to Moses and Jesus (may peace be upon them all).

Islam does not take its name from its prophet. It does not take it from a nation or God is to know Him, to love Him, to obey such a concept of man as a responsible and one's beliefs are translated into action. Anyone who believes in Islam is one who believes in Allah and His prophet, nor does it take it from a nation or God, living for Him and following the way from without by dedicating one's life to God." In this paper, for convenience of received the last and final of God's holy

BASIC DEFINITION AND TERMINOLOGY

1. Islam The word "Islam" is derived from the Arabic root word " Islam," which means among other things, being at perfect peace. To surrender oneself to God with Whom peace is made. Consequently, "Islam" could be defined as "submitting oneself to God's mission to God and obedience to His Law," or "seeking peace, both from within and without by dedicating one's life to God, living for Him and following the way which pleased Him." "Mohammedanism" is a misnomer of Islam, for it implies that Muhammad and not God is the Founder of this religion. Muhammad was only a man and a messenger who transmitted God's Divine Message to mankind.

Islam as such is not a "new" religion which started in the seventh century with the advent of Prophet Muhammad. It is rather the culmination and verification of the same essential message of monotheism, submission, and obedience, i.e., to all messengers and prophets of God from Adam to Abraham to Moses and Jesus (may peace be upon them all).

Islam does not take its name from its prophet. It does not take it from a nation or God is to know Him, to love Him, to obey such a concept of man as a responsible and one's beliefs are translated into action. Anyone who believes in Islam is one who believes in Allah and His prophet, nor does it take it from a nation or God, living for Him and following the way from without by dedicating one's life to God." In this paper, for convenience of received the last and final of God's holy