EXPANSION PLANS...During 1977-78 the University will implement plans for offering GSU courses at south suburban community college campuses. One or two learning modules will be offered during the fall 1977 Trimester at each of the following: Joliet Junior College, Kankakee Community College, Moraine Valley Community College, Prairie State College, Thornton Community College and Danville Junior College. Representative learning modules from all four GSU colleges will be offered, with the exception of Danville Junior College, which is presently limited to courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing.

NEW DEGREE PROGRAM OFFERED...GSU has joined with Chicago State University and Northeastern Illinois University to cooperatively offer a new Master of Arts Degree program with a major in Educational Administration and Supervision. Designed to meet both, the needs of students already holding a masters degree and for those who wish to acquire it, the program will prepare students for positions as educational administrators and supervisors. The locations of the three institutions, north Chicago, south Chicago and the far southern suburbs, provides access to all students in the Chicago metropolitan area. Applications for the cooperative career preparation program may be obtained by contacting the Office of Admissions and Records at GSU.

CREATIVE WOMEN IS HERE...The first issue of a new quarterly newsletter "The Creative Women" has been published at GSU under the auspices of the Office of the VP of Academic Affairs. Planned as a general interest publication and a vehicle for women everywhere to express their own forms of creativity, each issue will be devoted to a special topic, such as women in science, religion, or art, with an expert from the chosen field to serve as guest editor. Transcripts on any aspects of creativity in any field applied to women are invited for future issues. Editor Helen Hughes (HLD) initiated the newsletter following the enthusiastic response of readers to her article "Creativity in Women," published in the American Association of University Women Journal. The 1977 summer issue is free and is available in the LRC and ICC. Copies have also been distributed in all four colleges. Subsequent issues will be sold by subscription: $2 regular, $4 foreign. Contributions are welcome and donors ($5.00 or more) will be rewarded with an automatic subscription.

HE IS NOT SHE

Fourth in a series of reprints from the NCTE "Guidelines for Nonsexist Use of Language in NCTE Publications." Free reprints are available from NCTE, 1111 Request stock no. 19719.

Specific Problems

The under-representation of female writers and scholars in many fields has been variously attributed to systematic neglect of women or to the broader social conditions which have discouraged women from pursuing professional careers. This neglect of women has no relation to their competence; research shows people rate a work more highly when it is attributed to a male author than when it is attributed to a female author. Quality need not be sacrificed in urging that an honest attempt be made to represent female as well as male writers and scholars.

Books or Collections of Articles Discussing Professional Issues

1. Authors of monographs and editors of collections should use and encourage the use of nonsexist language. Readers will be aware that language cannot be altered when articles are reprinted from another publication.

2. Sexist language in a direct quotation cannot be altered, but other alternatives should be considered.
   a. Avoid the quotation altogether if it is not really necessary.
   b. Paraphrase the quotation, giving the original author credit for the idea.
   c. If the quotation is fairly short, recast as an indirect quotation, eliminating the sexist language.

   Example
   Among the questions asked by the school representatives were several about curriculum areas, including the following question: "Considering the ideal college graduate, what degree of knowledge would you have him to have in the following curricular areas for an executive position: ...?"

   Alternative
   Among the questions asked by the school representatives were several about curriculum areas, including a question asking what degree of knowledge the ideal college graduate should have in the following curricular areas to obtain an executive position: ... .

Booklists

1. A committee choosing items for a booklist should seek books that emphasize the equality of men and women and show them in nontraditional as well as traditional roles. Children's favorites may contain sexist elements; these books may be included provided the annotations reflect awareness of the sexist elements.

   Example
   More than anything, sixteen-year-old Sandy wants to date Joe Collins, captain of the tennis team. Sandy's interest in pets now seems childish and her friends boring. The schemes she contrives to attract Joe's attention make for delightful reading.

   Alternative
   More than anything, sixteen-year-old Sandy Draper wants to date Joe Collins, captain of the tennis team. A determined Sandy gives up her interest in pets and neglects her friends as she tries to attract a shy Joe. Readers can decide for themselves whether Sandy's actions are realistic.

   If this is impractical, the introduction or preface should explain why some of the books were chosen despite their sexist elements. The committee should encourage teachers to review books for classroom use; if the books reflect sexist attitudes, teachers should discuss these attitudes and the changing roles of women and men.

   When selecting picture books, the committee should also be careful that the illustrations show males and females actively participating in a variety of situations at home, work, and play.

2. Careful consideration should be given to the organization of booklists. Books should not be categorized by traditional male and female interests. Special efforts should be made to include books that portray males and females in nontraditional roles.

3. All annotations in the booklist should be cast in nonsexist language.

   Examples
   Through the discovery of new cave paintings in southern France, the author reconstructs the life of prehistoric man and shows him as a person remarkably similar in feelings and emotions to man today.

   Alternatives
   Forceful analysis of the black's image of himself and the present state of the black revolution.

   Amy is certain that she is going to be a nurse when she grows up, but when a sudden case of tonsillitis leads to her encounter with Dr. Jane Gilmore, Amy changes her mind.

   Forceful analysis of the black's self-image and the present state of the black revolution.
